Know all men by these presents, that I Robert Loring have drawn this indenture as my last will and testament, made on the 11 day of December 1829, believing that I have not long to live in this world. Here I bequeath to my wife Lydia my riding gig, and horse Washington. I also bequeath to her ten head of milk cows. I also bequeath to her all my household furniture during her life time, and at her death I wish it to go to my mother David's daughter Elizabeth. I also bequeath to my wife Lydia, her life time, my plantation on which I live. I wish her to have as much of the cleared land as her own hands can cultivate, and the balance to be rented out, and the money given to brother David to help school his children, and at the death of my wife I wish my plantation to be sold, and the money to be equally divided between brother Cornelius's son Robert A. Loring, and brother William's son William M. Loring. I have bequeath to my brother David Loring my negro woman Nancy and her child May. I have bequeath to my brother David's son, Robert L. Loring, my negro boy Sambo. And here I bequeath to my brother Cornelius my negro man Peter. And I have bequeath one half of the remaining cattle to brother David Loring, and the other half to my brother William. Here I bequeath to my brother James Loring my gravel still tract of land. I have bequeath to my brother David my sorrel horse Thistle. - I wish my wife to have the pick of the cattle. I wish this property to be divided as soon as convenient after my death. Here I appoint brother David my executor, and brother James. This my last will and testament.
