THE CATHOLIC REGISTERS OF ST. PETER'S,
LYTHAM, LANCASHIRE. 1753-1829.

CONTRIBUTED BY THE VERY REV. JOHN REILLY, V.F.

HISTORICAL NOTES BY JOSEPH GILLOW.

Towards the close of the twelfth century, in the reign of Richard I, the cell of Lytham was founded by Richard Fitz-Roger, supposed to be of the Banastre family, who by charter granted all his estate at Lytham to the Benedictine prior and monks of Durham to establish a cell or priory to be dedicated to Our Lady and St. Cuthbert. Previous to this the founder's grandfather had pulled down the ancient church of Lytham, built of shingle, and erected another of stone, dedicating it to St. Cuthbert. After the suppression of the priories in the reign of Henry VIII, the cell and all its possessions passed to the Crown, and the "lordship and manor" was granted by Queen Mary, Aug. 23, 1555, to Sir Thomas Holcroft, of Vale Royal, co. Chester, a younger son of Sir John Holcroft, of Holcroft Hall, co. Lancaster, and a great trafficker in monastic property. By the Holcrofts the manor was conveyed to Sir Richard Molyneux, of Sefton Hall, who sold it in 1606 to Sir Cuthbert Clifton, of Westby Hall. Meanwhile, the priory had fallen into a dilapidated or ruined state, and about 1625 Sir Cuthbert erected a mansion on part of the site, incorporating a small portion of the old monastic buildings. He was a staunch recusant, and as such appears as residing at Lytham Hall in 1626, and there he died in 1634. The family has continued to live at Lytham Hall since that date, but about 1757 Thomas Clifton erected a new mansion, incorporating, in the rear, part of the old structure containing the chapel in which Mass was said till 1800, as well as the room occupied by the chaplain. In that year a tythe-barn, just outside the park, was fitted up as a chapel, and the priest removed from the hall to a house called the Woodlands. This was replaced in 1839 by the present church, dedicated to St. Peter. The following is an amplified list of the chaplains and priests to that contributed by the writer to Colonel Fishwick's History of the Parish of Lytham in 1907.

Fr. Lawrence Anderton alias John Scroop and Hart, S.J., who wrote many learned works, under the pseudonym of "John Brereley, Priest," was the first resident chaplain in the hall at Lytham after its erection by Sir Cuthbert Clifton in 1625. This famous preacher, controversialist, and poet was the son of Thomas Anderton, of Chorley, gent., and was baptised at Chorley, Aug. 12, 1575, his father being a younger brother of Christopher Anderton, of Lostock Hall, Esq., whose wife was Dorothea, daughter of Peter Anderton, of Anderton Hall, Esq. From Blackburn Grammar School he entered Christ's College, Cambridge, where he took his B.A. in 1596-7, and subsequently proceeded M.A. At the University his brilliant genius and eloquence was so greatly admired, says Anthony à Wood, Athenae Oxon., that it gained for him the epithet of "silver-mouthed Anderton." This is not the place to enter into full details of this remarkable man's career, which appears to some extent in Foley's Records S.J., vii, ii, and in the writer's Biog. Dict. of the English Catholics, i, 34, where his identification with "John Brekeley, Priest," appears for the first time, though in the "Additions and Corrections" following the preface to that volume it is pointed out that the identity was then more or less conjecture. Since that date, 1885, the writer has obtained Brekeley's MS. common-place book in folio, and another of his MSS. in 4to, which conclusively prove the correctness of the conjecture. Brekeley wrote and edited more works than those hitherto attributed to him, many of which were printed at the Anderton secret presses at Lostock Hall and Birchley Hall. He also took a leading part in behalf of the Society, as superior of the College of St. Aloysius or Lancashire District, in the great controversy between Dr. Richard Smith, Bishop of Chalcedon, and the regulars, as witnessed by Viscount Montagu's "Apologeticall Answers," in defence of the Bishop's claim to be Ordinary of England and Scotland, 1628, MS., 4to, pp. 701, in the writer's library. Fr. Anderton entered the Society at Rome in 1605, and spent most of his missionary career in Lancashire. In the previous year, 1604, appeared his first work, which subsequently, after the second revised and greatly-enlarged edition was printed in 1608, obtained such notoriety. The latter if not the former edition was printed at the secret press he had set up in Lostock Hall, and from this press poured forth innumerable books until its seizure by the Bishop of Chester after the death of James Anderton on Sept. 22, 1613. Some time after this Fr. Anderton set up another press at Birchley Hall, the seat of his cousin Roger Anderton, with whom he continued to issue works till 1640 or later. At some period Fr. Anderton was apprehended and exiled, as stated by himself, but he seems to have soon returned to the mission, and it is most probable that he became chaplain to Sir Cuthbert Clifton when he removed from Westby to Lytham. In 1629 he accompanied Sir Cuthbert and his chaplain at Westby to Holywell for the great pilgrimage to St. Winefred's Well on St. Winefred's Day in that year, and subsequently wrote a long poem, addressed "To the Pilgrimes of Holie-well, The Life and Martirdome of holie Saynt Wenefride, brieflie collected, anno dñi 1641," MS., 4to, in the writer's possession. He was superior of the Lancashire District in 1621, but about 1623 was in London, according to Gee, in his "Food out of the Snare," later returned to Lancashire, and after leaving Lytham again went to London, where he stayed till about 1642, when he finally returned to Lancashire, and died April 17, 1643, aged 67. He is said to have made many conversions whilst in Lancashire. The next chaplain at Lytham was—

Fr. William Shackleton alias Stanton, Banaster or Bannister, S.J., born about 1584, and believed to have been one of the family of his name resident at Burnley or neighbourhood. After spending three years at Oxford he was converted to the Faith by reading Fr. Edmund Campion's "Ten Reasons," and quitting the University went to a relative in Essex for nearly a year and then passed over to St. Omer's College. A year later he went to the English College at Rome, which he entered under the alias of Stanton Oct. 9, 1605, and was ordained priest April 10, 1610. He left the college in April, 1612, and after completing two years' noviceship was admitted into the Society of Jesus, became minister at St. Omer's College, and in 1615 was sent to Lancashire. He succeeded Fr. Anderton at Lytham Hall, where he is found baptising many of the Cliftons, and there died in August, 1655, aged 71. In the course of his missionary career in Lancashire he was more than once apprehended and imprisoned, and during his incarceration he was forced into frequent altercations with fanatical ministers (Foley, Records S.J., i, 650 ; vi, 236 ; vii, 702). He was succeeded by—

Fr. Augustus Heneage alias Newby, S.J., born 1616, son of Sir George Heneage, of Hainton Hall, co. Lincoln, Knt., who entered the Society in 1637, and was teaching at St. Omer's in 1639. He came to Lytham in 1653, two years before Fr. Shackleton's death, to reside with his brother-in-law Sir Thomas Clifton, Bart., whose wife, Bridget, was Fr. Heneage's sister. From a letter of the Earl of Derby to the Duke of Albemarle, dated from Lathom House March 10, 1664, it appears that Fr. Heneage, like his predecessor, was an active controversialist. The Earl enclosed a letter dated Feb. 21, 1664, which apparently had been intercepted, from Augustus Heneage, "a supposed priest living in Sir Thomas Clifton's house to Mr. Edward Keynes [S.J.], who lived with Sir Cecil Trafford." Fr. Heneage had had "verbal skirmishes with his old friends the Nigri [Anglican ministers], who showed ignorance and knavery," and asked Fr. Keynes to send him Erastus—(Cal. of State Papers, Chas. II., vol. xciv, 511). The book wanted was John Lewgar's Erastus Senior, published in 1662 against Mason's Vindiciae Ecclesiae Anglicanae, Dr. Heylin's Ecclesiae Restaurata, and Dr. Bramhall's Consecration and Succession of Protestant Bishops Justified. The work referred to the question of the validity of Anglican ordinations and made so great an impression upon the Anglican clergy, who thereby became sensible to the defects of the ordination forms of the episcopacy and priesthood hitherto in use, that immediately after its publication, in the same year 1662, it was made obligatory by a decree of convocation to use more explicit forms. The work elicited many replies from Ralph Cudworth, Bishop Burnet, and others. In consequence of this controversy both Fr. Heneage and Fr. Keynes had to fly from their respective stations, and the former went to London, where he fell a victim to the plague Jan. 18, 1669, aged 52. The name of his immediate successor at Lytham is unknown, and the next on record is—

Fr. John Stephenson, S.J., born in Derbyshire in 1641, who entered the Society in 1663, was prefect of the sodality at St. Omer's, and minister at Watten in 1675, came to the English mission in the spring of 1676, and was placed at Lytham Hall as chaplain to Sir Thomas Clifton till his death Jan. 13, 1692, aged 51. He was rector of the Lancashire District 1684-7. He was succeeded by—

Fr. Thomas Blundell, S.J., born 1649, third son of William Blundell, of Crosby Hall, Esq., by Anne, daughter of Sir Thomas Haggerston, of Haggerston Castle, co. Northumberland, Bart., and his wife, Alice, daughter of Henry Banastre, of Bank Hall, co. Lancaster, Esq. He entered the Society at Watten in 1666, was ordained priest in 1679, and spent most of his life in teaching philosophy in the English colleges abroad. In 1690 he was instructor of the tertian Fathers at Ghent, and came to Lytham in 1692. About two years later his good patron Sir Thomas Clifton was arrested at Wrea Green July 17, 1694, taken to the Tower of London about Michaelmas, and brought back to Manchester at Martinmas for trial for his life on a trumped-up charge of high treason with Sir William Gerard, of Bryn, and a number of other Lancashire Catholic gentlemen. He was acquitted, but the strain had been too great, and he died on the 13th of November. It is probable that he died before he could return to Lytham. Anyhow his body was carried to Kirkham for interment with his ancestors in the parish church, but before starting on its last journey "A Funeral Sermon upon S^r Thomas Clifton," under the text Ubi est Mors victoria tua? was delivered by the Rev. Richard Jameson (vide Gillow, Biog. Dict., iii), a manuscript copy of which is in the writer's library—(vide Beamont, Jacobite Trials at Manchester in 1694, Cheth. Soc., xxviii). Fr. Blundell remained at Lytham Hall till his death "in Mr. Clifton's house on Wednesday ye 27 May, 1702. His body was carried to Crosby & buried in ye Harkirke on ye 29. He was a learned man, aged 55" (Crosby Records, p. 81). He was succeeded by—

Fr. Ralph Hornyold alias Gower, S.J., born July 2, 1674, son of Thomas Hornyold, of Blackmore Park, co. Worcester, Esq., and his wife, Margaret, daughter of Robert Gower, of Woodhall, and Colemer's Court, in King's Norton, co. Worcester, Esq. From St. Omer's College he entered the Society at Watten in 1693, was ordained priest in 1701, and came to Lytham in 1702. He was convicted as "a reputed Preist of Lytham" at the Lancaster sessions Jan. 15, 1716 (P.R.O., Forfeited Estates, P. 62). He withdrew from Lytham to be chaplain to the Duchess of Norfolk at Stonyhurst about 1722, subsequently became chaplain to the Gerards of Bryn and Ashton, was declared rector of the Lancashire District Aug. 15, 1738, and died in that office at Ashton Oct. 13, 1740, aged 66. He was succeeded at Lytham by—

Fr. Christopher Burton, S.J., born July 8, 1671, only son of Thomas Burton, of Great Barton, near Bury St. Edmunds, co. Suffolk, Esq., and his wife, Mary, only daughter of Christopher Suttler, Esq., of Norfolk. From St. Omer's College he entered the novitiate at Watten in 1693, and after ordination came to the English mission in 1710. He was placed at Formby, and thence came to Lytham in succession to Fr. Hornyold, but left in 1728 to become minister at St. Omer's College. He died at Watten July 23, 1744, aged 73. He was succeeded at Lytham by—

Fr. John Gosling alias Bennett, S.J., born in London March 17, 1692, who entered the Society in 1710, and after serving the Maryland mission for some years, from about 1724–28, came in the latter year to Lytham. Early in 1729 the vicar apostolic of the Northern District, Bishop Thomas Dominic Williams, O.P., made his visitation at Lytham, and gave confirmation in the hall chapel to 247 persons belonging to the Lytham and Westby congregations, Fr. John Berington alias Harper, of Westby, being present on the occasion. Fr. Bennett left Lytham in 1741 for Highfield House, in Aspull, near Wigan, the seat of the Gerards, where he died April 2, 1751, aged 59.

Fr. John Berington alias Harper, S.J., was transferred from Westby Hall when Fr. Bennett left Lytham, and remained till his death, his interment at the Lytham parish church being entered in the registers as "John Harper (R.C.) from ye Hall, 18 Augt., 1743," aged 70. A notice of him will be found under Westby. His successor was—

Fr. John Talbot alias Mansfield (or Mansell as he was generally called), S.J., born Dec. 27, 1708, son of John Talbot, of Wheelton, chapman, who was convicted of recusancy Sept. 3, 1716 (P.R.O., Forfeited Estates, P. 64). The Talbots were descended from the Talbots of Carr Hall, in Wilpshire, near Blackburn, and subsequently became lords of the manor of Wheelton. From St. Omer's College he entered the Society at Watten in 1728, and upon coming to the mission was stationed in Lancashire. He was sent to Preston in 1742, and on Sept. 20, 1743, was transferred to Lytham, and his salary from the Cliftons seems to have been increased to £13 per annum. After the rising in favour of the legitimate heir to the throne in 1745, the feeling against Catholics was so great, and bigotry so violent, that the door to the chapel in Lytham Hall had to be locked before Fr. Mansell began

Mass. In a report to his superiors in 1750 he returned the communicants in his congregation at 230. In January, 1753, he commenced the existing baptismal register. In 1767 the Protestant Bishop of Chester had a report drawn up of all Catholics in his diocese, and "John Mansell alias Talbot, Jesuit priest," appears as chaplain to Thomas Clifton, Esq., the congregation being estimated at 384. In June, 1774, Bishop William Walton, V.A.—N.D., confirmed 148 persons in the hall chapel. In 1783 the congregation was officially returned at 400; and on Sept. 21, 1784, Bishop Matthew Gibson, V.A.—N.D., made his visitation at Lytham and confirmed 86 persons, the number of Easter communicants in the congregation being put down at 310. On this occasion Fr. Richard Morgan, S.J., came over from Preston to assist Fr. Mansell. At length, enfeebled by old age, Fr. Mansell withdrew from Lytham in 1791, and retired to Walton-le-dale, near Preston, where he died June 9, 1799, aged 90. Meanwhile the Society of Jesus had been temporarily suppressed in 1773, and as the "Gentlemen of the ex-Society," as they were called, gradually became reduced in numbers whilst waiting for their restoration, they were obliged to secure a locum tenens to supply the Lytham mission in the person of the Rev. William Blackoe. Before continuing the list of chaplains, however, a word must be said about a priest who lived for some time in the hall in capacity of tutor to the young squire, Thomas Clifton, born in 1728, whose father and namesake had died in 1734, and whose mother Mary, daughter of Richard, 5th Viscount Molyneux, of Sefton, married in her widowhood in 1752 William Anderton, of Euxton Hall, Esq. The young squire was sent to Douay College, where he arrived Sept. 21, 1743. In 1746 his mother or guardian sent the Rev. Thomas Emir Grimbaldston over to Douay to become his travelling tutor, and he arrived at the College on Feb. 18. Thomas Emir Grimbaldston, or Emeric Grimbaldston as he was usually called, born June 2, 1715, was the third son of Emir Grimbaldston, of Standish, steward to Ralph Standish, of Standish Hall, Esq., and he arrived at Douay College under the care of Richard Kendall, then an ecclesiastical student, on July 11, 1730, became an alumnus Aug. 15, 1733, was ordained sub-deacon at Cambrai May 19, 1738, deacon in 1739, and priest in Dec., 1739 (Douay Lists, MS.; Douay Diaries, p. 62). Where he was during the interval between ordination and his appointment as travelling tutor to young Clifton does not appear. On March 7, 1746, he set out with his charge for Paris. Mr. Grimbaldston subsequently came to Lytham with young Mr. Clifton, and stayed at the hall till 1751, when he was placed at Birchley Hall, and served that mission till his death April 8, 1786, aged 70.

