Edgmond Registers.

EDGMOND is a village and extensive parish in the Hundred of South Bradford, the Archdeaconry of Salop and the Diocese of Lichfield. The village is two miles from Newport and eight from Wellington.

The old parish took in part of Pickstock (now in the parish of Sambrook), Church Aston and Chetwynd Aston, Tibberton and Cherrington, as well as the hamlets of Adeney, Buttery, Calvington, Caynton, and Stanford.

Pave Lane, in what was the ancient parish, now in Church Aston, probably shows Roman occupation of the neighbourhood, but we can only guess at the history of Edgmond before the Conquest.

The manor was in early times one of the most important in Shropshire. We know nothing of its history in Saxon days, but it has (like Ford and a few other Shropshire Manors) the custom of Borough English, i.e., descent to the youngest son (or daughter) not to the eldest, a peculiarity which possibly shows settlement by a special Saxon Tribe. The Norman Domesday Record gives the name of its Saxon owner as Leuvinus Cilt, whom the Rev. R. W. Eyton conjectured to be possibly Leofwine, brother of King Harold, who fell at his side at Senlac.

After the Conquest Edgmond was held by Earl Roger de Montgomery himself. It had six berewicks, five of which Mr. Eyton took to be Adeney, Field Aston, Church Aston, Pickstock, and Little Hales near Woodcote. Cherrington was a separate manor, held at Domesday by Gerard de Tournai. It was later held almost wholly by Wombridge Priory. Caynton was held in early mediaeval times by a family of de Caynton, under the lords of Bolas, as was also Calvington, as part of the fief of the King's Forester. The heiress of Caynton in the 14th century married Thomas Yonge. Their great grandson, William Yonge, was Sheriff of Salop in 1492, and his great grandson in 1548. The Yongs sold Caynton about 1756 to William Briscoe, whose descendants still possess it.

The Church of Edgmond is not mentioned in Domesday in 1086, but if it were not of Saxon foundation, it owes its origin to Earl Roger, who within eight years of the compiling of that record, gave it to his newly founded Abbey of Shrewsbury. Edgmond passed, on the rebellion of Earl Robert de Belesme, into the hands of the King, and its revenues were accounted for by the Sheriff. In 1217, Henry III. assigned the annual rent to Henry de Audley, "to support him in the Royal Service and during the King's pleasure," and 10 years later the manor was granted to Henry de Audley and his heirs, at the rent to the King of one mewed sparrow-hawk. The Audleys held the manor till 1392, when on the death of Nicholas de Audley (III.) it went to John Touchet, son of his elder sister Margaret, and from the Touchets to the Troutbeck family. In 1221 Henry de Audley was reported to have made a mill at Brademore in the Manor of Edgmond, and Broadmoor is still the name of two fields on the way to Tibberton.

In 1557 Robert Barnfield held two-thirds of the manor, and in 1608 Robert Barnfield, brother of the poet, and Milburgh his wife, daughter of John Brooke, of Madeley, sold the whole manor to Peter Corbet. In 1578, John Talbot held property in Edgmond, which he sold to William Yonge.

The Barnfields were an important family of Newport and Edgmond. They entered their pedigree at the Herald's Visitation of 1623. It there goes back for five generations to a Walter Barnfield, of Poulmore in Devonshire, whose son of the same name married an Eyton of Eyton, apparently a sister of the wife of Sir William Yonge of Caynton, Sheriff in 1492. The Yongs seem to have been originally of Ludlow, and to have, like the Barnfields, settled at Newport, in the early days of its prosperity.

The old half-timbered house near the church, now divided into two tenements, is traditionally said to be the old Manor House, where the Barnfields lived. The lane that formerly led to it from the high road, together with the village green, were absorbed into the rectory grounds about a century ago. The Rectory house dates from the 15th century, but little is known of its history.

In 1086, Edgmond was a manor of 14 hides paying Danegeld. The Earl had six ox-teams and 12 neatherds on his demesne land, and there were 11 teams among the rest of the population, which consisted of one female serf (Ancilla), 33 villans (tenants rather higher than serfs), eight bordars (who paid rent in kind), and two Frenchmen. There was arable land for 11 teams more, and a mill with a fishery that paid 10s. yearly. The manor had paid £14 a year in Saxon times, and now paid £15. (It seems tempting to connect the farm of Anseller, with the Ancilla of 1086.) When Edgmond in the 12th century appears as a Royal manor the £15 becomes £12, and this sum was reduced to £10, by King John, who gave Adeney to the Abbey of Croxden, co. Staffs.

