

State of Georgia,
Richmond County,

I, Richard Griffin of the County aforesaid, being old and infirm, but of sound & disposing mind, and not knowing but I may be shortly taken from the earth, and wishing to dispose of what property I have in this world, do therefore make this my last will & Testament in writing, to the end whereof is, and I do hereby bequeath to my beloved son, Richard Griffin, all my Estate both real and personal for his natural life, that is to say, I wish him to have the enjoyment of all my property for his maintenance and support, but he is not to sell or dispose of it for the purpose of it may get into the hands of some person who will take care of it without the reach of my Children.

And I do hereby make known that my son Thomas Eldred Griffin, shall have the plantation and tract of land which I have now and his heirs forever, but that the same shall not be sold or disposed of by my son Thomas E. Griffin, or his heirs, until he is 21 years of age.

1. The first step in the process of creating a new product is to identify a market need. This involves conducting market research to understand the preferences and behaviors of potential customers.

2. Once a market need is identified, the next step is to develop a concept. This involves brainstorming ideas and creating a prototype to visualize the product.

3. The third step is to conduct a feasibility study. This involves evaluating the technical, financial, and operational aspects of the product to determine if it is viable.

4. After the feasibility study, the next step is to develop a business plan. This involves outlining the marketing, sales, and distribution strategies for the product.

5. The final step is to launch the product. This involves manufacturing the product, setting up distribution channels, and promoting the product to the target market.

The foregoing last will and testament of said deceased was proved in Court and Robert McKim being sworn, made and subscribed, and did so the said Testator publish, pronounce & declare the same to be and contain his last will and testament, that he was of sound disposing mind & memory according to the best of his knowledge and belief and that he together with Wright Cooper & Ann M. Waller witnesses then present as witnesses to the same at the request of the executor of the testator and in the presence of each other at Birmingham it was ordered to be recorded.