Rev. William Blackoe, born Nov. 11, 1732, son of Thomas Blackoe, and his wife, Margaret Hoole, of Barton, near Preston, was admitted into the English College at Rome Oct. 23, 1745, and was ordained sub-deacon and deacon in February, priest March 13, 1756, and left the college the same year (Foley, Records S.J., vi, 490; Fishwick, Hist. of Lytham, p. 51). In 1781 he was supplying at Salwick Hall, and some time after the suppression of the Society, when the Jesuits vacated the chaplaincy, at Puddington Hall, Cheshire, the seat of the Stanley-Massey family. Mr. Blackoe succeeded a Franciscan who had served the chaplaincy during the interval, and is found living there in February, 1783. Thence he was transferred to Ince Hall, near Wigan, late the seat of Christopher Ince, Esq., whose daughter and heiress married Oct. 11, 1769, William Anderton, of Euxton Hall, Esq., and carried the Ince estate to that family. According to one authority (Liverpool Catholic Almanac, 1898, p. 121) he remained there till 1791, when he came to Lytham in succession to Fr. Talbot, and remained till 1793. Later he became chaplain to the Benedictine Dames from Ghent, who in April, 1795, settled in a large house in Chapel Street, Preston, just opposite to St. Wilfrid's Chapel. It was between Chapel Street and Mount Street, in the rear of the convent, that the celebrated ghost known as the "Banister Doll," alluded to under Mowbreck, was commonly believed nightly to perambulate (Ward, Annals of the English Benedictines of Ghent, p. 86). The story no doubt arose out of some long-forgotten tragic incident connected with the Banister family. On April 24, 1811, the nuns removed to Caverswall Castle, in Staffordshire, but Mr. Blackoe was too feeble to accompany them. He remained in retirement in Preston till his death, and was buried at Lea Oct. 2, 1815, aged 83. The "gentlemen of the ex-Society" upon Mr. Blackoe's departure from Lytham secured the services of a Benedictine—

Dom. Richard Pope, O.S.B., who came in 1793. He was born in Lancashire, in 1760, of a family which gave several Benedictines to the Church, was professed at St. Gregory's Monastery at Douai for St. Laurence's Monastery at Dieulward April 22, 1781, came to the mission and was placed at St. Peter's, Liverpool, 1789-90, and when the old chapel in Lawkland Hall, co. York, was closed by the Inglebys and an independent one was opened in 1790, Fr. Pope was given the charge, and remained till he came to Lytham. In 1793 Bishop William Gibson, V.A.—N.D., made his visitation at Lytham and confirmed 75 persons, the Easter communicants being returned by Fr. Pope at 250. In 1800 the chapel in the hall was closed, and a tythe-barn just outside the park was fitted up as a chapel, and Fr. Pope went to reside at a house called the Woodlands. Towards the end of 1803 he was transferred to Nether-ton, where he died July 24, 1828, aged 68. The charge of the mission was then handed over to the Bishop of the Northern Vicariate, who appointed—

Rev. Thomas Dawson, whom the Bishop had just ordained priest at Durham on Dec. 17, 1803. He was a native of Linton-on-Ouse, in Yorkshire, and was admitted into Douay College June 10, 1788. When the college was seized by the revolutionists Mr. Dawson, who was then in poetry, made his escape Jan. 16, 1794, rejoined the ex-collegians gathered at Pontop Hall, Durham, the following Sept. 9, removed with the college to Crook Hall, and was thence ordained priest as related. Owing to delicate health Mr. Dawson constantly had supplies, and the following names appear in the register:—Fr. John Hughes, S.J., in Sept., 1804, then of Stonyhurst; Fr. Joseph Tate, S.J., Sept., 1807, then of Preston; Very Rev. Richard Thompson, V.G., of Weld Bank, in Sept., 1815; Rev. Ralph Platt, of Poulton, April 1817, May, 1820; and Rev. Thomas Pennington, of Westby, in Sept., 1820. In the latter year the Rev. John Lawson, a native of Whitby, ordained at Ushaw, came as assistant, but in 1829 he was transferred to Croston Hall, the seat of the Traffords, in succession to the Rev. Robert Brindle, and Mr. Dawson, then in a very feeble state, accompanied him. In 1831 Croston Hall Chapel was closed, and Mr. Lawson erected and opened an independent one at Mawdesley, where Mr. Dawson continued to live with him till his death Dec. 16, 1832. Mr. Lawson remained at Mawdesley till his death in 1843. Mr. Dawson's successor at Lytham was—

Rev. Joseph Walmsley, son of William Walmsley, of Ribchester, who died at Lytham Nov. 23, 1853, aged 83, and was buried at The Willows, Kirkham, where at that period the Lytham Catholics were usually interred. Mr. Walmsley was born Dec. 28, 1802, entered the English College at Lisbon Aug. 1, 1819, became an alumnus Dec. 3, 1826, and after ordination left the college for the mission at Lytham in June, 1829, his first entry in the registers being on July 12. He soon found his chapel too small, and was obliged to enlarge the gallery. In 1839 he opened the present church, dedicated to St. Peter, in Clifton Street, a brick edifice in the prevalent Gothic style of architecture, which he fitted with the benches and other furniture from the old tythe-barn chapel. It was erected by subscription at a cost of about £2,000, and was designed to accommodate about 700 persons, with the aid of a disproportioned gallery, subsequently reduced after the church was enlarged. It appears in the view of Lytham, by W. H. Bartlett. About 1850 he built a school, and purchased the lease of the house next to the church for a presbytery. After being rector of the mission for over forty-four years, Mr. Walmsley died in harness Aug. 16, 1873, aged almost 71, respected by all the inhabitants of Lytham, and held in affectionate memory by many people to this day. He was buried in the same grave with his father at The Willows. During his later years he was assisted by the Rev. Roger Arrowsmith who first came in 1851. He was born at Inglewhite, in Goosnargh, Dec. 30, 1823, and being left an orphan whilst very young was rescued from being brought up a Protestant by those into whose charge he had fallen through the action of his relative Robert Arrowsmith, the banker of Preston, which led to litigation and the notice of Parliament. He studied at Stonyhurst, 1836-41, and was admitted into the English College at Lisbon June 27, 1843, was ordained priest Dec. 21, 1850, left the college July 13, 1851, and came to assist Mr. Walmsley at Lytham until 1852. He then went to St. Nicholas', Liverpool, 1852, St. Patrick's, Liverpool, 1852-8, Hermeston Grange, Oldcotes, co. Notts., 1858-9, and returned to Lytham in the latter year and stayed till 1879. He was then induced much against his will to take charge of Poulton-le-Fylde, 1879-85, when he retired to Lytham, and died Feb. 27, 1886, aged 62. Upon Mr. Walmsley's death in 1873, as Mr. Arrowsmith declined the responsibility, the charge of the mission was given to—

Rev. Roger Taylor, noticed under Cottam and The Willows, who in 1874 enlarged the schools and built an infant school. In 1875-6 he erected new sacristies, and constructed the side chapels out of the old sacristy and confessionals. In 1877 he put up a high altar, Lady altar, and altar to St. Joseph. In 1878 the church tower was erected at the expense of Col. John Talbot Clifton, the squire of Lytham, who had been reconciled to the Faith. He likewise re-leased the rectory for ninety-nine years, and the church for 999 years on a nominal chief rent. The presbytery was also connected with the church by a passage to the tower. Mr. Taylor remained in charge of the mission till his death Sept. 9, 1885, aged 57, and was buried at The Willows. During his term, after Mr. Arrowsmith left, Mr. Taylor worked the mission without assistance, except that of Rev. Thomas Smith, 1881-2. Mr. Taylor was succeeded by his younger brother—

The Right Rev. Mgr. James Taylor, born Dec. 6, 1831, who went through the course at Ushaw, was ordained priest at St. Edward's College June 20, 1858, and was placed as assistant to the Rev. Richard Brown in Dalton Square, Lancaster. In 1860 he was transferred as curate to Canon William Walker at St. Augustine's, Preston, where his brother also assisted. In Dec., 1863, he was appointed to establish the new mission of The English Martyrs at Moor Park, Preston, where he erected a fine Gothic church, from designs by E. W. Pugin, which was opened Dec. 12, 1867. He was appointed a member of the Liverpool chapter in 1873, and in the same year returned as rector to St. Augustine's which had fallen into a rather poor way. There he made very great alterations and improvements to the church, and after two years, in 1883, left it to take charge of St. Joseph's, Birkdale, in succession to Canon Charles James Teebey, and there he erected a new altar. Upon his brother's death in 1885, Canon Taylor came to Lytham. His first effort was given to the rectory, and he so altered and added to it as practically to transform it into a new house. He also made a complete restoration of the church, and embellished it with artistic decorations of a permanent character. He next, in 1890, turned his attention to the rising watering-place of St. Anne's-on-the-Sea, a portion of his parish, and erected on a site obtained from John Talbot Clifton, the present squire, who had become a Catholic, a handsome Gothic church with presbytery from designs by the brothers Peter Paul and Cuthbert Pugin, and it was consecrated on May 15, 1892. In the following year he replaced the old benches in his church at Lytham, which had been transferred from the ancient tythe-barn chapel, with new ones of elegant design; and in 1894 furnished the tower with a peal of six bells, and erected stained-glass windows throughout the church. He enlarged the sanctuary in 1897, put in new altars, and in 1899 erected a lych-gate. There was at this time no Catholic cemetery at Lytham, so Canon Taylor secured a site at Saltcoats and laid it out with a mortuary chapel in the centre, with moneys bequeathed and provided by the Rev. George Gillow and his brother the Right Rev. Mgr. Charles Gillow. He also erected a fine church at Thornton-le-Fylde, with presbytery and schools, in 1899, being largely assisted by Mrs. Waterton, of Alston Hall. Burn Hall, noticed under Mowbreck, is in close proximity to the church. In 1902 the schools at Lytham underwent extensive alterations. In 1907 Canon Taylor commenced a mission at Ansdell, between Lytham and St. Anne's, and opened a temporary chapel Aug. 16, 1908. The church was to be a memorial of himself and his brother Roger, but he did not live to see it erected. The foundation-stone was only laid on Aug. 22, 1909, and the peal of eight bells blessed on Oct. 29, 1911. In 1907 Canon Taylor was made a domestic prelate by Pius X. Latterly, owing to advanced age and infirmity, Mgr. Taylor resided at Alston Hall, the residence of his late brother-in-law, John Mercer, through whose beneficence Mgr. Taylor had been enabled to carry out nearly all his works, and there he died Jan. 3, 1908, aged 76. He was buried in the cemetery at Saltcoats (Liverpool Cath. Alm., 1809, p. 116, with portrait, and 1913). During his term he had as assistants—Rev. Daniel O'Donoghue, D.D., 1894–8; Rev. Michael Melia, 1898–9; Rev. James Whiteley, 1899–1902; Rev. John Almond, 1902–8; Rev. Leo Joseph Prescott, 1905–8; and he was succeeded by—

Very Rev. John O'Reilly, V.F., 1908 to date, assisted by Rev. John Almond, 1909, and Rev. George H. Greaves, 1909 to date.

* In the parish churchyard at Lytham is a stone recording the deaths of Robert Cookson, of Layton Hawes, and his wife Helen, August 30, 1834, aged 62, and March 4, 1846, aged 73, respectively. Their son Thomas, whose baptism appears above, was born at or near Layton Hawes, an extensive farm situated between Lytham and Blackpool, subsequently occupied by his brother Richard. In 1816 he was sent to Ushaw, where he was ordained priest in 1828, and on Nov. 16th of that year was appointed general prefect of the college, an office which he retained till June 25, 1834. He then was appointed professor of natural philosophy, and in 1837 he was elected vice-president, and became professor of dogmatic theology. In 1840 he was appointed by Bishop Briggs to take charge of the new church of St. Augustine, Preston. In 1856 he was transferred to the pro-Cathedral at Liverpool, and having been appointed a canon in the previous year, he became provost of the chapter and vicar-general to Bishop Goss. There he remained till 1863, when owing to impaired health he was placed at Fernyhalgh, and succeeded to that mission upon the death of the Very Rev. Richard Gillow in the following year. There he passed the remainder of his life, and died March 19, 1878, aged 74. In 1875 he was raised to the dignity of domestic prelate to Pius IX.—J.G.

No. VIII.

THE CATHOLIC REGISTERS OF SS. MARY AND MICHAEL,
GARSTANG, LANCASHIRE. 1788-1824.

CONTRIBUTED BY J. P. SMITH.

HISTORICAL NOTES BY JOSEPH GILLOW.

The parish of Garstang, extending fourteen miles in length and five in breadth, comprises the townships and chapelries of Garstang, Barnacre-with-Bonds, Bilsborough, Cabus, Catterall, Claughton, portions of Cleveley and Forton, Holleth, Kirkland, Nateby, Pilling, Winmarleigh, and Nether Wyresdale. By a strange peculiarity, the parish church, dedicated to St. Helen, stands about two miles from the town, in the township of Kirkland, and in that part of the parish called Churchtown. The advowson belonged to the Abbot of Cockersand, and after the dissolution of the abbey in 1540 passed by grant to John Kitchen, formerly of Hatfield, Herts., and subsequently of Pilling Grange, part of the possessions of the abbey, who in October, 1545, presented Sir Richard Preston as vicar (Fishwick, Hist. of Garstang; Vict. Hist. of Lanc., vii; C.R.S., iv). Meanwhile the advowson had been given by Queen Mary to the refounded Savoy Hospital, from which it had been purchased by Christopher Anderton, of Thavies' Inn, subsequently of Lostock Hall (son of Laurence, and probably grandson of Thurstan Anderton, of Chorley, fifth son of Oliver Anderton, of Anderton Hall), who on Jan. 18, 1558-9, nominated his wife's uncle, Sir James Anderton, to the vicarage. The latter resigned in 1562, to make way for Christopher's youngest brother, Hugh Anderton, who was presented by Queen Elizabeth, by whom some of the grants by Queen Mary were held to be invalid as not being under the Great Seal, on July 28 of that year. In 1569 Hugh Anderton, the vicar, joined with his brother Christopher, the patron, in granting a lease of the vicarage for twenty-one years to another brother, Thomas Anderton, of Chorley, father of the learned and brilliant Jesuit, controversialist and poet, Fr. Laurence Anderton alias Scroop and "John Brekeley, Priest," who was born at Chorley in 1575. Hugh Anderton resigned the vicarage in 1574, and in 1593 is found residing at Kirkby Ravensworth, in the North Riding of Yorkshire, under the description of "gent.," and in that year, on May 1, he released to his nephew, James Anderton, of Lostock Hall, the rectory of Kirkby Ravensworth, which he held under a lease from his said nephew dated May 1, 1591 (Anderton pedigree and abstract of deeds MSS.). At this period the Andertons were temporisers, and were regarded by the bishop of Chester, the Lord-Lieutenant of the county, and the Government of Queen Elizabeth as decidedly suspect in matters of religion, and it is probable that it was due to this, or may be to his reconciliation to the Church, that Hugh Anderton resigned the vicarage of Garstang in 1574. His successor, George Aynsworth, who was instituted by the Bishop of Chester, March 10, 1574-5, was the fourth son of Laurence Aynsworth, of Plessington Hall, and was related to the Talbots of Salesbury Hall, the Radcliffes of Winmarleigh Hall, the Grimshaws of Clayton Hall, and other well-known Catholic families, and was married in 1586 to a Butler, of Kirkland Hall, a family which was more or less staunch to the Faith at this period. Moreover, Hugh Anderton witnessed an Aynsworth grant of premises in Farnworth to his brother Christopher Anderton in 1577. Notwithstanding these catholic associations, the new vicar was complainant to the changed order of things, and appears to have stirred up the hostility of his catholic-spirited parishioners by his action, for on the night of August 20, 1600, an armed mob attacked him in his vicarage in a manner which furnishes a striking picture of the times, and the strength of the sympathy of the people with the old religion which the vicar was endeavouring to suppress. Those Catholics who preferred to keep their conscience, and had sufficient courage to face the penal laws, could no longer "take wine with the parson" in their ancient parish church, as they contemptuously termed the monthly obligation under severe penalties to receive the "Lord's supper" of the new Establishment, but had to assemble at Mass surreptitiously, and be fortified with the sacrament in secret chapels in the houses of the numerous recusants of position within the parish of Garstang. Such, at various times, were at Nateby Hall, Bowers House in Nateby, Wedacre Hall, Claughton Hall, Dimples Hall in Catterall, Pilling Hall, Kirkland Hall, Catterall Hall, Dolphinholme, and Scorton Hall, and other places in Nether Wyresdale, besides at Myerscough Lodge, the seat of the Tyldesleys, though the latter is really an isolated part of the parish of Lancaster. References to Marian and seminary priests serving at these places are fairly frequent in the reports of Government officials and spies, as likewise in the records of the persecutions of the reigns of Elizabeth and her successors down to the very date, 1788, when the Catholics were enabled to erect a public chapel in Garstang. Consecutive lists of priests for periods more or less lengthy could be given of those who served at Nateby Hall, Wyresdale, and Forton, which together may be said to have mainly represented the Garstang parish, not to speak of the chaplaincy or mission at Claughton Hall, which has had uninterrupted service from the time of the substitution of the ancient Church by the Anglican Establishment down to the present day. Wyresdale is now represented by the mission at Scorton, under which its history more appropriately can appear, but as Nateby is so closely representative of Garstang, a slight sketch must be given.