The importance of Edgmond itself was eclipsed by the foundation by Henry I. of the market-town of Newport (or Newborough, as the earliest records style it), within the manor. Newport soon became independent, having its own church, and being represented at the Assizes by its own community. In 1255, Edgmond paid 50 merks in Tallage to the King, while Newport paid 36. The Manor of Edgmond was originally within the boundary of the Royal Forest of the Wrekin, but in 1300, it was ordered that a large tract should be disafforested. Among the many villages and hamlets named are "the vill of Egemundone, half of Novus Burgus, Little Aston, Little Hales, and Adoney; the boscs of Henelquenacre; the vill of Howle, Dotingcote Grange, Calvington, Caynton, the vill of Tibrighton, the vills of Cherynton, Meeson, half Great Boulwas, Upton, Slepe and Crugeton, &c." Buttery also is mentioned on the list between Kinnersley and Preston.

In 1287, the Monks of Croxden gave Adeney to those of Buildwas in exchange for the Grange of Caldon, co. Staffs., and the estate remained with Buildwas Abbey till the Dissolution.

The Abbey of Shrewsbury held land within the Manor of Edgmond at Chetwynd Aston, and the Canons of Lilleshall also had a small estate there. Robert Pinzun had received a grant from Henry II. of land here to be held by the service of providing two trusses of hay for the King's chamber whenever he came to Edgmond. Robert's grandson apparently gave a portion of this land to Shrewsbury Abbey. Church Aston though possessing a chapel in mediaeval times did not become independent of Edgmond till 1860. In the 12th century the mother church is mentioned as having several chapels which Mr. Eyton thought were probably Tibberton, Longford, and Newport, and possibly at a very early date, Great Bolas also.

PICKSTOCK, partly in this parish and partly in that of Chetwynd, which separated it from Edgmond, was made part of the modern parish of Sambrook, which was in that of Cheswardine till 1856.

CHURCH ASTON and CHETWYND or FIELD ASTON, early a chapelry of Edgmond, became independent of the mother church in 1860, though it has possessed its own registers since 1620. In 1553 it had a "challis of silver with a paten, gylt wythin, iij small bellis of oone accorde to be rogon together."

TIBBERTON, also a mediaeval chapelry, was, with Cherrington, formed into a separate parish in 1867, though its register dates from 1719.

In 1553, Richard Hollynshed was curate of Tibberton, John Oakeley and Richard Barker, wardens, John Podmore and John Howle, parishioners, and the church goods were a chalice and paten of silver and two bells, or as another account says three bells and a sacring bell.

CHERRINGTON MANOR, an elaborate half-timbered house, dated 1635, had originally a wide moat round it.

ADENEY gave its name to the family of the mother of Richard Baxter, Beatrice Adeney, whose father's house was at Rowton near High Ercall, where Richard Baxter was born, and brought up by his grandfather till he was ten years old.

BUTTEREY, like Adeney, was an islet of cultivated land in the Wild Moors. Possibly the two Frenchmen of 1086 held the outlying fertile land here and at Adeney.

LITTLE HALES, which lies beyond Field Aston, though in the ancient manor of Edgmond, is in the parish of Sheriff Hales.

The Muster Hill for the Hundred of North Bradford is not far from here, and there in 1538 appeared John Adeney from Pickstock, and Francis Adeney from Adeney, both bill-men, and Thomas Bostock from Cherrington, while from Caynton came four bowmen, Edward Rey, Thomas Wyld, William Howle, and Thomas Milner.

Caynton still retains the gateway of the manor house of the Yonges, though the house itself was burnt down many years ago, and re-placed by another built on the opposite side of the road. Tradition tells that Caynton suffered twice from fire, and that the old gateway, built by William Yonge in 1635, succeeded one that had been burnt down with an earlier house.

