

1021 I Henry Nebuchadnezzar Butler, resident in Rochester, in the County of Plymouth, Commonwealth of Massachusetts, lately living in Riceborough, in Liberty County, State of Georgia, being of sound and disposing mind and memory, tho' on a state of bodily infirmity, do make this my last will and testament, and dispose of the earthly property God has blessed me with, as follows: viz.

Item. I give to my mother, if she is living, Savannah Butler, all my estate which is in the State of Georgia, it being all personal estate, having no real estate any where. And if my said mother is not living, or should not be living at the time this will is approved, and has not disposed of the same, I give it to my sister Marian, widow of Samuel Lloyd, if she should be living at the time this legacy would accrue to her; but if should not be then living, I give the same to my two nephews, Henry and Thomas, sons of my brother Thomas Butler.

Item. I give and bequeath to my good friend, Edward Perry, of Rochester, all the estate and property which I have in Rochester, if I die in Rochester, or on my passage to Georgia.

And I establish this as my last will and testament, and appoint Uriah Wilcox, of Riceborough in the State of Georgia, to be the sole executor of this my last will; and the said executor is to pay all just and legal demands against me out of said estate.

In testimony of all which I do hereto set my hand and seal, this sixth day of September anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and thirty.

Signed, sealed and declared by said Butler to be his last will and testament.