Nateby.

The Norman family of Travers acquired the manor of Nateby at an early period, was settled there in the reign of Henry III, and continued to hold it for fourteen generations, remaining true to the Faith till the family's extinction. One of the last of the family, Fr. Edward Travers alias Hill, Houghton, and Risley, S.J., died in 1654 (C.R.S., vi, 170). It was his eldest brother Richard who joined with his father, William Travers, in the sale of the estate in 1626 to George Preston, of Holker Hall, whose grandson and namesake conveyed it in 1654 to Walter Strickland, of Sizergh Castle, co. Westmorland, about 1670. The latter's son, Robert Strickland, again sold it to George Leyburne, of Cunswick Hall, in the same county, whose wife, Elizabeth, was daughter of George Preston, of Holker Hall. There are records of searches by pursuivants at Nateby Hall, and on one occasion in 1584 the squire, William Travers, was apprehended and cast into gaol at Lancaster Castle (Challoner, Memoirs, orig. edit., i, 167). About this period the hall seems to have been tenanted—for the Travers family also possessed Tulketh Castle or Hall, obtained through marriage with the heiress of one of the Haydocks of Cottam—by Alban Butler, a younger son of the Kirkland Hall family, who was declared by informers to have harboured priests of the names of Middleton and Worthington, as well as a nameless priest, and an old priest variously called “Mr. Richard” and “Little Richard,” who usually resided, reported the vicar of Garstang, with John Rignmayden, Esq., at Wedacre Hall (Gibson, Lydiat Hall). Coming down to later times, Bishop John Leyburne confirmed 1,052 Catholics at Nateby on Sept. 1, 1687. Tyldesley, the diarist, records going to the chapel at Nateby Hall on Sunday, April 27, 1712: “Went early to Natby. Stay^d din^r; Mrs. Green [of Bowers House] and oth^r being there.” And on Sunday, Oct. 26, of the same year, whilst staying with the Leyburnes at Nateby Hall, he refers to attending Mass at Bowers House, the seat of the Greens: “Went with Mrs. to Bowers to prayers, but Shirdy did not pray for our master.” The Jacobite squire was offended at the priest’s omission to say prayers for “James III.” Two days later he “went early in the morning to pray^{rs} at Hen: Madsley’s [in Myerscough]; honest Mr. Gant being loyall.” Bowers House was a fine old mansion, surrounded by woods and plantations, and the chapel at the top of the house, provided with a priest’s hiding-place in case of raid, was approached by curious winding stairs. The Rev. James Gaunt (C.R.S., vi, 176, 202) is also found serving the chapels in Dimples Hall, the seat of the Plessingtons, and Nateby Hall, the seat of the Leyburnes. The diarist, under date Sunday, June 27, 1714, writes: “Went to Dimples. Met Jem Layborne there, and wee tuke Don Gant with us to Natby; stay^d alday; gave Rob. 6d.; soe to Lodge.” After the attainder of John Leyburne and the Plessingtons in 1716, Dimples was sold by the Commissioners for Forfeited Estates, and Mr. Gaunt went to Mowbreck Hall, the seat of the Westbys, subsequently going to Thurnham Hall, the seat of the Daltons, whence he is said to have removed to Salwick Hall, and there died in 1734. About this time the Rev. George Leyburne, son of George Leyburne, of Nateby Hall and Cuns- wick Hall, born May 25, 1673, and ordained priest at Douay, occasionally served at both those places, and in his return as a Catholic non-juror in 1717 put himself down as of Nateby. He eventually died in Staffordshire, Jan. 14 or 24, 1736. In order to counteract some of the effects of John Leyburne’s attainder, the family put Nateby Hall in the name of Thomas Gillow, of Winmarleigh, who took possession of the hall and its contents. In consequence, he fell foul of Mr. Chambers Slaughter, the accountant-general to the Forfeited Estates Commission, who wrote in May, 1717, to the Commissioners relative to Mr. Gillow’s action and disturbance at Nateby (P.R.O., Forfeited Estates Papers, 54 S.). In the previous year the Constable of Garstang had reported “One Mr. Riddell, a reputed popish priest, usually frequented Nateby, but no inhabitant,” and that “One Mr. Gaunt, a reputed Popish priest, usually frequented the Dimples” (P.R.O., Forfeited Estates Papers, L. 2). The constable was mistaken in thinking that Thomas Riddell was a priest. He was the eldest son of Thomas Riddell, of Swinburne Castle, and had only just arrived from Douay College when the Rising of 1715 took place. He engaged in it with his father, was taken at Preston, and carried prisoner to London, where at his trial in 1716 he pleaded guilty, but received the royal mercy. He eventually succeeded to the family estates and married. In 1717 the Catholics in the parish of Garstang were officially returned by the vicar at 230, and at Pilling—one. After things had quietened down, and John Leyburne had been reprieved, the chapel at Nateby seems to have been served as usual by a resident priest, the Rev. William Calvert, who, after a course of seven years, had been ordained priest at the English College at Valladolid, March 26, 1692, and had come to the mission in Lancashire (Valladolid Diary, MS.). He was apparently of the local family of Calvert (originally Calverley) of Cockerham Hall. When Bishop Williams made his visitation at Nateby Hall, "the residence of Mr. Leyburn," in the beginning of 1729, he gave confirmation to 135 persons, and Mr. Calvert, the chaplain, assisted by the Rev. Roger Brockholes, of Claughton Hall, was present on the occasion. Mr. Calvert continued to serve Nateby till his death, July 14, 1735. Two years later, Mr. Leyburne died at Highgate, in the parish of Kendal, and Nateby passed to his sister Anne, wife of Thomas Walton, of Winder and Little Walton Hall, whose daughter and heiress, after the death of her first husband, Thomas Cholmley, of Bransby Hall, co. York, conveyed it in marriage in 1745 to George Anne, of Frickley Hall, co. York, whose son, by a second marriage, Michael Anne, of Burghwallis Hall, co. York, sold Nateby Hall in 1806. Meanwhile Nateby, it is said, was served by the Rev. Christopher Jenkinson, of Brackenlea, Nether Wyresdale, for some period between his arrival on the mission in June, 1713, and his death, Sept. 2, 1723 (Lisbon College Register, p. 220). Soon after Mr. Calvert's death, in 1735, he was succeeded at Garstang, as the Nateby Hall mission was called, by the Rev. William Foster alias Daniel, son of Robert Foster, of Charnock Richard, co. Lanc., tanner, a relative of the Rev. Hugh Tootell alias Charles Dodd, the Church historian. He took the oath at Douay College, in rhetoric, May 26, 1725, aged 18, and was ordained subdeacon March 27, 1728, deacon, April 2, 1729, and priest in November, 1730, after which he was retained in the college as a professor till Sept. 11, 1736, when he left for the English mission, and was appointed to Nateby Hall with charge of Wyresdale. Thus he continued till he was succeeded by his relative, Mr. Daniel, in or shortly after 1741, when he went as chaplain to Robert Dalton at Thurnham Hall, where he stayed till September, 1745. He then had to leave owing to the dangerous state of the times, and the revival of persecution after the unsuccessful Rising of that year. Eventually he died at York some time between Sept. 27, 1754, and April 16, 1755, aged 47. The Rev. Edward Daniel alias Bennet, born March 23, 1709, son of John Daniel, of Durton in Broughton, near Preston, who was tried at Preston in September, 1716, for taking part in the Rising of 1715 but acquitted, was, like Mr. Foster a relative of the Tootells. From Dame Alice's school at Fernyhalgh he was sent in 1724 to Douay College, where he was ordained subdeacon March 4, 1732, deacon March 21, and priest May 20, 1733. He left for the mission July 18, 1735, and was appointed chaplain to the Molyneux family, of Mosborough Hall and The Wood, until he was transferred about 1741 to Nateby Hall, whence he served Wyresdale. In 1745 his activity, upon the passage of Prince Charlie through Lancashire during his unfortunate attempt to recover the throne of his ancestors, necessitated his flight to the continent. He soon returned to Lancashire, however, and possibly resumed his labours at Nateby for some time before he was, in 1754, transferred to Robert Hall and Claughton Hall, in Lonsdale Hundred. Thence, in 1757, he removed to Scarborough, and finally died at York, May 1, 1765, aged 56. After Mr. Daniel's departure from Nateby, the mission, so far as can be gathered, was served from Scorton by the Rev. John Serjeant, born Jan. 3, 1714, s.v., son of John Serjeant, and his wife Dorothy Thornton, of Ellel, yeoman, who returned estate there and at Wyresdale as a catholic non-juror in 1717 (Payne, Engl. Cath.

Non-jurors). He was sent to Douay College, where he arrived Sept. 20, 1735, and in due course was ordained priest March 19, 1744. He left the college for the English mission August 2, 1745 (Douay Diary MS.), but whilst on his journey to his home at Ellel, close to Scorton, he met Prince Charlie's troops at Preston, and after the retreat of the Prince was seized and committed to Lancaster Castle. Upon liberation he was placed at Scorton, and thence served Wyresdale and Nateby, and upon occasion temporarily attended to Thurnham. He remained at Scorton for half a century, till his death, August 31, 1795, aged 81, and was buried with his family at Cockerham. He was author of "The Pope and Turk," and also of some controversial pieces against the vicar of Garstang, the Rev. Thomas Hunter, in 1753. The latter replied with "A Letter to a Priest of the Church of Rome, on the subject of Image-worship; in Answer to a Letter sent by him to Tho. Hunter, a priest of the Church of England," Liverpool, J. Sadler, 1753, 8vo., pp. ii-113. Meanwhile, from a return made by the vicar of Garstang to the Bishop of Chester in 1767, it appears that the catholics in his parish were estimated at 837. At St. Peter's, Lancaster, there is a very beautiful inlaid long-cased clock, bearing the letters of Mr. Serjeant's name round the dial in place of numerals for the hours. Some years before his death it was decided to build an independent chapel in Garstang, probably made feasible by the following bequest. Mr. William Mumford, of St. Omer's, a Norfolk gentleman, born in 1745, died at St. Omer's Sept. 28, 1782, leaving to his executors, Mr. William Mawhood and the Rev. Joseph Bolton, both of London, a sum of £50 per annum for missions (at Garstang) in Lancashire and (Lichfield) in Staffordshire. In his instructions he said: "the one place to be founded in the Middle District, the other in the Northern, in gratitude for my instruction in the Holy Catholic Faith in Lancashire," the choice of places to be at the disposal of the respective bishops. As the testator, so far as the writer knows, was of Catholic parentage, it is most probable that his instruction in Lancashire was at one of the several Catholic boarding schools in the county at that period, probably at Fernyhalgh. Thus with the assurance of the benefit of this annuity for income, the new chapel in Garstang was commenced, and it was opened in 1788, its subsequent history being as follows:—

Garstang.

Rev. John Shuttleworth, born in Lancashire Nov. 10, 1756, was the son of Thomas Shuttleworth, by his wife Anne Walker, descended from the ancient family of Shuttleworth, of Shuttleworth House, Bedford, lords of the manor of Bedford, who returned a pedigree at Dugdale's Visitation of Lancashire in 1664. He arrived at Douay College Aug. 14, 1774, where he was ordained priest in 1784, and came to the mission (Douay Prefect's Lists, MS., and Douay Diaries, p. 79). He was placed at Puddington Hall, Cheshire, the seat of the Stanleys, whence he was sent to Garstang to establish the new mission. The chapel was erected with the aid of public subscriptions on the western side of the town, but was not completed and opened till 1788. Mr. Shuttleworth from that date commenced to keep a register of baptisms, and his entries range from July, 1788, till July, 1789, when, after the death of Fr. William Molyneux, S.J., April 30, 1789, at Bryn, it was arranged that the secular clergy should take over the charge of that ancient chaplaincy and mission, and Mr. Shuttleworth was appointed. At this time Sir Robert Gerard, of Bryn Hall, 10th Bart., was a minor, and died two years later. Here Mr. Shuttleworth spent a long life of missionary zeal, and died "full of years and merits," June 17, 1839, aged 82. The last

Mass said in the old chapel at Bryn was for his requiem. One of his private memorandum and missionary note-books is in the writer's possession. He was succeeded at Garstang by—

Rev. John Barrow, born April 16, 1751, son of Thomas Barrow, of Westby, and his wife, Mary Crookall. Several of his collateral ancestors had been Jesuits, and hence he was sent to the Society's college at Bruges, whence, however, he was transferred to Douay College, where he arrived Sept. 10, 1768, was placed in rhetoric, and admitted an alumnus March 30, 1771. Between three and four years later he was sent to teach at St. Omer's College, then administered by the secular clergy, whence he returned a priest to Douay Oct. 17, 1776, and left for the English mission Jan. 7, 1777 (Douay Prefect's Lists, MS., and Douay Diary). His first charge was at Hazlewood Castle, co. York, the seat of Sir Walter Vavasour, 6th Bart., and there he remained till 1781, when he was transferred to Clints Hall, in the same county, a seat of the Stapletons, where he remained about six years, and then travelled with young Mr. John Stapleton. He came to Garstang in 1789, and remained till 1796. After four years spent elsewhere, he returned to Garstang in 1800, and remained till his death in December, 1811, aged 60. Meanwhile, the four years' interval was filled by—

Rev. William Barnes, from 1796 till 1797, after which he was chaplain to the Jerninghams, at Cossey Hall, Norfolk, and missionary at Brighton, and he was followed by—

Rev. John Worswick, born Sept. 28, 1761, a younger son of Thomas Worswick, the banker at Lancaster, and his wife Alice, daughter of Robert Gillow, of Lancaster, Esq., whose memoir the writer gave C.R.S., iv, 321. From 1797 to 1798 he served Garstang, and was succeeded by—

Rev. John Rickaby, born at Coniscliffe, in Bishopric, who arrived at Douay, July 11, 1787, whence he escaped when the college was seized by the Revolutionists on Oct. 17, 1793, having just entered the school of logic. He joined the Douay refugees at Tudhoe, and pursued his studies at Pontop Hall and Crook Hall, at the latter of which he was ordained priest Sept. 22, 1798, left on Oct. 15 for Garstang, and remained till July, 1800, when he went to Nunnington, co. York, and eventually died in the asylum in Manchester, Feb. 5, 1821 (Douay Prefect's Lists, MS. and Haydock Papers). His temporary successor at Garstang was—

Fr. Richard Anthony Sumner, O.S.F., born at Chipping, co. Lancaster, in 1775, who had just been ordained priest, and probably was only on a visit before taking charge of the Franciscan mission of Chipping Laund, where he went the same year, 1800. He signs the registers at Birmingham from Dec. 13, 1801, to March 1, 1802, but was nominally incumbent of Chipping. He resided some time at Whatcombe House, Lambourne, Berks., and was confessor to the Poor Clares at Plymouth in August, 1821, till his death, July 16, 1822. Meanwhile—

Rev. John Barrow returned to Garstang in 1800, and dying in 1811, was succeeded by—

Rev. Arthur Story, noticed at length under Singleton. Here Mr. Story spent the remainder of his missionary career, but died whilst on a visit to his brother at Thirsk, July 25, 1825, aged 85. His successor was—

Rev. Daniel Hearne, ordained priest at St. Patrick's, Maynooth, who came over to England, and was appointed to Garstang July 24, 1824. He remained till November, 1825, when he was transferred to St. Mary's, Mulberry Street, Manchester, as assistant to the Rev. Henry Gillow, senior. He was a notable character, and his subsequent career will be found in the writer's Biog. Dict. of the Engl. Caths., iii, 232-8. His place at Garstang was taken by—

Rev. Michael Hickey, born in Kilkenny 1801, educated at St. Patrick's, Maynooth, ordained priest May 26, 1825, arrived in Liverpool on the following August 17, and was sent to Chester, where he stayed three months, after which he was transferred to Garstang, where he said his first Mass on Nov. 27. The old chapel in Garstang was fast becoming too small, so Mr. Hickey commenced to collect subscriptions towards a new church, obtained a site in Bonds, only separated from the town by the river Wyre, and on June 15, 1857, the foundation-stone of a fine gothic stone church, with a massive square tower at the western end, was laid by the Rt. Rev. Alexander Goss, second Bishop of Liverpool. The church was dedicated to SS. Mary and Michael, and was solemnly opened by the same prelate on August 18, 1858, the Rt. Rev. Richard Roskell, Bishop of Nottingham, whose parents came from Garstang, preaching on the occasion. The old chapel was sold, and subsequently was converted into "The Garstang Institute" or public hall. The old altar-piece of the Crucifixion, one of Lonsdale's first paintings, was removed to the new church, and hung over the door on the north side. Mr. Hickey also erected the presbytery and schools, which, with the church, cost about £7,000, and all were out of debt at the time of his death, August 12, 1871, aged 70. His funeral was attended by people of all denominations, and the shutters of the shops of the quaint old "finished town," as it was called, were closed as a mark of sincere respect for the man whose effigy had been burnt on many a fifth of November. His successors have been—

Rev. Thomas Wells, born at Heaton, near Lancaster, in 1845, educated at Ushaw and ordained priest shortly before his arrival (vide under Great Eccleston), who came as assistant in June, 1871, and left Nov. 4 following for St. Mary's, Wigan.