The Abbey of Shrewsbury held the advowson of Edgmond by gift of Earl Roger, but for some reason they never appropriated the Rectorial tithes, and the parish retains them to this day, unlike Conover and Tong, both of which were despoiled of the greater part of their income. The Rector of Edgmond paid a pension to the Abbot, but it was only a small part of his income. Two names occur among the Rectors and among the Abbots, which probably shows some family connection. Richard Lye, Rector from 1429 to 1476, suggests Richard Lye, Abbot from 1497 to 1512, and Thomas Mynde, Rector from 1476 to 1493, his predecessor Thomas Mynde, Abbot from 1459 to 1497. Walter Pigott of Chetwynd, was patron of Edgmond in 1620, 1631, and 1667, and Robert Pigott presented in 1699. He was Sheriff of Salop in 1697, and was son of Walter Pigott by Anne, daughter of Sir John Dryden of Canons Ashby, co. Northampton. Robert Pigott had six sons, of whom the fourth, William, was rector of Chetwynd and Edgmond, and ancestor of the Pigotts of Doddershall, co. Bucks. The Chetwynd estate was sold about 1780 by Robert Pigott (Sheriff in 1774), grandson of the Sheriff of 1697, but his uncle, the second William Pigott, who was rector of Edgmond and Chetwynd, retained his Shropshire property, which his descendants still hold. His son, John Dryden Pigott, was rector of Edgmond and Habberley, and was succeeded by his son of the same names, who took the name of Corbet, and was succeeded as rector by his brother, the Rev. C. F. C. Pigott.

The church is a fine building consisting of chancel, nave, aisles, and western tower. The chancel dates from the 14th century, and is excellent work of the time of Edward II. The nave shows traces of an Early English arcades on the north and south, now re-placed by lofty ones of late Perpendicular type. That on the north is a little later than that on the south. The tower is of the same date as the south aisle. The church was restored under Mr. Street, in 1877—8. The vestry and organ chamber are modern. The font goes back to early Norman times. The reredos and other fittings of the church are modern.

In 1553, Edgmond was left with church goods consisting of a chalice and paten of silver, parcell gilt, and three bells of one accord. The present bells are a ring of six, cast by Rudhall, of Gloucester, in 1721, of which the second bell has been re-cast in modern days, as it had been cracked.

There is a fine brass to the memory of Francis Yonge, who died in 1533, and the tombstone of Nicholas de Peshalc, rector from 1384 to 1425, serves as the sill of the west window. Tradition speaks of several monuments to the Yonge family which have now disappeared.

The Parish Register Abstract of 1831 gives this short notice of the Registers:—

“Edgmond R. Bap., Bur., Marr. 1680—1812.” This description is far from correct. The first book is from 1669 to 1719. It is rather indifferently kept, the entries apparently being frequently made by the clerk. It is written from both ends. The second volume is from 1719 to 1800, and is better kept. The marriages from 1754 to 1812 are on the ordinary printed form in two books, Volume III. and IV. The baptisms from 1800 to 1812 are in Volume V., and the burials for the same period in Volume VI.

The Register of Illegitimate Births extends from 1797 to 1828, and is really an Overseer's Book rather than a Church Register. It is a paper book 12½ by 8 inches, in a parchment cover. It has 7 columns, with printed headings, divided by red lines. Only two pages are filled, and these contain 51 entries. The heading is printed, excepting the word “Edgmond.” On the back is written “Bastard Register.” It gives the name of the reputed father, as well as the mother, and the weekly sum he had to pay, and in certain cases what became of the child.

The early registers are said to have been lost in a fire in the church in the 17th century.

The registers contain very few entries of interest. The title of Mr. or gentleman is rarely given, and there is little clue to the calling or standing of those mentioned.

The family of Yonge is called “esq.,” but none of the yeoman families of good standing, of which there were several in the parish are given any title till about the middle of the 18th century. In 1685, Madam Mary Pigott was buried in linen, and the fine duly paid. In Jan. 1687, Mrs. Dorothy Yonge of Ercall parva was buried at Edgmond, and a year after another Dorothy Yonge, the wife of William Yonge of Caynton followed her. Mr. Philip Yonge of Newport, buried in 1744. In 1689, Thomas Pigeon, of Edgmond, “generousus” was buried. Jane Pidgeon of Edgmond, buried in 1701, when Mary Pidgeon paid the duty, was a papist, but there is no note as to Thomas. In 1676, there were in Edgmond 607 Church people above the age of 16; 17 Roman Catholics, and 9 non-conformists. Thomas Hill and Dorothy his wife were among the Roman Catholics, and in 1715, Thomas

