The name of Jesus, Jesus. I feel that of much use money, but in a long-suffering state of health, and being desirous to settle my worldly affairs, it is now that I drag out myself of all secular concerns at the solemn hour of death, do now make others and believing both all persons with at every time therefore make and first and personally, I have to wound the selfish of my period to immortality with the heart of my all-wise and powerful Creator, hoping for his mercy, trouble me only on account of the infinitely various means by which of you for the salvation of all who believe on him to trust in his righteous self alone for their justification My friends here, I commend to the grave, to be buried at the direction of my associates, hereafter to be named.
All my property I leave to my son John Thomas Mott, to have and hold, heirs forever, unless he should die without lawful issue, or before he has married, to the