The Very Rev. Richard Canon Seed, born in 1825, son of Mr. James Seed, of Heaton Hall, in Lonsdale Hundred, ordained priest at Ushaw Sept. 24, 1853, and sent as assistant to St. Vincent's, Liverpool, thence in 1862 given charge of St. Alban's, Liverpool, where he built schools, whence he came to Bonds, Garstang, in December, 1871. Here he continued till he had a paralytic stroke about the close of 1872, when he retired to live with his brother, Mr. Henry Seed, at Stirzacre House, Catterall, close to Garstang, and there died March 3, 1877, aged 51, and was interred at Claughton, near Garstang.

Rev. John Nixon, born at Kirkham, May 3, 1839, sent to Ushaw in August, 1855, and ordained priest from thence by Bishop Goss at St. Edward's College, August 24, 1867, was placed at Eldon Street, Liverpool, whence he came to Garstang in December, 1872, till October, 1874. He was then transferred to Mawdesley, 1874-85, and thence to Great Crosby, where he remained till his death, Oct. 5, 1912, aged 73.

Rev. John R. Hennesey, came Oct. 3, 1874, to date.

HISTORICAL NOTES OF GREAT SINGLETON AND POULTON
BY JOSEPH GILLOW.

SINGLETON.

The township of Singleton, in the parish of Kirkham, before the Conquest was included in the great lordship held by Earl Tostig in Amounderness, and subsequently was retained as demesne by the lords of the Honour of Lancaster, with the exception of a plough-land given to the hereditary bailiff of the wapentake by way of fee, and two ploughlands granted to Cockersand Abbey. Singleton proper, or Great Singleton, the larger portion of the township containing the village and chapel near its centre, remained in the hands of the earls and dukes of Lancaster, and eventually of the Crown, until 1623, when the manor—which meanwhile had been partitioned into Great and Little Singleton—with that of Ribby-cum-Wrea, was sold to Edward Badly and William Weltlen.

Within a few years it seems to have been purchased by William Fanshawe, auditor of the duchy of Lancaster, and descended to Simon Fanshawe, of Dengie, co. Essex (Burke, Landed Gentry), who in 1748 sold it to William Shawe, of Preston, who died in 1771, and his son, William Cunliffe Shawe, M.P. for Preston in 1792, sold the estate to Joseph Hornby, of Ribby Hall, about 1800. From the trustees of Hugh Hornby it passed by purchase in 1852 to Thomas Miller, a wealthy cotton manufacturer of Preston, who rebuilt many of the farmhouses, and otherwise improved the estate, besides adding to it by purchase adjoining properties. His son, Thomas Horrocks Miller, the present lord of the manor, erected the existing mansion known as Singleton Park.

Singleton Grange, or Newbigging, originally a portion of the manor, became independent, and was considered to lie in Little Singleton, probably because it belonged to Cockersand Abbey. After the suppression of monasteries it was sold to William Eccleston, of Great Eccleston, and after the death of his grandson, Adam Eccleston, the estate was alienated in small portions, one of which was held by Hugh Hornby, who died in 1638, leaving a son and heir, John, then aged 40.

Little Singleton from the most remote period was owned by a family which adopted the local surname, but their principal manor was Broughton in Preston parish, and Little Singleton descended to the heirs and representatives of the Balderston family. William, son of Alan de Singleton, had a milne and fishing at Singleton in 1245, and Thomas de Singleton proved his title in 1292. Joan, formerly de Singleton, widow of Thomas Banastre, held the manor of Little Singleton in 1303, and William Banastre died in 1323-4, holding of the Earl of Lancaster the hamlet of Little Singleton by serjeanty of the bailiwick of Amounderness and Blackburnshire. In 1346 Thomas, son of Adam Banastre, held a plough-land in Little Singleton by the same serjeanty. Thomas, son of Gilbert de Singleton, put in a claim to the manor in 1344 against John and Nicholas, sons of Thomas Banastre. The claim failed, yet nevertheless the Singletons of Broughton Tower and Chingle Hall appear so late as 1598 to have retained certain estate in Little Singleton, said to be called Singleton Lodge, which in the eighteenth century was the residence of the lords of Great Singleton manor, and so continued until the present Mr. Miller erected Singleton Park.

Richard Balderston held the manor of Little Singleton by serjeanty in 1457; and in or about 1460 a petition was addressed to the Bishop of Exeter, as Chancellor, by John Pilkington and Robert Harrington, as lords of Singleton, in right of their wives. Robert Hesketh and John Talbot were in 1466 appointed to arbitrate between William Singleton and Joan, widow of Richard Balderston.

On the partition of the manor in 1565, Little Singleton was assigned to the Earl of Derby. In 1602 it was sold by Alice, Countess of Derby, and the heirs of Ferdinando Stanley, 5th Earl of Derby, to William Hesketh, of Little Poulton Hall, who was probably already the occupier of the manor-house known as The Maynes, or Maynes Hall. George Hesketh, half-brother to Gabriel Hesketh, son of Bartholomew Hesketh, of Aughton, grandson of Thomas Hesketh, of Rufford and Hesketh, had considerable estate in the town of Kirkham and neighbourhood. He died in 1571 at Little Poulton Hall, and was succeeded by his son William, aged at the time 30, who married Elizabeth, daughter of John Allen, of Rossall Grange, and sister of the eminent Cardinal Allen. William died at The Maynes in 1622, but nothing appeared in his inquisition post mortem about his holding Little Singleton, hence the purchaser may have been his son and namesake, aged 60 at his father's death. William, the son, married Anne, daughter of Hugh Anderton, of Euxton Hall, died in 1623, holding the manor of Little Singleton, and was succeeded by his son and heir, Thomas Hesketh, whose uncle and namesake was a priest in the household of Cardinal Allen at Rome. The whole family were staunch recusants, and suffered much for the Faith.

During the civil wars the Heskeths were distinguished for their loyalty, and one of them, Thomas, a captain of horse in the royal army, was slain at Brindle in 1651. Two-thirds of their estates were sequestered for recusancy by Parliament as early as 1643, and in 1654 William Hesketh, of Maynes Hall and Little Poulton Hall, petitioned for some relief on behalf of his seven daughters, of whom the eldest was but twelve years of age. The family continued to reside at The Maynes until the death of William Brockholes, of Claughton Hall, Esquire, in 1751, whose sister and heiress had married William Hesketh, whose sons Thomas, Joseph, and James successively inherited that estate, assumed the name of Brockholes, and removed to Claughton Hall.

Upon the death of the last, unmarried, in 1783, the Hesketh and Brockholes estates passed by the will of Joseph Hesketh-Brockholes, who died in 1782, to William Fitzherbert (younger son of Basil Fitzherbert, of Swynnerton Hall, co. Stafford), whose sister Constantia had married Mr. Brockholes, but had died without issue. Mr. Fitzherbert assumed the name of Brockholes, and was succeeded by his son, Thomas Fitzherbert-Brockholes, who was succeeded in 1873 by his nephew, James Fitzherbert-Brockholes, son of Charles Fitzherbert-Brockholes. James died in 1875, when The Maynes Hall, Claughton

Hall, and Heaton Hall estates reverted to his relative, the present owner, William Fitzherbert-Brockholes (second son of Francis Fitzherbert, of Swynnerton Park), whose nephew, Francis Fitzherbert, eldest son of Basil Fitzherbert, has recently inherited the barony of Stafford (Victorian Hist. co. Lanc., vii; Fishwick, Hist. of Kirkham; Visitations of Lanc.).

Having thus summarised the descents of the manors of Great and Little Singleton, the history of the two missions—with references to other ancient chaplaincies or missionary stations in the neighbourhood—can more clearly be traced.

GREAT SINGLETON.

The earliest record of a place of divine worship in Singleton is a grant in 1358 from Henry, Duke of Lancaster, of the custody of St. Mary's Chapel to the hermit John de East Witton. In 1440 a licence was granted celebrandi incolis villae de Syngleton in capellâ ibidem per unum annum; and in 1452 a similar licence was granted by the Archdeacon of Richmond for an oratory incolis villae de Syngleton for three years in capellâ de Syngleton, to which an indulgence of forty days was afterwards added. In March, 1455–6, Archdeacon Lawrence Bothe renewed the licence to John Skillicorne, of Preese Hall, in the parish of Kirkham, Esq., during pleasure. The chaplain was probably maintained by subscription of the inhabitants, but 49s. later paid to a stipendiary indicates that the dukes of Lancaster, as lords of the manor, had made a small allowance.

The chapel remained in use till the Reformation, and in 1547 the stipend of 49s. a year was paid to a priest to celebrate Mass. A lease for the term of twenty-one years of the chapel property granted by Edward VI to Sir Richard Hoghton, of Hoghton, in Feb., 1546–7, contained a provision that he should pay the 49s. to the priest, who at the time was Richard Godson, thirty-eight years of age. This name does not appear among those of the Kirkham clergy in 1548. According to the report of the royal commissioners (Raine's Lanc. Chantryes, vol. lix, Cheth. Soc.) instituted by Queen Mary, Feb. 22, 1554, there was then at Singleton Chapel "one little bell weying half a hundred weight," of the value of vijs. vjd., and "ornaments" worth ijs. iiijd.; and William Butler and Thomas Bayne, "chyrchereves of ye chappell," having been "sworne and examyned," deposed that the little bell yet remained, although it had been "seased to thuse of" the late King Edward VI by the authority of a former commission.

Sir Richard Hoghton's son and heir, Thomas, of Hoghton Tower and Lea Hall, the fugitive for conscience sake, and the intimate friend of Cardinal Allen, pleaded in the duchy court in 1561 that he was by inheritance seized in his demesne as of fee "with the soke of all the lands of the late Kynge in Syngleton . . . appurtenances and belongings, and also an house called the chappell house of three acres of arable land and to the same belonging in Singleton aforesaid in the tenure of Wm. Yede, and of a chappell called Singleton Chappell in Singleton aforesaid with the chappell yarde thereunto belonging, also one house or cottage called the Corner-rawe, parcell of the duchy of Lanc.; also of a windmill; and that the tenants thereof, Robert Carter and James Hall, had never paid any rent, and refused to do so."

Meanwhile Dom Thomas Fieldhouse had succeeded the chantry priest of Mary's reign as "curate of Syngleton Chapel," and answered the Protestant Bishop Downham's visitation "call" on July 14, 1562. At the archiepiscopal visitation of the diocese of Chester in 1578, the record concerning the then "curate of Syngleton" of the new Establishment is—"Ther is not servyse done in due tyme. He kepeth no hous nor releveth the poore. He is not dyligent in visitinge the sycke. He doth not teach the catechisme. There is no sermons. He churcheth fornycatours without doinge any penaunce. He maketh a donge hill in the chapel yeard, and he hath lately kepte a typlinge hous and a nowty woman in it" (Chester Presentments at York).

After this the chapel ceased to be used, and was with the appurtenances sold by the Crown in 1618 to Sir James Auchterlony. The ancient chapel was still in existence in 1650, having been held on lease by Ralph Eccleston, a recusant, and purchased by Robert Holt, of London. It had thus fallen into Catholic possession, and was secretly used for divine service. Here was born the Rev. Thomas Eccleston, who after his ordination returned to Lancashire, for a long period served the chapel in Fazakerley Hall, and was rural dean of West Derby Hundred. In December, 1694, he gave £50 to the Lancashire and Westmorland Clergy Fund (Kirk, Biog., pp. 259-61), and Squire Blundell, in his records of burials at Crosby, writes: "Mr. Tho. Eccleston, borne in Great Singleton, in ye Field in Lancashire, was a Clergie Priest; spent more yⁿ 40 years in assisting poore Christians in ye parishes of Halsall and Aughton, and was buried in ye Harkirke, Año 1700" (Crosby Records, p. 80).

During the Commonwealth period a new protestant chapel was erected in Singleton, and the non-Catholics in the township petitioned for a minister and endowment. In 1650 the Oliverian commissioners reported that "Syngleton Chappell [was] newly erected with neyther [minister] nor maintenance, and the same being distant seaven miles from their parish church [at Kirkham], and consisting of 140 fameleys [inclusive of Catholics]. Att the least the inhabitants humbly desire it may be a parish church, and that they may have a minister and competent mayntenance allowed." The new chapel was dedicated to St. Ann, instead of to Our Lady the original patroness, and £50 was awarded to it out of Squire Thomas Clifton's sequestered estates. Cuthbert Harrison, the Puritan minister, aged twenty-four, was ordained by the seventh classis to officiate at Singleton, Nov. 27, 1651, and he appears to have more or less done so till 1660. After that the curacy remained vacant, and the chapel was abandoned, and fell into private hands. Thornber, the historian of Blackpool, writing in 1837, says that this Oliverian chapel was converted into an inn, long known by the name of "Chapel House."

Meanwhile the ancient Catholic chapel and priest's house had been converted into a residence, and from the Ecclestons passed into the possession of the Gillows, and had an unbroken succession of resident priests. After the Rising of 1715, it appears from an "information" in the Public Record Office, that the Rev. James Swarbrick was apprehended in the house of Richard Gillow, wherein was the chapel. He was committed to Lancaster Castle, charged with being a "popish priest" and officiating as such, and saying Mass contrary to the statute of 11 and 12 William III. As elsewhere related, he died in the castle, a confessor of the Faith, in March, 1716-7. Mr. Gillow was also summoned to appear at the Sessions holden at Lancaster, Jan. 15, 1716-7, as well as Mr. Swarbrick's nephew, the Rev. Robert Swarbrick, who succeeded his uncle to the charge of the mission. Altogether seventy-one Catholics from Singleton were convicted of recusancy on that day, including Fr. John Berington alias Harper, S.J., the chaplain at Maynes Hall in Little Singleton, the residence of Squire Hesketh. The rude and forcible entry into his house, the strict search by the pursuivants, and the discovery and arrest of Mr. Swarbrick in his hiding-place, was too great a shock for a man of Mr. Gillow's advanced years; his health was so affected that he succumbed in the following December, and was interred with his ancestors at Kirkham, where a tablet commemorates him. Squire Tyldesley, the diarist, records going to Mass at Great Singleton in 1712.