Hill was among those who declined to take the oath of allegiance. Mr. Thomas Hill, perhaps his son, had a son Thomas buried in 1736. Mr. Joseph Hill was here in 1776. The Rev. John Holbrooke, rector from 1667 to 1669, left descendants connected with the parish. Mr. Edward Holbrooke was buried in 1701, and Mrs. Elizabeth Holbrooke in 1709. Theophilus, son of the Rev. Theophilus Holbrooke and Ann his wife, of Aston, was baptised in 1715, and buried in 1725; Mr. Samuel Holbrooke buried in 1716; Elizabeth daughter of the Rev. Theophilus Holbrooke in 1731. Mrs. Mary Huet was buried in 1708. Mr. Thomas Montgomery, of Cherrington, in 1733. Mr. Thomas Beetenson was buried in 1753. His family had been settled at the Well for at least a century before. Mr. John Fieldhouse, of Adeney, was buried in 1794, and other members of the family occur. Mr. John White of Cherrington was buried in Jan. 1719. William, son of Mr. William Chambers, alias Pett, was baptised in 1724, and Ann, a daughter in 1725.

From 1728 onwards come entries of the children of Mr. Roger Holmes, of Stanford, and Catherine his wife. Mr. Roger Holmes and his wife were buried in 1734, within about a fortnight of each other. Mr. Samuel Dickenson and Martha Pargiter, of Newport, were married in 1728, and in 1738 Mr. Adams of Tibberton and Mrs. Clud of Norbury. In 1740, is the marriage of Mr. Samuel Whitehouse and Mrs. Elizabeth Richardson, both of Newport; the baptism of Dorothy, daughter of the Rev. William Pigott, and that of Arthur, son of the Rev. Arthur Spender. Succeeding years saw the baptism of several children of the Rector, and another son of Mr. Spender. Mr. John Rider, of Crudgington and Mrs. Ann Masefield of the Buttery were married in 1753. There is a gap in the registers between 1756 and 1763, partly filled in by entries of the Bayley and of the Masefield families. Mrs. Eleanor, wife of the Rev. Dryden Pigott was buried in Jan., 1725, and her husband in 1739. Mr. John Barnet of the Buttery House was buried in 1731. The Rev. John Adams, in 1748, Mrs. Sarah Barnet of Cherrington, and Mr. John Orme in 1750. Mr. Michael Orme was buried in 1788, Mrs. Orme in 1794, and Mr. John Orme in 1810. Mr. John Gregory of Wem in 1755, and Mr. Joseph Corfield of Edgmond in 1756. The Rev. William Pigott lost his wife in 1757, and seems to have been away from the parish till 1763. His youngest son Charles Cotes Pigott was buried at Edgmond in 1766. Lady Barbara Shirley of Edgmond was buried 1768.

Mr. Miller, of Newport was buried in 1767, and Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, widow, in 1772. Mr. John Spearman, of Cherrington, occurs in 1774, and Mr. Joseph Adams, of Cherrington, in 1775. The Spearmans had several children baptised at Edgmond, as had the Adams' also. Walter Harvey Thursby and Dorothy Pigott were married in 1765, and their twin daughters were baptised the year following. One of the twins died as an infant, and another child, Walter Cotes, was baptised in 1767.

In 1773, Mr. Benjamin Briscoe is mentioned. His father though living at Caynton from about 1756, is given no title till his burial in 1776, nor are members of the Bayley or Masefield families till about this date when it is always accorded them. Mr. Thomas Bayley occurs in 1794, and following years. Mr. William Masefield in 1782, and Mr. John Masefield in 1798. Mrs. Masefield of the Buttery was buried in 1772, and Miss Mary Tyrer in 1772. Mrs. Catherine Holland was buried from Newport 1783, and Mrs. Elizabeth Hitchen, widow. Miss Hannah Maria, daughter of Mr. Thomas Holland of Moreton Say was buried in 1796. Mr. Benjamin Briscoe of Calvington was buried in 1787, as was the Rev. Benjamin Reynolds, Curate of Tibberton. Laetitia, wife of Mr. Samuel Winnall, Surgeon, of Newport, was buried in 1789, Mr. Thomas Collier of Newport in 1794, Mrs. Susannah Collier, widow, in 1804. Mr. William Scarlet of Newport, aged 83, in 1797. Mr. Joseph Adams of Cherrington, was buried in 1797, and his widow in 1799. Mr. Robert Blakemore and Britannia his wife occur from 1800 onwards. Mrs. Anne, wife of Brigadier General Leighton, of Shrewsbury, was buried in 1800. She was a daughter of the Rev. William Pigott, and sister of Mrs. Thursby. Mr. John Bayley, of the New House, was buried in 1805, Mr. William Rose in 1809, Mr. James Goodall of Adeney, in 1811, and Mrs. Margaret Blakemore in 1812.

Among place names we find the Well (de Puteo), first in 1669, and the Mole Cop in 1700, Pickstock Mill, Pickstock Grange, the Slade Mill, and the Slades, Caynton Forge, the Buttery Plat, Edgmond Marsh, the Heath, the Plat, the Rock, Rock House, Caynton Mill, Enny (or Henny) Lane, the Bridge, Showel Mill, the Common, the Birches, the Mount, the Dumble (or Drumble), Bason Pits, the Day House, Foxhall (or Vauxhall), and the Well Bank in 1805. The Workhouse is mentioned in 1776, and Pickstock Workhouse also occurs.

There are a few curious Christian Names, as Epenetus and Appolonia.

An entry in 1783 that: "Thomas Challenor, hang'd on ye Old Heath near Salop, ye 29th of March, for Stealing two Fitches of Bacon, and was buried here, April 1," recalls the harsh laws of the 18th century.

[Here is a spirited drawing of an old man's head.]

F. Piggott her Monument 1770.

For who to dumb forgetfulness a prey
 This pleasing Anxious being e'er resign'd
 Nor cast no longing lingering look behind.
 Short was her Notice but devout her prayer that with her latest breath implor'd her God.

TO [in capitals]

Of her survivors see what weak defence grants death yt. charms must be virtue alone can give the lasting tie which time cannot deface nor death destroy.

TO [in capitals]

But what wish'd comfort shall the muse afford
 To the sad grave of her widowed Lord Weep not for her to all her labours o'er she lands in safety on the heavenly shore.

TO [capitals] Edgmond
 How lov'd how valued once avails there not
 To Whom related & by whom begot
 A heap of dust alone remains of thee
 It All thou art and all the proud shall be.

MANOR OF EDGMOND.

[The following account of the descent of the Manor of Edgmond has been kindly communicated by the Rev. E. R. O. Bridgeman. It forms a valuable supplement to the facts already recorded on page iii, &c., of the Introduction.]

EDGMOND.

On the death in 15 Rich. II. (1391—2) of Nicholas lord Audley, great-grandson of the Nicholas de Audley whose death in 1299 is recorded by Eyton in his History of Shropshire (vol. ix, p. 120), the Manor of Edgmond was divided between his three sisters or their representatives as the right heirs of his father James lord Audley, viz.: John Touchet, the grandson of his sister Joan,—his sister Margaret, the wife of Sir Roger Hillary,—and Fulk lord Fitzwarine, the grandson of his half-sister Margaret, who is sometimes also called by the name of Blanche ; and several generations elapsed before the separated portions were again united in the hands of one owner.

To take the second of the three portions first, Roger and Margaret Hillary sold their third of the manor to Hugh de Holes, whose granddaughter Margery de Holes brought it into the possession of the Troutbeck family by her marriage with Sir John Troutbeck of Dunham, co. Chester. Three generations later it passed to the Talbots through the marriage of Margaret Troutbeck, daughter and heir of Adam Troutbeck, with Sir John Talbot of Albrighton and Grafton ; and it remained in the possession of their Talbot descendants till the partition to be referred to presently.

John Touchet, the inheritor of the first portion, was summoned to Parliament by the title of lord Audley ; and his share of Edgmond devolved upon his grandson John, the 3rd Touchet lord Audley, whose son James, 4th lord, having joined the Cornish rebels, was taken prisoner at the battle of Blackheath, and beheaded in 1497, his estates being forfeited to the Crown. A few years afterwards however, in 1506, we find this third of the manor of Edgmond in the possession of his younger brother Thomas Audley ; on the death of whose widow in 1514 it devolved upon his daughter and heir Anne, then the wife of George Twyncho of Cayford, co. Somerset. After George Twyncho's death in 1525 his widow appears to have been re-married to Richard Inkepen ; and in 1551 Richard Inkepen and Ann his wife sold her third of the manor to Thomas Lodge.