After the popular frenzy caused by the Jacobite rising had subsided, and persecution had quietened down, the house and chapel were handed over for the sole use of the incumbent of the mission, and so continued to be peacefully enjoyed till Prince Charles Edward's abortive attempt to recover the throne in 1745-6 once more stirred up the latent animosity against the professors of the ancient Faith. On Guy Fawkes Day, Nov. 5th, of that or the succeeding year, the protestants of the village, desirous of making a special "No Popery" demonstration, went round to every door begging for contributions of wood and peat for the customary bon-fire on that anniversary, and had the impudence and audacity to call at the house of the priest, in whose temporary absence his housekeeper declined to accede to their request. This caused such exasperation that a mob gathered, and, led by one Richard Seckington, stormed the place, wrecked the house and chapel, and stole or destroyed much of the contents. Mr. John Gillow, of Lilystone Hall, Essex, a native of Singleton, in a letter to the present writer in 1883, referring to this incident, wrote: "Sad calamities befel the desecrators; the artificial flowers taken from the altar were put on the heads of horses that were going to fetch coals from beyond the Ribble, crossing by the ford near Freckleton [at Warton]; the waters closed in upon them, and all perished. Again, a person who had trampled on a picture taken from the wall was visited by a death so extraordinary that no one had ever seen the like before."

The lord of the manor thus seized the opportunity to get possession of the chapel and convert it into a protestant place of worship (Thornber, Hist. of Blackpool, p. 307). From an indenture dated Aug. 29, 1749, it appears that William Shawe, Esq., lord of the manor, had some time previously given a chapel belonging to him at Singleton, hitherto used as a Popish chapel, to be used for the future as a chapel of ease—rededicated to St. Ann—to the mother-church of Kirkham, and that Mr. Shawe then proposed to give £200 to be added to a like amount from Queen Anne's Bounty for endowment, and thereupon the Rev. John Threlfall, B.A., headmaster of the Kirkham Free Grammar School, was appointed the first curate.

The Catholics of Singleton, thus bereft of their ancient chapel, were provided with one converted out of a building situated in the rear premises of Mr. George Gillow's house, which sheltered them for a quarter of a century. In 1765, according to Peter Whittle's historical account of the mission in his Catholic Monitor for June 15, 1839, but in 1768 according to Thornber's version in 1837, a new chapel and house was erected on a site obtained by Mr. George Gillow and James Parker. Both dates are inaccurate, as proved from the following extract from the "Singleton Chapel Trust" account preserved with the muniments of the Gillows of Lilystone Hall: "It appears from a recital of a Bond from Edward Harrison, of Poolefoot in Singleton, dated 1st June, 1754, that he (Harrison) had sold to George Gillow and James Parker, both of Singleton, 1 perch and $\frac{3}{4}$ of ground, part of his garden in Great Singleton, to erect a Building upon and lay a causeway of a yard wide at the east end thereof when erected. It appears from certain lease papers and memoranda that a subscription for the erection of a chapel at Singleton was commenced in 1754 (the year that Harrison's Bond was signed), and that George Gillow and James Parker were Trustees. In 1771, the chapel and vestry were erected by contributions, and Mr. Storey was incumbent. The site of the new chapel, sacristy, and adjoining priest's house, with stables, garden, etc., was a corner at the western end of the village. The Gillow family provided the altar furniture, sacred vessels, vestments, and many other things requisite for the chapel." Whittle tells how the house-keeper and neighbours at the time of the seizure of the old chapel had secured the chalice, vestments, etc., "and also the baptismal font at which the ancestry of this rural village had made their vows time immemorial." He adds that this baptismal font was removed to the new chapel in 1771, and was still in use in 1839. The Catholics in Singleton were estimated in the Bishop of Chester's return in 1767 at 135, and those in Poulton at 146, without counting those in adjoining townships.

In 1783 the priest returned his communicants at 250 to the Lancashire vicar-general to the vicar-apostolic. On Sept. 19 of the following year, Bishop Matthew Gibson made his visitation and gave confirmation to 29 persons, and returning three days later confirmed 12 more, the communicants being returned by the priest of the mission at 215. In 1832 the writer of an historical account of the mission printed in The Weekly Orthodox Journal, reprinted in The Catholic Magazine of 1833, claimed that the Catholics numbered two-thirds of the population of the village. "No one is now left of those who were eye-witnesses of the change," he continues, referring to the seizure of the ancient chapel, "but there are still a few families, at and about Singleton, whose parents were married in the Catholic Church by a Catholic priest, such as the Parkers, the Gillows, the Brindles, and Hodgins, and others who never bent their knees to Baal, but . . . stoutly maintained their Faith . . . They . . . are still summoned by the same bell that for ages gone by summoned their Catholic ancestors to the celebration of the divine mysteries . . . The number of communicants on the list last Easter was 160."

The statement with regard to the bell can hardly be accurate. With the exception of the brief reign of James II, no bell could publicly summon the faithful to Mass till the second quarter of the nineteenth century, and even so late as 1840 there is the instance of the vicar of Preston threatening to take proceedings if the recently-erected bell at St. Austin's in Preston was rung. The present writer's mother informed him that she remembered seeing an ancient bell, said to have belonged to the old chapel at Singleton, which bore the name of Robinson, she thought Anthony, a family connected with Singleton from the earliest period. That might be the one used during the reign of James II. Of the family of the donor of the bell was the Rev. Thomas Robinson alias Shaw, son of John Robinson and his wife Margaret, who was baptized at Great Singleton by the Rev. John Holden on Aug. 26, 1651. His parents had suffered public and private spoliation of their property during the civil wars on account of their Faith. He studied his humanities at Kirkham, Poulton, and Singleton, whence he proceeded to St. Omer's College, and on Oct. 3, 1673, was admitted into the English College at Rome, where he was ordained priest Jan. 24, and left for the English mission May 4, 1677 (Foley, Records S.J., vi, 421). His father's will was proved in 1661.

Thus the new chapel continued in use until shortly after the expiration of the lease of the land, when the then incumbent, the Rev. Joseph Orrell, announced from the altar in 1812 that owing to the precarious tenure of the property "it was highly desirable that the congregation should speedily set about devising means for providing themselves with a place of worship not to be influenced by casualties similar to that which had just deprived them of all security in their present place of worship" (Rev. Ralph Platt's Records and Origin of the Chapel at Poulton, MS.). A serious difference divided the congregation as to the site of the proposed new chapel, that is, whether it should be erected in or as near as might be to the village of Singleton, or in or as near as might be to the town of Poulton. It ended in the chapel being erected on a site at The Breck in Little Poulton, presented by William Fitzherbert-Brockholes, Esq., of Claughton Hall, and two years later, on Oct. 18, 1814, the chapel at Singleton was closed. A difficulty then arose about certain funds left by various persons for the benefit of Singleton, the trustees expressing an apprehension as to the propriety of their being removed to Poulton. Bishop Smith, however, decided that as the incumbent of Poulton was also the incumbent of Singleton, the interest of the funds in question was to be paid to him. Of these funds, £400 left by James Hesketh-Brockholes, Esq., of Maynes Hall, was originally held in trust by John Dalton, of Thurnham Hall, Esq., and Thomas Westby, of White Hall, Esq., but latterly Mr. Joseph Bushell, of Myerscough Cottage, son-in-law to Squire Dalton, was the sole trustee, who eventually invested the £400 with the trustees of Poulton Chapel, but did not surrender the original trust till June, 1823. Another principal sum of £713, left at various times by different individuals to Singleton Chapel, was held in trust by Mr. William Gillow and Mr. James Parker, both of Singleton. The obligations connected with Singleton, as accepted by the Rev. Joseph Orrell, the last incumbent of the mission, consisted of annual Masses for the repose of the souls of Jennet Robinson, Edward Gillow, of Larbrick Hall (died July 8, 1779); Walter, Jon^a, Anne, Anthony, Cuthbert, James, Richard, and Dorothy Robinson, William Crook, Joseph Gillow, and William Gillow (died Feb., 1780).

In 1831 the chapel at Singleton having been secured was reopened, and the Rev. Edward Kenyon was appointed to the charge. In 1850 it underwent some restoration, but two years later the manor of Great Singleton was purchased from the Hornbys by Mr. Miller, who gradually bought up all the freehold land in the township save that of the chapel, and to force the hand of the bishop and make him sell, he systematically turned out all his Catholic tenants till but two remained. In 1860 Bishop Goss wrote to the Gillows of Lilystone Hall "to know if they had any intention of rebuilding the chapel, as Miller was wishing to purchase the property, having bought the land around," but receiving a negative reply, sold the property to Mr. Miller, on the understanding that another chapel should be allowed to be erected in the village should it be required in the future. So ended the Catholic mission in Singleton, which throughout penal times is supposed to have embraced two-thirds of the entire population of the township.

The Rev. Mr. Thornber, in his History of Blackpool (Poulton, 1837, pp. 233-308) states that "the chalice and cup, once the property of the Romanists, are still preserved, but the vestments have been destroyed." Under his account of the church at Blackpool he adds: "The font offers nothing remarkable, but the fact of its once having belonged to the old Roman Catholic chapel at Singleton before it was converted into a Protestant Church confers on it some interest." All this is incorrect. Neither the "chalice and cup" nor the font ever belonged to Catholics. They might have been part of the protestant furniture and fittings placed in the chapel after its seizure, and dispersed when it was pulled down in 1809. Fishwick, in his History of Bispham, p. 35, repeats the same erroneous claim, describing the font as made of wood, originally round, but now having a portion cut away to admit of its being placed against a wall. As previously related, Whittle distinctly asserted in 1839 that at the time of the seizure the Catholics secured the chalice, vestments, and baptismal font, the latter being then in use in the new chapel at Singleton. When the old chapel was demolished and rebuilt by Mr. Joseph Hornby in 1809, the Pre-Reformation piscina was secured by the Catholics, and subsequently was purchased by one of the present writer's seven sacerdotal uncles, and placed in the domestic chapel attached to his grandmother's residence, St. Michael's House, in Broughton, where it remains to this day. It is very chaste in design, in the form of a shell of considerable size, and betokens that the old chapel must have possessed far more ornate embellishment than the modern descriptions would imply.

In the account given in 1883 to the present writer by his cousin, Mr. John Francis Gillow, of Lilystone Hall, referring to the gift by the Gillow family of altar furniture for the new chapel, it is stated: "Our family gave a box to the priest containing things requisite for the chapel. We know two chalices and a silver cross were at least within. The cross, now in our possession, was given to my uncle of North Shields [Rev. Thomas Gillow] by Mr. Orrell [when the chapel was abandoned in 1813], saying 'that he thought it only right and proper that our family should have something from the box to be preserved as an heirloom.' The cross is massive, four inches in length, half-inch broad, and deep to receive the relics within. The outside has twenty instruments of the Passion engraved, and as the figure is in high relief, the priests have probably used it for saying Mass as a crucifix, which in reality it is. The figure probably in this way has become worn. We also had a relic of the times of persecution, an altar-stone, portable, and with the usual five crosses worked on the outer covering. Under these, no doubt, were relics. Perhaps it is now at Poulton, or Dr. Goss may have taken it to St. Edward's College, for he took to collecting all information he could get about old missions, etc. He once wrote to us for that purpose." Mr. Gillow goes on to describe a number of old books in his possession at Lilystone Hall, which had come from Singleton, one of which, the Hortus Pastorum, Paris, 1638, had the autograph of "Jo. Swarbrick" in three places.

To this account may be appended a brief description of a few other Singleton mementoes in the writer's possession:—

I. A very beautifully-carved Elizabethan reredos in oak for a portable altar, in its original state, with panels to the front representing the Annunciation, the Nativity, and the Circumcision, and ornate carving on the side panels.

II. The ancient crucifix from the top of the tabernacle (in the usual seventeenth century form of an eastern temple), which was removable, and fitted into a staff for processional purposes. The cross is of black oak, inscribed 1662, and the silver figure of Our Lord—in a long flowing Stuart wig—is secured with finely-fashioned silver nails.

III. An early seventeenth century burse in crimson velvet, with gold thread embroidery and long cords to fasten round the priest's neck. It is accompanied by a silver pyx of doubtful age, covered with emblematic and heraldic engraving of quaint design.

IV. An ancient silver pectoral or abbatial cross, with quaintly-engraved figure, and on reverse I H S and emblems of the crucifixion, containing six divisions in the interior for relics. The letters "S + K" have been engraved at a later date on one side.

V. A Plantinian Missale Romanum, Antverpiæ, 1706, 4to, with antique register bearing the sacred monogram I H S and the initials R.G. (Richard Gillow), worked in green and other coloured silks and gold thread, with the usual long tabs. The Calendar contains Gillow obituaries.

VI. Another Plantinian Missal, Antwerp, 1655, bearing the autograph "John Anderton, Singleton," the missionary who died in 1857.

Besides these mementoes there was formerly in use in the domestic chapel of the writer's father a very old altar-stone, perhaps the one referred to by Mr. John Francis Gillow, which Dr. John Gillow, of Ushaw College, replaced with a modern and larger stone, now in the writer's possession, on account of the inconvenience he experienced in using the little old stone.

MISSIONERS AT SINGLETON.

Two priests, who may or may not have served Singleton at an early period, were certainly born here, and hence some notice of them may well precede the list of priests who are known to have had charge of the mission.

Rev. James Gaunt alias Sands, born about 1580, son of William Gaunt, of Great Singleton, who died in 1606, was admitted into Douay College, and placed in Syntax July 26, 1602; matriculated in the university in that year; took the oaths on the Nativity of Our Lady, 1604; was confirmed March 22, 1605; and having completed his philosophy left on Aug. 23, 1605, for the English College at Rome, where he was admitted on the following Oct. 9. There he was ordained sub-deacon and deacon in June and July, and priest July 8, 1607. He returned to Douay from Rome on June 2, 1609, and shortly afterwards was sent to the English mission (Douay Diaries, p. 284; Douay Diaries, C.R.S., ix and x; Foley, Records S.J., vi, 234). In England he was known under the alias of Sands, probably his mother's maiden name. She survived her husband, and as Anne Gaunt, of Much Singleton, widow, administration was granted to her estate in 1616. Where Mr. Gaunt was stationed is not stated, but he died an archdeacon of the Chapter in 1658 (Old Chapter Records MS.).

Rev. Thomas Gaunt alias Sands and Thornburgh, brother of the above, born about 1587, went to Douay College; in 1605 matriculated at the university of Douay; was sent to Rome Aug. 25, 1609, and was admitted into the English College on March 19, 1609-10. He was ordained sub-deacon and deacon in March, priest April 28, 1613, and left the college for England April 6, 1615, with Dr. Thomas Worthington, another Lancashire priest. It is recorded in the Diary that he had spent seven years in philosophy and theology, partly at Rome and partly at Douay, and that he had conducted himself with great edification to all (Foley, Records S.J., vi, 255; Douay Diaries, C.R.S., ix, 98). The Sands (or Sandys) and the Thornburgh families were allied, and through this circumstance Mr. Gaunt probably adopted the alias of Thornburgh, under which name he was apprehended and imprisoned in the Clink, whence he was released and exiled April 11, 1630 (Prynne, Popish Royal Favourite, p. 19).

Rev. John Holden, son of Richard Holden, of Chaighley Manor, in Aighton, co. Lancaster, Esq., and brother of the eminent theologian, Dr. Henry Holden, was serving Singleton as previously stated in 1651. He was still on the Lancashire mission in 1675, and subscribed or bequeathed £10 to the Clergy Fund in 1676. His successor at Singleton would appear to have been—

Rev. Thomas Matthews, who took the oath at the English College at Valladolid in 1649, and in due course was ordained priest and came to England in 1655, in which year he baptized at Singleton James Swarbrick, his eventual successor in the mission (Valladolid Diary MS.; Foley, Records S.J., vi, 421). How long he remained is not known, but immediately after his death in Lancashire Mass was said for the repose of his soul by the Rev. Thomas Anderton on March 15, 1706-7 (Anderton's Commemorations MS.). He was succeeded at Singleton by—

Rev. James Swarbrick alias Singleton, son of John Swarbrick, of Great Singleton, yeoman, who died in 1667. He was baptized by Mr. Matthews July 25, 1655, and after studying humanities at St. Omer's College, was sent to the English College at Rome, where he was admitted under the alias of Singleton Oct. 3, 1673, and was ordained priest April 9, 1678. He left the college for Flanders May 15, 1680, and thence came to the Fylde (Foley, Records S.J., vi, 421). He appears as missionary at Great Singleton in 1697, residing with Mr. Richard Gillow. In 1716 Mr. Gillow's house was raided, and Mr. Swarbrick was apprehended and conveyed to Lancaster Castle, where, whilst attending to his Catholic fellow-prisoners, he caught the contagion which prevailed in the over-crowded prison, and died in March, 1716-7, aged 61. He became a member of the Lancashire and Westmorland Clergy Fund soon after his arrival in England in 1680.