Fulk lord Fitzwarine's portion of Edgmond, the last of the thirds into which it had been divided, descended to his daughter and eventual heir, Elizabeth, who was the wife of Sir Richard Hankford ; their daughter and heir Thomasine Hankford married Sir William Bouchier, who was summoned to Parliament as lord Fitzwarine in 1471 ; and in 1552 their great-grandson John Bouchier, 2nd Earl of Bath, joined with his son in selling it to Thomas Lodge, afterwards Lord Mayor of London.

This Thomas Lodge was now the owner of two thirds of the manor of Edgmond ; but he only held them for a few years, disposing of them in 1557 to Robert Barnfield ; and shortly afterwards, in 1565, a partition of the Edgmond estate was made between Robert Barnfield and John Talbot of Grafton, the grandson of Margaret Troutbeck, under which the whole of the manorial rights of Edgmond became vested in Robert Barnfield, the Talbots retaining only those of the hamlet of Little or Church Aston (which was a member of Edgmond manor) and a third share of the demesne lands of the manor. In 1607 Richard Barnfield, possibly the son of Robert Barnfield, but more probably his grandson Richard Barnfield the poet, joined with another grandson Robert Barnfield and Milburg his wife in selling the manor of Edgmond to Peter Corbett, a younger son of Reginald Corbet of Stöke, co. Salop, who was the third son of Sir Robert Corbet of Moreton Corbet, Sheriff of Shropshire in 1501.

After remaining in the possession of the Corbetts for more than 80 years, the whole manor was sold in 1694 by Andrew Corbett to Robert Pigott of Chetwynd; the two families were related, Peter Corbett, Andrew's great grandfather, having married in 1594 the daughter of Robert's ancestor, Thomas Pigott of Chetwynd, who purchased the advowson of Edgmond from Sir Walter Leveson in 1599. The manor remained in the possession of the Pigotts till 1779, when it appears to have been sold, with his other Shropshire property, by Robert Pigott to Thomas Lloyd, of Gray's Inn, London, who took up his residence at Chetwynd, but in 1803 disposed of both these manors to Thomas Borough, of Castlefield, co. Derby, in the hands of whose grandson, John Sydney Burton Borough, Esq., of Chetwynd, the lordship of the manor of Edgmond now rests.

Tibberton.

Tibberton Registers.

TIBBERTON is a township and village, 5 miles from Newport, in the rural deanery of Edgmond, archdeaconry of Salop, diocese of Lichfield, and hundred of South Bradford. It was originally a chapelry in the parish of Edgmond, but was made an independent rectory in 1867. The parish takes in Cherrington, formerly another hamlet of Edgmond. The area of Tibberton and Cherrington is about 1,594 acres, and the population in 1901 was 451.

In 1086, the manor of Tetbristone was held under Earl Roger de Montgomery by Roger de Curcelle as a manor of five hides. Its Saxon lord bore the name of Ulgar, and the manor seems to have been among those that suffered heavily at the Norman Conquest, for it was laid waste, and its value of 60s. a year under Edward the Confessor had fallen to nothing. In 1086, it had recovered a little and was worth 10s. a year. There was then one ox team at work on the demesne land, and one other belonged to the two neat-herds and four bordars that represented the population, but there was arable land enough to employ seven more.

In the 11th and 12th centuries the chief tenants of Tibberton were the De Condovery family, one of whom, Baldwin, gave a hide at Tibberton to the Abbey of Shrewsbury. Towards the close of the 12th century, Ralph Pantulf of Dawley, gave a grant of land here to the Priory of Wombridge, and the canons there in later years received several other grants from tenants of the manor. Lilleshall Abbey also held a virgate of land in Tibberton by grant before 1265, of Alice de Morville.

CHERRINGTON (in Domesday, Cerlintone) was in 1086, a manor of Gerard de Tournai. Like Tibberton, it lay waste after the dispossession of its Saxon lord, Ulief, but under its Norman lord it had recovered 22s. of the 23s. that had been its annual value in Saxon times. It was a manor of three hides with land for 6 oxtams. There was in 1086, a team and a half on the demesne land, and another team among the three neat-herds, two villans, and three bordars.