During his term, the Rev. James Gaunt, a native of Singleton, was ordained priest, and returned to the mission in the Fylde. He is noticed repeatedly elsewhere as serving Nateby Hall, Dimples Hall, Myerscough, Mowbreck Hall, Thurnham Hall, and finally Salwick Hall, where he died in 1734. The Rev. Nicholas Skelton, of Lancaster, agent for Douay College, notes in his accounts: "June 19, 1738. Rec^d of Mr. [Rev. John] Couban to pray for ye late Mr. James Gaunt, and to be sent to D—y on y^t account, £35.0.0 Apr. 25, 1743. Mr. Jas. Gant, deceased, to Coll: [ege] £40" (Skelton MS.).

Mr. Swarbrick was succeeded at Singleton by his nephew—

Rev. Robert Swarbrick alias Walker, a native of Singleton, noticed under Salwick, p. 151. He apparently came soon after his uncle was carried to prison, and continued to serve the mission till his death, Feb. 23 or 25, 1736-7, aged 61 (C.R.S., xii, 5).

Among the priests born within his mission or sent to Douay College during his term were the Revs. Robert and Thomas Worswick, younger sons of Robert Worswick, Esq., of Todderstaffe Hall, formerly of Great Singleton, who acquired the Todderstaffe estate through his marriage with Elizabeth, only child and heiress of Alexander Butler, Esq., of Todderstaffe Hall, by Dorothy, daughter of Captain Thomas Singleton, of Stayning Hall, slain in the service of Charles I at the first battle of Newbury, Sept. 20, 1643, and sister and coheiress of George Singleton, Esq., of Stayning Hall and Todderstaffe Hall. Their eldest brother, Richard Worswick, was admitted into Douay College Aug. 4, 1725, afterwards studied at some of the universities abroad, and became an eminent physician, and is noticed in the writer's Biographical Dictionary of the English Catholics, vol. v, 597. Robert Worswick, born March 31, 1714, arrived at Douay College with his brother Thomas in Sept., 1729, and both assumed the name of Butler. In the following year they went home with their brother Richard, but all three returned to the college on June 25, 1730. In 1735 he was sent to some other college for a time, but returned for the opening of the scholastic year at Douay on Oct. 1, 1737, having meanwhile received orders, and was appointed to teach poetry. On Oct. 6, 1738, he left the college to pursue his studies at St. Gregory's Seminary at Paris, where, having taken his degree of B.D. at the Sorbonne, he was ordained priest Sept. 19, 1744, and was allowed to return to England in the following December on account of his health. Consequently he did not proceed with the degree of D.D., as intended. Soon after his return to Todderstaffe Hall, where for a short time he served the chapel, as well as that in his brother Alexander's house, Little Poulton Hall, and assisted Mr. John Cooling in the Singleton mission, he was appointed chaplain to the Molyneux family at Mosborough Hall, and thence was transferred to Widnes, in the parish of Farnworth, the seat of the Hawardens, where he remained till he was hurriedly summoned to assist the Rev. Henry Kendal at Manchester in 1752, and probably caught the infectious epidemic that carried off that worthy pastor. Mr. Worswick died in his prime, Aug. 17, 1752, aged 38 (C.R.S., xii, 8). He was hastily interred at the collegiate church of Manchester on the following day, his burial being registered as "Mr. Worswick, a Romish Priest" (Douay Lists MS.; Kirk, Biog. Collns. MS.; Gillow, Brief Historical Account of Catholicity in Manchester and Stockport, 1902; C.R.S., xii, 8). His brother Thomas received the tonsure and four minor orders at Cambrai May 29, 1738; the sub-diaconate June 9, 1739; the diaconate April 2; the priesthood June 11, 1740, and was then appointed a professor. For some years he taught philosophy, but shortly before his death he was appointed professor of theology, and in that office died at Douay Sept. 1, 1748 (C.R.S., xii, 7).

Upon Mr. Robert Swarbrick's death in 1737, his place at Singleton was taken apparently by—

Rev. John Cowling, usually called Cooling, a native of Wrightington or Wigan, whom Bishop Dicconson says was ordained priest at Rome, though his name does not appear in Brother Foley's very imperfect transcript of the college diary. He was here when the chapel was attacked by a fanatical 'No Popery' mob on Guy Fawkes Day, Nov. 5, 1746 or 1747, and, after the property had been taken possession of by the lord of the manor, found a home for himself and chapel in the house of Mr. George Gillow. Thus the mission continued under his pastorate till the death of Mr. Gillow, July 8, 1758, and subsequently in the house of his son and successor, Richard Gillow, till 1765, when Mr. Cooling was transferred to Chester, where he appears in the Bishop of Chester's return to the Government in 1767 with a congregation of 129 Catholics. He died at Chester in April or May, 1768 (Bishop Dicconson's Clergy Lists, MS.; Old Chapter Obituaries, MS. (C.R.S., xii, 12); Clergy Obituary MS.).

During his term a number of boys born in the Singleton mission or baptized by him were sent to the colleges abroad, but many of them were singularly unfortunate. Amongst these were—Ralph Gornall, born Nov. 11, 1755, son of Richard Gornall and his wife, Elizabeth Johnson, of Elswick, who was baptized by Mr. Cooling. He was first sent to Sedgley Park School, in Staffordshire, and thence proceeded to Lisbon, where he was admitted into the English College Feb. 16, 1782; took the college oath May 20, 1784, but unhappily died a most promising ecclesiastical student before he was ordained priest.

Another boy was Thomas Gaunt, probably a brother of the unhappy apostate, the Rev. William Gaunt, whose pension at Douay College, according to the Rev. Nicholas Skelton, was paid by Mr. George Gillow, but he does not seem to have persevered.

Two others, Christopher and Alexander Taylor, were sons of Joseph Taylor and his wife Dorothy, daughter of Robert Worswick, of Todderstaffe Hall, Esq., by Elizabeth, daughter and heiress of Alexander Butler, of Todderstaffe Hall, Esq., younger son of Henry Butler, of Rawcliffe Hall, Esq. They arrived at Douay College July 13, 1740, but Christopher left in poetry July 28, 1744. Alexander, who used the alias of Worswick, left Douay for St. Gregory's Seminary at Paris in rhetoric, June 29, 1744, aged almost twenty. He was ordained priest at Paris Sept. 20, 1749, but left a non-graduate of the university in the following month to be chaplain and secretary to Bishop Stonor. In 1758 he was at Oscott, possibly having gone there upon the death of Rev. James Layfield in 1756. From Aug., 1762, till March, 1775, he was at Wolverhampton, where his sermons were much admired. About this time he was accused of using raisin wine at the altar instead of wine from the grape. He defended himself by saying that he was no judge of wine, and therefore depended upon the judgment of others, and presumed that what was provided for the altar was such as it should be. It was thought, however, to be raisin wine, and hence Bishop Hornyold suspended him, but offered to restore his faculties in some other mission. Mr. Taylor replied that if he were guilty he ought not to be employed anywhere, but if innocent he ought to remain where he was. Mr. Taylor, therefore, left the chapel-house, and took lodgings in the town. No persuasion could induce him to enter the chapel in Wolverhampton, but as long as Mr. Kendall lived, who was his director, he regularly attended the chapel at Sedgley Park. Soon after Mr. Kendall's death, Mr. Taylor withdrew to Moseley, near Birmingham, where he ceased to attend Mass, but never, it is said, went to protestant service. Eventually he "dropt down dead," says Bishop Milner, "as he was stepping into a stage coach." Many people believed he had been badly treated, and after Bishop Hornyold's death, Bishop Talbot tried without success to meet Mr. Taylor.

Another priest sent by Mr. Cooling to Douay was the Rev. Robert Swarbrick, born Jan. 8, 1747, stilo novo, son of John Swarbrick, of Weeton, and his wife, Mary Roe, who arrived at the college Nov. 2, 1762. Whilst in divinity he had twice to leave the college on account of indifferent health, but returned and was ordained priest in 1774, being retained at the college as a professor. On June 30, 1777, he was sent to St. Omer's College to teach, but eventually was appointed to succeed the Rev. John White upon his death at Euxton Hall, the seat of the Andertons, Feb. 7, 1778. Hitherto the chaplains had lived in the hall, but Mr. Swarbrick erected an independent priest's house, where he resided till his death in May, 1815, aged 69 (Douay Lists, MS.; Douay Diaries, p. 74; C.R.S., xii, 127).

Mr. Cooling was succeeded at Singleton by—

Rev. Peter Wareing, born June 3, 1712, son of John Wareing, of Poulton, arrived at Douay College Aug. 7, 1727, being probably sent by Mr. Swarbrick, and passing through the schools to the end of his second year's philosophy, entered theology as a convictor Oct. 1, 1736 (Douay Lists, MS.), but on June 10, 1737, took the oath of the alumni, being described as "bonae indolis et bonae spei" (Douay Diaries, p. 63). He received minor orders at Cambrai with Thomas Worswick alias Butler, of Todderstaffe Hall, and others on May 29, 1738, the subdiaconate Dec. 12, 1739, the diaconate April 2, and the priesthood April 16, 1740, all at Tournai, and on the following Aug. 2, set out from the college for the English mission in company with the Rev. John Bamber, also a native of the Foreland of the Fylde (Douay Lists, MS.).

Where he was placed is uncertain. A statement has been made that he served Park Hall and Chester after Singleton (Kirk, Biog., p. 262), but this must be incorrect. Park Hall in Charnock Richard was the property of the Hoghton-Daltons, of Thurnham Hall, but it was at this time a Benedictine chaplaincy. He might have served Park Hall in Quernmore, a former property of Sir Thomas Preston, Bart., out of whose estate a sum of £10 per annum was allowed for the use of the priests serving there, of which Robert Dalton, of Thurnham Hall, Esq., was the trustee, but the priest at this time generally resided at Dolphin Lee in Bulk, a property of the Daltons.

If he was at Chester he probably exchanged missions with Mr. Cooling, and came to Singleton in 1765. Here he was reported to be in the Bishop of Chester's return in 1767, being credited with a congregation of 135, inclusive of that under Father Brown, S.J., at Maynes Hall, an estimate much under the mark. In 1770 he became a renegade, having previously been suspended by his bishop. He consorted with the fire-brand, Charles Buck, vicar of Kirkham, and informed against the Rev. John Debord alias Davison, of Salwick Hall, and the Rev. John Jones, of Mowbreck Hall, who had to seek refuge in flight. The apostate also persecuted Fr. John Talbot alias Mansell, S.J., of Lytham Hall, Fr. Thomas Cuerden, S.J., of Westby Hall, and another local priest. Another renegade priest, Blakey or Blackoe, "herded" with Buck, and gave him assistance in his bigoted persecution (Downside Review, xiv, 109). They all seem to have come to a speedy end. Buck died on April 16, 1771, and the wretched apostate Wareing on Oct. 15, 1773, somewhere in Lancashire, and still under suspension (Old Chapter and Clergy Obituaries, MSS.).

Until the appointment of another priest to Singleton, the Rev. Francis Adam Cliffe, of Great Eccleston (see p. 53), for a brief period attended to the requirements of the mission, to which in Oct., 1769, a new priest was sent in the person of—

Rev. Arthur Story (vide C.R.S., iv, 323-4), son of Mr. William Story, of Cartington Hall, near Rothbury, Northumberland, and his wife Anne. After studying three years at the Rev. Simon George Bordley's school at Aughton, Arthur Story was sent to Douay College, where he arrived Oct. 12, 1757. At the end of rhetoric in July, 1762, he left the college and proceeded to St. Gregory's Seminary at Paris, where he passed through his course of divinity under the eminent theologian, the Abbé Plunkett, subsequently vicar-general of Paris. On March 12, 1764, he took the seminary oath, and on Sept. 19, 1767, he was ordained priest by Christopher de Beaumont, Archbishop of Paris. For two years he was chaplain to the English Augustinian nuns at the Fossé Rue S. Victor, and having taken his B.D. at the Sorbonne prepared himself for his license, but in consequence of his bad state of health it was considered necessary that he should return to his native air, so he came over to England in Oct., 1769, and was given charge of Singleton. Here he remained for about two years, when he was appointed chaplain to William Salvin, of Croxdale Hall, co. Durham, Esq., and took up his residence in the priest's house at Sunderland Bridge, Aug. 9, 1771.

It was not long before he established a high-class boarding-school at Tudhoe, over which he presided for twenty-seven years. When the Douay students were released from prison in 1795, and were allowed to come over to England, Mr. Story gave up Tudhoe to those who belonged to the Northern Vicariate, and eventually retired, on Nov. 27, 1808, to Robert Hall, near Lancaster, whence he served the mission at Hornby. In 1811 he was transferred to Garstang, under which the remainder of his career appears.

During his term was born on Nov. 23, 1769, the Rev. Thomas Gillow, fourth son of Richard Gillow, of Singleton, by Isabel, only daughter of John Brewer, of Fishwick, gent., and sister and heiress of Henry Brewer, of Moor House, Newton-cum-Scales, gent., Fr. John Brewer, S.J., who died at Shepton Mallet, co. Somerset, Sept. 1, 1797, aged 65, and Fr. Thomas Brewer, S.J., who died at Bristol, April 18, 1787, aged 44. Some of the family resided at Ribbleton Lodge, and of this branch were the eminent Benedictines of the name. He left home on May 9, 1784, for Douay College, where he arrived on the 22nd, and was placed by his cousin, the Rev. John Gillow, the prefect of studies, in third-class rudiments. Thus he continued his scholastic course till the collegians were ordered by the French revolutionists to quit the college, but were allowed to retire to their country-house at Esquerchin, a village about three miles from Douay, on Aug. 9, 1793. There they found themselves prisoners, under the strictest surveillance. On Oct. 1st the scholastic year commenced, and Thomas Gillow entered upon his first year's theology, but on the 12th the collegians were ordered to return to Douay, and thence he succeeded in eluding the sentinels at the city gates, hurried back to Esquerchin to warn the students who had to follow the first batch, and, in company with Thomas Penswick, subsequently vicar-apostolic of the Northern Vicariate, escaped to the sea-coast and sailed across the channel two days later. He then returned to his father's house at Singleton, but on Dec. 8 went to Old Hall Green, Herts., where some few of the Douay refugees had assembled. Thence he withdrew to Crook Hall, Durham, where he arrived Dec. 6, 1794, on the 19th took the college oath, on April 1, 1797, was ordained priest, and was retained in the college as a professor till Aug. 21 following, when he was appointed to the chaplaincy at Callaly Castle, Northumberland, the seat of the Claverings. There he laboured with great success, and established a school in the adjoining village of Whittingham, where subsequently his grand-nephew, the Rev. William Gillow, removed the mission. In 1817 he was selected by Propaganda to preside as bishop over the vicariate of the West Indies, and his appointment with the title of Bishop of Hypsopolis in partibus, was gazetted. In April, 1818, his royal highness, the Prince Regent, signified his approval, and Mr. Gillow was formally notified of the decision of the Holy See. From motives of health, however, he declined the episcopate, and continued to fill the chaplaincy at Callaly till June 11, 1821, when he was appointed to take charge of the new mission at North Shields, and three days later he preached at the opening of the chapel, which had been erected by his cousin, the Rev. James Worswick, of Newcastle-upon-Tyne, fifth son of Thomas Worswick, Esq., and his wife Alice, daughter of Robert Gillow, of Lancaster, Esq. When Bishop Smith applied for a coadjutor in the Northern Vicariate in 1823, Mr. Gillow, Dr. John Lingard, and Thomas Penswick were proposed to Propaganda by his lordship, and as incidentally mentioned, Mr. Penswick was elected. In 1842 his nephew, the Rev. Richard Gillow, noticed later, was appointed to assist him, but Canon Gillow came to a premature end in 1853. Thus he continued till his death at North Shields, March 19, 1857, aged 87. When he first went to that mission there was but a handful of Catholics, but during his ministration he received nearly one thousand converts into the Church. Through his exertions a chapel and mission was opened at South Shields, and shortly before his death he had set on foot a good work at Howdon. He erected the presbytery and large schools at North Shields in great measure out of his private fortune. As a preacher he was considered to have no equal in the north, and several of his sermons were published, as well as his work on "Catholic Principles of Allegiance" during the struggle for Emancipation. His memoir in greater detail will be found in the writer's Biographical Dictionary of the English Catholics, ii, 488-93.

Mr. Story was succeeded at Singleton by—

Rev. William Husband, who arrived in 1771, shortly after the new chapel had been opened, and continued until 1775, when he was transferred to Salwick Hall, under which (p. 152) details of his career appear. His successor was—

Rev. Joseph Orrell—born Oct. 24, 1747, son of James Orrell, of Blackbrook House in Parr, Esq., and his wife, Hannah Bayle (Douay Diaries, p. 76). He followed his brother, the Rev. John Orrell, to Douay, where he arrived May 3, 1761, and having finished logic left on Sept. 15, 1769, for St. Gregory's Seminary at Paris, with the intention of taking degrees at the Sorbonne. However, after a trial, it was considered that he had not sufficient capacity to take the degree of D.D., and so he returned to Douay College on Aug. 27, 1771, to commence his course of theology. Owing to a break-down in his health he left the college on April 24, 1773, in sub-deacon's orders, was ordained priest elsewhere, was appointed to succeed Mr. Husband at Singleton, and continued to serve it until the abandonment of the chapel upon the opening of the new one at The Breck in Oct., 1814. After Mr. Platt's arrival in the following December, Mr. Orrell withdrew to Blackbrook House to reside with his family and fulfil the duties of the chaplaincy. From the death of his brother, the Rev. John Orrell, Jan. 28, 1810, aged 65, who had succeeded the Rev. Philip Butler upon his death at Blackbrook, Dec. 9, 1777, aged 52, the chaplaincy at Blackbrook had nominally remained vacant until Mr. Joseph Orrell could permanently take possession. Meanwhile he went over occasionally from Singleton to serve it, the Rev. Marmaduke Wilson doing the same from Appleton, till the Rev. Ralph Platt went to reside at Blackbrook in Jan., 1812, and remained till Dec., 1814, when Mr. Orrell retired from the Singleton and Poulton mission, and spent the remainder of his career at Blackbrook till his death March 25, 1820, aged 72.

During Mr. Orrell's ministration at Singleton, the vicar-apostolic of the Northern Vicariate, Bishop Matthew Gibson, made his visitation, and on Sept. 19, 1784, and again three days later, gave confirmation as previously related, Mr. Orrell returning his communicants at 215. During his ministration at Singleton he baptized the following priests:—

The Very Rev. Richard Dean Gillow, the Rev. Henry Gillow, and Canon Richard Gillow. The first Richard, born Feb. 21, 1794, was eldest son of Mr. John Gillow, second son of Mr. Richard Gillow, of Singleton. In due course he was sent to Ushaw College, where he was ordained priest Dec. 21, 1821, and was appointed to the mission of Scarborough, with the additional charge of that at Ugthorpe. Upon the death of the Rev. Robert Blacow at Fernyhalgh, Oct. 18, 1823, aged 56, Mr. Gillow returned to Lancashire, and was appointed to the charge of that most interesting mission. Here he restored the ancient but abandoned priest's-house at Lady Well, improved the well itself, built schools, and made other important alterations to the new chapel and house erected in 1793 by the Rev. Anthony Lund some little distance from the site of the original fourteenth or fifteenth century chantry-chapel, which had remained in Catholic hands after its seizure by the commissioners in the reign of Edward VI. During the days of persecution the priests at Fernyhalgh were generally deans of Amounderness, and in due course Mr. Gillow succeeded to the modern representative of the office. Thus he continued till his death at Fernyhalgh, Aug. 16, 1864, aged 70.

His brother, the Rev. Henry Gillow, born Oct. 12, 1795, was also baptized at Singleton by Mr. Orrell. He was sent with Richard to Ushaw, where they both arrived Aug. 6, 1812, and were ordained on the same day in 1821. Immediately afterwards, Henry proceeded to Manchester, where he was given charge of St. Mary's in Mulberry Street, and there continued till his death of fever, a martyr to his sacred calling, Feb. 25, 1837, aged 41 (C.R.S., xii, 220).

Their cousin Richard, born May 29, 1811, son of William Gillow, of Singleton, Esq., third son of Richard Gillow, went about 1827 to Ushaw, where he passed through his entire course of studies with great distinction, and received the diaconate, but was ordained priest at Stonyhurst College in 1837. He went to Edgeley, Stockport, co. Cheshire, as assistant to the Rev. Thomas Newsham, in 1839, and there he remained till 1842, when, in consequence of the advanced age and increasing infirmities of his uncle, the Rev. Thomas Gillow, he went to assist him in the mission at North Shields. His exertions were rewarded with great success, not only in Shields, but also at Tynemouth, and at South Shields, Durham, where a mission was opened in 1849. In the year following the restoration of the hierarchy, Mr. Gillow was raised to the dignity of a canon of the new chapter of Hexham. His assiduous attention to the cholera victims, on two visitations of that epidemic to the banks of the Tyne, gained him the lasting gratitude of all classes of people. At length, after a brief illness of rather more than a week, Canon Gillow was prematurely carried off on Nov. 18, 1853, aged 42. He was an indefatigable missionary, an able theologian, and a musical composer of no ordinary merit. He left a sum of £1,000 towards the establishment of a new mission, which he had contemplated founding at Gateshead. Several of Canon Gillow's sermons and lectures found their way into print, as did some of his choir compositions, which were much admired. He was also an anonymous contributor to the Catholic Magazine and similar periodicals of his day. His sister Mary, born and baptised at Singleton, Oct. 13, 1813, sponsors Rev. Richard Gillow and Miss Walker, was professed under the religious name of Mary of All Saints, Feb. 18, 1864, and died at the convent of the Good Shepherd, East Finchley, March 18, 1891, aged 77.

Rev. Henry Walmsley, son of Mr. Thomas Walmsley, of Flakefleet in Thornton, by his first wife, was baptised by Mr. Orrell, and in due course went to Ushaw College, where he was ordained priest. His first appointment was Rochdale, in 1830, whence he served Bury every other Sunday. In July, 1834, he left Rochdale for St. Anne's, Leeds, where he died of typhus fever May 30, 1847, a martyr to the terrible epidemic of that year. His brother, the Very Rev. John Canon Walmsley, V.G., born in 1812, and baptised at Singleton, was sent to Ushaw in 1826, where he was ordained priest Jan. 6, 1841. His first appointment was to take the place of Rev. John Maddocks at St. Nicholas', Copperas Hill, Liverpool, of which church he became rector in 1848, and remained till 1849. The following year he became chaplain to the Sisters of Mercy in Mount Vernon Street, in which convent his half-sister was a nun. He succeeded Provost Thomas Cookson as V.G. in October, 1863, and so continued till his death Nov. 17, 1866, aged 56.

Upon Mr. Orrell's departure at the end of 1814, the chapel at Singleton was closed until the property was purchased in 1831, after which the succession of priests was as follows :—

Rev. Edward Kenyon, a native of Lancashire, arrived at Douay College with Robert Blacow and James Worswick on Oct. 13, 1781, took the oath in 1785, was appointed to teach the school of grammar May 30, 1790, and shortly afterwards was ordained priest. On Oct. 1 of the same year he undertook to teach syntax, and poetry from Oct. 1, 1791, to March 15, 1792, and left for the English mission eleven days later (Douay Lists, MS.). At first he was appointed assistant to the Rev. Rowland Broomhead at St. Chad's in Rook Street, Manchester; but upon the opening of St. Mary's in Mulberry Street, Nov. 30, 1794, he was appointed the first rector, and remained there till Mr. John Francis Butler, of Pleasington Hall, near Blackburn, who had formed a strong attachment to him at Douay College, invited him to take charge of the new chapel called Pleasington Priory, which he had commenced to erect at a cost of £20,000 in 1816. It was opened with much solemnity on Aug. 24, 1819, and Mr. Kenyon preached on the occasion, as he had done at the laying of the foundation-stone. Mr. Kenyon left Pleasington in 1828, and went to assist the Rev. James Sharples, subsequently bishop, at St. Alban's, Blackburn. He seems to have retired for a time on account of failing health, but when the ancient mission at Singleton was reopened he was given the charge, and remained from August, 1831, till March 30, 1834, when he was seized with the palsy, and retired to Liverpool. There he died at an advanced age, Oct. 13, 1837. A fuller account of him and his works will be found in the writer's Biog. Dict. of the English Catholics, vol. iv, 13–16. He was succeeded at Singleton by—

Rev. James Blundell, born Aug. 21, 1768, son of James Blundell, of Scarisbrick, yeoman, and his wife, Anne Gill, who, after receiving an elementary education at the Rev. Simon George Bordley's school at Newhouse in Aughton, was sent to the English College at Lisbon, where he was admitted Oct. 10, 1787. There he was ordained priest, and soon after his return to England was entrusted towards the close of 1799 with the charge of the new mission at Stockport. In 1801 he purchased a site at Edgeley for a chapel and presbytery, and in 1802 the foundation-stone of the new chapel was laid by the Rev. Richard Thompson, the vicar-general, and it was opened on the festival of SS. Philip and James, to whom it was dedicated May 1, 1803. At this period, and down to the appointment in 1821 of the Rev. John Hall, subsequently D.D., Mr. Blundell had the additional charge of the old Sutton or Macclesfield mission. In 1825 he withdrew from Edgeley, and went somewhere else, but in 1827 he was at Kilvington, Thirsk, till on July 20, 1834, he came to Singleton, and continued to serve the mission till his death Sept. 7, 1839, aged 71. A tablet was put up at Edgeley as a memorial of his foundation of that chapel, which was pulled down and replaced by the present church dedicated to Our Lady and the Apostles in 1904. His successor was—

Rev. James Pemberton, a native of Lancashire, ordained at Ushaw, who came to assist Mr. Blundell Dec. 29, 1835, succeeded him, and remained till June 24, 1842. Subsequently, in 1845, he went to St. Winefred's, Neston, Cheshire, a mission established by the Rev. Richard Gillow, of Puddington, in 1843; was created a canon of Shrewsbury, removed to Bank House Farm, Shrewsbury, in 1876; retired in 1880, and died in Shrewsbury Jan. 26, 1881. He was succeeded at Singleton by—

Rev. Roger Glassbrook, who came Nov. 16, 1842. He was one of the sons of Edward Glassbrook, a canal shipwright of Wigan, and was brother to the Rev. William Glassbrook, who died at Bolton-le-Moors April 30, 1833, and Dom Edward Anselm Glassbrook, O.S.B., born Feb. 12, 1806, who died June 12, 1883, aged 77. Roger was educated at Ushaw, where he was ordained priest Dec. 17, 1836, and was placed at Esh Laude, Durham, 1837-40; St. Patrick's, Manchester, 1840-1; Bollington, Cheshire, 1841-2, and then came to Singleton. He left in Sept., 1844, and went to Stydd Lodge, Ribchester, of which ancient mission he retained charge till March, 1861, and died there Sept. 10, 1862. His successor at Singleton was—

Rev. Edmund Carter, a Valladolid priest, who came Nov. 17, 1844, and remained till June 6, 1846. He then went to Fleetwood, and in 1848 to the old chapel in Pilkington Street, Bolton-le-Moors, became a canon of Salford, and passed the remainder of his career at Bolton. His successor at Singleton—

Rev. James Carr, arrived April 19, 1846. He was the eldest son of Mr. John Carr, of Holme Slack, Preston, by Hannah, daughter of Richard Clayton, of Cadaley in Fulwood, and sister and coheirress of John Clayton, of the same. He was sent to Stonyhurst College, where he was admitted into the Society of Jesus about 1812, and in due course was ordained priest. In August, 1822, he succeeded Fr. John Brice Bridge, S.J., at Norwich, and in 1826 he was transferred to Worcester. In the summer of the following year he quitted the Society, but was readmitted in Dec., 1829, and in March, 1832, became chaplain to Lord Arundell at Wardour Castle. There he remained until the following June, when he left Wardour through some difference with his superiors, and finally seceded from the Society. After serving various secular missions he was appointed to Singleton as above, but only remained till Feb. 15, 1847. For some time he lived in retirement at Preston, but ultimately accepted the charge of the mission at Runcorn, in Cheshire, where he died Feb. 14, 1858, aged 63.

After Mr. Carr's retirement, Singleton had no permanently resident priest, and was dependent on occasional service. In the early part of 1850 Bishop James Sharples took up his residence here, but died suddenly on his way home from Great Eccleston on the following Aug. 11. His memoir appears under Lea (p. 157). After his death there was another interval before a regular missionary was appointed to Singleton in the person of—

Rev. John Anderton, who arrived April 13, 1851. He has been noticed under Lea (p. 157). He is said to have been stationed at Congleton, in Cheshire, from 1853-5, but the Singleton records profess that he served the mission till April 12, 1856, when failing health necessitated a cessation of work, and, dying Aug. 8, 1857, aged 68, he was interred at The Willows, Kirkham. Mr. Anderton was the last resident priest at Singleton. The chapel was occasionally served by priests from elsewhere for some little time longer; but, as already stated, the new lord of the manor, having gradually got rid of all his Catholic tenants, purchased the chapel and property from Bishop Goss in 1860, and thus the mission at Singleton was extinguished after surviving the Elizabethan Reformation for just three hundred years.

Meanwhile, before proceeding with its successor in the adjoining township of Poulton, some notice must be taken of those residences which secretly provided places of worship for Catholics during the bitter times of persecution.

MAYNES HALL.

This ancient mansion, standing in a pleasant and well-wooded situation close to the banks of the river Wyre, is of very considerable interest. In the early part of the last century it formed three sides of a quadrangle, the fourth, to the south, being closed by railings, with rather imposing gates in the centre hung on substantial brick and stone posts surmounted by large stone globes. The west wing, containing a banqueting hall with a huge open chimney, with walls wainscoted in fluted oak of the period of Henry VIII, as well as the kitchen and butteries, was pulled down in the first quarter of the nineteenth century. Various hiding-places were discovered during the demolition, in which were deposited certain religious objects, books, and MSS., one of which is said to have belonged to, or been written by, Cardinal Allen, who is known to have frequented The Maynes during his three years' stay in England between 1562 and 1565. The east wing was erected, probably in place of an older building, for the purposes of a semi-public chapel during the reign of the Catholic King James II, the initials T[homas and] M[argaret] H[esketh] and the date, 1686, being formed in brick running along the side facing the quadrangle. This chapel was approached by stone steps from the stable yard side, but possibly there was a door communicating with the house. "Up-steps" was the term usually applied to Catholic chapels during the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries. Underneath was stable accommodation. The outside steps are now removed, but they were there when the writer endeavoured to take the place in 1872, as well as the altar-piece, a large painting of Our Lady and Child, and various other fittings, including the altar-rails—all in a state of decay and stored at one end of the chapel, which was then used as a hay-loft. The centre portion of the house at that period showed signs of antiquity, but had been much altered, and from time to time modernised. The kitchen still contained an ancient range with the turnspit wheel for the dog to work in perfect order, and some few articles of furniture remained from the time of Charles Fitzherbert-Brockholes' residence at the hall.

Only occasional references to the chaplains who served the domestic chapel of the Heskeths are preserved, though there can be little doubt that so long as they resided at Maynes the hall was never without a priest. Fr. John Berington alias Harper, S.J., was here in 1701 if not earlier. His name was returned by the constable of Little Singleton as a "Popish priest" residing in that township in Oct., 1716, and he was convicted at the Lancaster Sessions Jan. 15, 1716-7. In 1721 he removed to Westby Hall, under the account of which his career will be found (p. 4). The next chaplain discovered was "Mr. Brown, Popish priest" in Singleton, appearing in the return of the Bishop of Chester in 1767. He was evidently a Jesuit, as "Peter Waring, secular priest," appears in the same return under Singleton. These two are the only names discerned through the mists of time. Another stronghold of the Faith in the Foreland of the Fylde during the darkest age was—

ROSSALL GRANGE.

Rossall, originally Rushall, a manor in the parish of Poulton-le-Fylde, was granted in 1216 by King John to the Abbot of Dieu-la-Crosse, or Dieulacres, in Staffordshire, and in 1232-5 Roger, son of Alan de Singleton, and others, gave all their lands in Roshall to the abbey. William Allen was abbot of Dieulacres in the time of Henry VIII, and tradition says that he granted a lease of Rossall to his nephew John Allen, great-grandfather of the eminent cardinal, William Allen, to whom, for the preservation of the priesthood, Catholicity in England is so much indebted. His sister-in-law, Elizabeth, widow of George Allen, was outlawed, and her estate forfeited to Queen Elizabeth in 1583, on account of her staunch adherence to the ancient Faith and her near relationship to the cardinal—the man whom her majesty regarded with such hatred. The Grange at this period was a centre of refuge for the numerous Fylde missionaries whom the founder of Douay College in 1568 had sent over. In a letter from Allen to Fr. Agazzari, dated March 14, 1583, he states that three or four Masses were often said on the same day at Rossall, and twelve on George Allen's anniversary; and on Sept. 12 in the same year, writing to the Lord Protector of Rheims, in reference to the increasing requirements of missionaries, he states: "Another [priest] sent me word that he alone had caused thirty chalices to be made this year" (Knox, Records of Catholics, i, lxi, and lxxi). After the death of Sir Peter Hesketh-Fleetwood, who erected the town of Fleetwood on the Rossall estate, his residence, Rossall Grange, was acquired for the present protestant College.

TODDERSTAFFE HALL, IN HARDHORN-WITH-NEWTON, another ancient mansion in the parish of Poulton, and now part of the Miller estate, also belonged to the Allens, and afterwards to the Singletons of Stayning Hall, from whom it passed through the marriage of an heiress to the Butlers, and in like manner to the Worswicks of Singleton, and so continued in Catholic hands till the middle of the eighteenth century, the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass being frequently offered up in its domestic chapel.

BURN HALL, IN THORNTON, in the parish of Poulton, the seat of the Westbys, has been treated under Mowbreck (p. 220), and in the same parish, originally the seat of the Carletons, passed with an heiress to the Sherburnes of Stonyhurst, and was generally occupied by their stewards or Catholic farmers who sheltered an altar for the use of the itinerant missionary.

THE MOOR, IN CARLETON, the seat of the staunch Catholic family of Bamber, of which the martyred priest, Edward Bamber, was a member (vide p. 313), continued as a missionary station till the end of the seventeenth century.

STAYNING HALL,

in Hardhorn-with-Newton, in the parish of Poulton, where a junior branch of the Singletons of Singleton settled early in the reign of Henry VII, generally had its resident chaplain till the family ended with co-heiresses towards the close of the seventeenth century. The Singletons were distinguished for their recusancy and their loyalty to the Stuarts during the time of the civil wars, and their sufferings on both accounts were very grievous. They were allied to the best of the old Lancashire Catholic families. A fund for the support of the priest was established by the family in 1676, during the chaplaincy of the Rev. Thurstan Anderton, of the Clayton Hall family. When the last male heir, Mr. George Singleton, died in 1687, he bequeathed legacies to the Rev. John Bayne alias Kendal, who was probably serving Stayning at the time, the Rev. James Swarbrick alias Singleton, the priest at Great Singleton, and the Rev. Roger Anderton, of Birchley Hall. The first removed to Cottam about 1703 (vide p. 108), and was probably the last resident priest at Stayning.

LAYTON HALL,

in the parish of Bispham, acquired by the Rigbys of Burgh Hall, near Chorley, in the reign of Elizabeth, became an occasional missionary station from the early part of the eighteenth century. And, lastly—in the same parish, now a part of Blackpool, is said to have been erected as a shooting-seat, but really as a rendezvous for Jacobites and recusants, by Edward Tyldesley, of Morleys Hall and Myerscough Lodge, son of Sir Thomas Tyldesley, the knight sans peur sans reproche. It has been stated that the so-called Pretender was secreted here for some time, but this is a mistake. It seems fairly probable that James II was expected at the hall, and that some preparations were made for his majesty's accommodation. The house was originally a three-gabled building, with a small tower at one side. The walls were built of sea-shore cobble stones, and were of great thickness. There long remained a degree of ornamentation, however, suggestive of the original superiority of the structure. The house was provided with numerous hiding-places and other means of escape, similar to those constructed for the use of priests in times of persecution, and one of them was known as the "King's cupboard." Some of these were seen by the writer's mother early in the last century, but had disappeared when he took sketches of the place—which meanwhile had been turned into an inn—in 1871. Over the main entrance was inscribed the motto, Seris factura nepotibus, which Edward Tyldesley anticipated would be his own, as his name was down on the list of "Knights of the Royal Oak" which Charles II at one time proposed to create as a means of rewarding the faithful supporters of the Royal Family. Over a gateway on the south side, still existing in 1871, a stone bore a roughly-chiselled representation of a pelican feeding her young, with the inscription running round the figure, Tantum Valet Amor Regis et Patriae. This was the emblem and inscription on the Chevalier de St. George's standard, made of green taffety with a buff silk fringe, at the battle of Preston in 1715 (Gillow, Tyldesley Diary; Fishwick, Hist. of Bispham; Thornber, Hist. of Blackpool).

The Jacobite squire, Thomas Tyldesley, son of Edward, frequently alludes to Fox Hall in his diary, and to his "Coz. W. W.," who was his confessor. The priest referred to was the Rev. William Winckley, baptized Sept. 6, 1677, son of William Winckley, of Banister Hall, co. Lancaster, Esq., who received sacerdotal orders at the English College at Rome March 22, 1704. He left the college for the English mission April 15, 1706, and in 1712 served Banister Hall, though he continually attended to the wants of the Catholics about Fox Hall, where it is probable that he had previously resided. On Jan. 15, 1716-7, he was convicted at the Lancaster Sessions, and, as his brother Edward's estate was forfeited after the Rising of 1715, he appears to have removed from Banister Hall to Barbles Moor, Ulnes Walton, the seat of his relatives the Gradells. He was rural dean of Leyland Hundred at the time of his death at Barbles Moor in 1741, and was interred in the private burial ground attached to the mansion. His will is dated Nov. 1, 1740. He established funds at Douay College, now at Ushaw, and also left £20 to the Lancashire and Westmorland Clergy Fund (Foley, Records S.J., vi, 446; Gillow, Tyldesley Diary, pp. 26, 31, 36, 99; Kirk, Biog., pp. 259-61).

After this brief outline of the chief places in the Foreland of the Fylde where domestic chapels are known to have existed, the history of the successor of the Singleton mission may be related as under.

POULTON.

As previously stated a site at The Breck in Little Poulton was presented by Mr. William Fitzherbert-Brockholes when the lease of the chapel at Singleton terminated, and the bricks for the new chapel were made upon the ground. All this was strongly opposed by those of the congregation resident in Singleton, who wished to retain the chapel in the township. In the autumn of 1813, the self-appointed trustees, consisting of a few leading Catholics about Poulton, set to work with the erection, after obtaining the approbation of Bishop Smith, coadjutor to Bishop Gibson, V.A.-N.D., both of whom were at the time staying at Cloughton Hall for the purpose of administering confirmation. By the autumn of 1814 the chapel and house attached were completed. On Oct. 18 of the same year the chapel was solemnly blessed under the dedication of St. John the Apostle, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Thomas Irving alias Sherburne, of Kirkham. The Rev. Ralph Platt, the first incumbent appointed, came from Blackbrook House, the seat of the Orrells, on Dec. 3, and was replaced by Mr. Joseph Orrell from Singleton, who meanwhile had served the new chapel at The Breck. The only consideration that Mr. Brockholes made was that he or his legal representatives when resident at Maynes Hall should have the use for ever of the two front benches or pews situated on the north side of the gallery of the new chapel, and also of the two benches directly behind them. It is noteworthy that at this period, and for a considerable time, the front seats in the galleries of Catholic chapels were generally reserved for the leading members of the congregations. The obligations for donations or bequests attached to the new chapel about 1837 were Masses to be said for the repose of the souls of—William Snape, of Blackpool, £20; Thomas Adamson, of Little Poulton, £20; Hugh Snape, of Ballam in Westby, £100 without obligation, which was used to repay Thomas Walmsley, of Flakefleet in Thornton, of a sum of £100 advanced by him to the Poulton mission. The record of the priests at Poulton is as follows:—

Rev. Ralph Platt, who commenced the registers on Dec. 18, 1814, shortly after his arrival. He came from Blackbrook House, where he had acted as locum tenens for the Rev. Joseph Orrell, of Singleton, from Jan., 1812, till Dec., 1814, thus enabling Mr. Orrell to take full possession of his family's ancient chaplaincy. Mr. Platt, during the Rev. Henry Parkinson's illness, practically took charge of Great Eccleston in 1830, and hence was given in that year an assistant at Poulton in the person of the Rev. Richard M. Brown, who succeeded him when he removed to Great Eccleston in the following year. Further details of Mr. Platt's career will be found under Great Eccleston, p. 54. The Rev. James Platt, whose name appears in the register in 1820 and 1828, went to Crook Hall with his brother Ralph in 1801, served Bishop Thornton, co. York, from 1813-57, and at the time of his death was a canon. The Rev. John Ball, of Houghton, subsequently of Doncaster, whose name also appears in the register in September, 1827, was of the Dolphin Lee family. He died at Dr. Goldie's house at York, where he had gone in the previous April for medical aid, July 6, 1847, aged 46. Mr. Platt was succeeded at Poulton by his assistant—

Rev. Richard Melchiades Brown, born Dec. 10, 1806, son of Richard Brown, of London, the well-known Catholic publisher, and his wife Jane, daughter of John Hemsworth, of Strokestown, co. Roscommon, Esq. His father was the eldest son of William Brown, of Clifton, co. Lancaster, yeoman, by Helen, daughter of Richard Gradwell, of the same, and aunt to Bishop Robert Gradwell. His father's younger brother, George Hilary, became the first Bishop of Liverpool. From the school at Scholes, near Prescot, Richard Melchiades was sent to Ushaw, whence he proceeded to the English College at Rome, and was ordained priest at St. John's Lateran by the Patriarch of Constantinople on March 27, 1830, and upon returning to England in that year was placed at Poulton as assistant to Mr. Platt, whom he succeeded as rector in 1831. About the close of 1833 he was transferred to Leeds, thence in the same year to Kilvington, to Whitby in 1835, and to Dukinfield in 1836. Whilst at Dukinfield he erected the church, presbytery, and schools at Stalybridge. In August, 1840, when his uncle George was consecrated bishop, he took charge of his mission at Lancaster, and became rector in Oct., 1841. Soon after the restoration of the hierarchy in 1850 he was made a canon of Liverpool, but resigned the dignity after holding it from 1852 to 1854. He was from its formation until his death rural dean of the Lancaster and Furness districts. In 1857 he commenced the erection of the fine church of St. Peter's at Lancaster, which was consecrated in 1859. He also built the presbytery and schools. There Dean Brown passed the remainder of his active life, and died Dec. 31, 1868, aged 62. For a short time after his departure, Poulton was temporarily served by—

Rev. William Knight, born Dec. 22, 1808, son of William Knight, of Houghton Lane, Walton-le-dale, who was admitted into the English College at Lisbon Dec. 21, 1822, and after ordination came to England in May, 1833, temporarily served at Weld Bank, near Chorley, and thence came to Poulton towards the close of that year. Within a few weeks he was given charge of the new mission at Hartlepool, co. Durham, where he arrived Jan. 18, 1834, and spent the remainder of his life. He was made a member of the Hexham chapter in 1852, and died at Hartlepool March 4, 1874, aged 65. He was a composer of sacred music, some of which was published in 1842. He was followed at Poulton by—

Rev. Henry Newsham, born Sept. 25, 1806, son of Thomas Newsham, of Westby-cum-Plumpton, yeoman, who after his ordination at Ushaw served Barton-on-Irwell, 1830-3; Leeds, 1833, till he came to Poulton about Feb., 1834. He only stayed a few months, leaving in June, and subsequently served at Penrith, assisted his uncle the Rev. Matthew Newsham at Houghton Hall, co. York, 1836-8; Hedon, near Hull, 1840-4; St. Mary's, Bradford, 1844-5; Brooms, Durham, 1845-6; Ashton-le-Willows, St. Anthony's, Liverpool, and finally returned to Ashton till his retirement in 1873 from missionary duty to Walton-on-the-Hill, where he died Dec. 4, 1874, aged 68. His successor at Poulton was—

Rev. Philip Orrell, who came in June, 1834. He was son of James Orrell, of Blackbrook House, Esq., and his wife, Anna Maria Corne, and was born Oct. 6, 1800. After ordination at Ushaw he served Lee House, near Longridge, 1826-7; Congleton, Cheshire, 1827-8; Pleasington Priory, 1828-34, whence he came to Poulton, remained till his retirement to Ushaw College in Sept., 1862, and died there Oct. 13, 1866, aged 66. He was the last male heir of the Orrell family. His successor was—

Rev. William A. Johnson, born at Hindley, near Wigan, March 7, 1831, who was sent to Stonyhurst College in 1844, thence went to Ampleforth, and completed his studies at Prior Park, where he was ordained priest Sept. 21, 1853. His first appointment was as assistant at St. Mary's, Bristol, but in 1859 he was transferred to Liverpool, as assistant at the pro-cathedral, Copperas Hill, under Provost Thomas Cookson. Thence in 1862 he came to Poulton. He was of a musical turn, and whilst here composed some songs of which one had a long run in the music-halls in Liverpool. On Feb. 14, 1879, he left Poulton for Lydiat, which he resigned owing to failing health towards the end of September, but before he could leave died on Oct. 9, 1885, in his 55th year, the very day fixed for his departure, and was buried at Lydiat. He was succeeded at Poulton by—

Rev. Roger Arrowsmith, 1879, till his retirement in 1885, whose memoir has appeared under Lytham. He was succeeded by—

Rev. Thomas Grimes, 1885-1900, and—

Rev. William Vaughan, 1900 to date.

The foundation-stone of a new church was laid by the present Archbishop of Liverpool on Oct. 1, 1911, which was opened by his Grace Sept. 8, 1912. J.G.

The Registers are three in number, uniform in size, 8×6½ inches, each of unruled paper, and none boasting of backs.

One contains Baptisms from Dec. 8th, 1814, to Dec. 25, 1851. It consists of about 262 pages.

The second contains the Burials, May 18, 1815, to May 25, 1851, and the Obituary of the Brockholes family. It consisted of about 200 pages, some of which are now missing, but taken from the unused parts of the book.

The third contains the Records, treating of the origin, the income of Poulton Chapel, and the obligations connected with the income, and also an inventory of the property and appurtenances in 1831. It consists of about 168 pages.

* Eldest son, born at Layton Hall, educated primarily under the Rev. Thomas Bryer, vicar of Great Marton. Thence went to Ushaw in Dec., 1833; matriculated London University; subsequently taught successively the two higher schools of humanities, and was ordained priest Aug. 4, 1849. He was professor of poetry and rhetoric for several years till he left Ushaw, Aug. 1, 1856, and was appointed to St. Augustine's, Preston. There he remained till he succeeded the Very Rev. Richard Dean Brown at Lancaster on Jan. 28, 1869. In 1863 he became canon of Liverpool, and in 1889 was raised to the provostship of the chapter. He died at Lancaster Nov. 23, 1893, aged 73.—J.G.

† John Walker, then a student at Ushaw, was the ninth son of William Walker, of Thistleton, and nephew of Mrs. George Gillow, of Gillow in Little Ecclestone, and was born Dec. 14, 1801 (see p. 75). He received his preliminary education under Mr. Banks, the incumbent of Singleton, who kept a school in the parsonage house, of which young Walker was the only Catholic pupil. In May, 1814, he was sent to Ushaw, where, after a brilliant course, he was ordained priest, and placed in 1828 as assistant to the Rev. Francis Murphy, subsequently bishop of Adelaide. In 1831 he was recalled to Ushaw as professor of rhetoric, and afterwards of logic and mathematics. In the summer of 1835 he was appointed to Scarborough, where he built the church in 1858, and passed the remainder of his missionary career. He was an accomplished scholar, and was the intimate friend of the eminent historian, Dr. John Lingard, with whom he exchanged letters twice a week, and was present at his death July 17, 1851. He was made a canon upon the creation of the chapter of Beverley in 1852. When St. Anne's, Leeds, was opened Oct. 31, 1838, in the early days of the Tractarian Movement, Mr. Walker preached one of the sermons. The subject was the Apostolic Succession, and it had reference to Dr. Hook and the Anglican claims. It excited a sensation at the time, and for beauty of style and force of logic could not well be surpassed. Many of his letters and articles were published in the press. He died suddenly whilst on a visit to his brother and sister at Great Ecclestone, June 22, 1873, aged 72.—J.G.

* John Walker was sent to Ushaw, and was ordained priest before he had finished his course of theology owing to the dearth of priests caused by the scarlet fever epidemic of 1847. He was sent first to St. Nicholas', Liverpool, and in 1850 became chaplain to the Orrells at Blackbrook.