The greater part of Cherrington became in the 12th and 13th centuries the property of Wombridge Priory, land here forming apparently part of the original endowment of the foundation given by William and Alan de Hadley. The other portion of the manor was held by a family that took their name from the place. In 1255, Richard de Cherrington held the manor under the King as a manor of four hides, and the Prior of Wombridge held 3 carucates, one by gift of Alan de Hadley, and the other two and $4\frac{1}{2}$ acres of forest land, by that of Geoffrey Griffin.

In 1327, eight tenants of Cherrington are mentioned on the Subsidy Roll, but none were wealthy, the highest assessment being xijd., while Thomas and Richard de Cherrington each only paid vid. Possibly they came under the regulation that exempted from taxation the horses, armour, jewellery and plate of knights and gentlemen, a rule which must in some cases have left very little for the twentieth to be paid on.

In the 12th century three of the four hides of Tibberton left in lay hands were held by the Pantulfs of Dawley under the Pantulfs of Wem. In 1255, these three hides were held by William de Caverswall, Michael de Morton, Richard le Irish of Dawley, and Christiana de Dawley, representing 4 co-heiresses of the Pantulfs, by service of doing ward at Wem Castle in time of war, with a horse, hauberk, and helmet and lance at their own cost, while John de Hales held another hide by service of doing ward at Wem for a month with bow and arrows.

In 1327, ten inhabitants were assessed on the Subsidy Roll for one twentieth on all moveable goods, all apparently prosperous, as two were to pay 2/4, and another 2/2, while the poorest paid ixd.

The Hardwicke MS. History of Shropshire says of Tibberton: "this manor and estates, probably in the reign of Henry III., were granted to the Abbot and Convent of Lilleshall, to which abbey they remained till the dissolution of that monastery, when they vested in the Crown. In 35, Henry VIII., 1543, lands here were granted by the Crown, with other extensive estates to James Leveson, of Wolverhampton, esquire, from whose collateral descendants they have passed to his Grace, George Granville Leveson-Gower, the present Duke of Sutherland, who probably possesses the manor from his collateral ancestor, Sir Walter Leveson, Knt., of Lilleshall, father of Sir Richard Leveson, K.B., Vice-Admiral of England."

The estates remained with the Leveson-Gower family till 1912, when a large portion was sold, and passed in many cases to the ownership of families who had occupied the land as tenants for more than a generation.

The beautiful moated half-timbered house at Cherrington bears the date 1635, but history is silent as to its builder, and there is no early register that might furnish a clue. In 1538, Thomas Bostock, of Cherrington, was summoned to the Muster of the Hundred of North Bradford, while from Tibberton came 5 bill-men, three named John Podmore, with John Howle and John Wockeley.

In 1553, John Oakeley and Richard Barker were wardens of Tibberton, and John Podmore and John Howle, parishioners, and Richard Hollynshed was the curate, when the Church goods in their care were a chalice and paten of silver and 2 bells, or, as another account says, three bells and a sacring bell.

The manor of EDMOND, in which parish Tibberton and Cherrington originally were, was a Royal manor from the time of the forfeiture of Earl Robert de Belesme in 1102 till 1217, when it was granted to Henry de Audley, first temporarily and then permanently. On the death of Nicholas de Audley, in 1391-2, his estates were divided into three portions; one going to John Touchet, grandson of his elder sister Joan; another to Nicholas' younger sister Margaret, wife of Sir Roger Hilary, and the third to Fulk Fitz-Warine, son or grandson of his half-sister Blanche (sometimes called Margaret) Fitz-Warine. The marriage of Joan Audley and Sir John Touchet took place in 1348, at Stanton Lacy, in the oratory belonging to the manor there of Joan de Mortimer, Countess of March, by special licence from the Bishop of Hereford, John de Trillek. The Touchets retained their share of the manor of Edmond till the attainder and execution of James Touchet in 1496. The Fitzwarine share passed through the Hankfords to the Bouchiers, who were created Lords Fitz-Warine. The remaining third was in possession of the Holles family, and passed from them to the Troutbecks, and from them in 1512 to Margaret Troutbeck, wife of John Talbot, ancestor of the Talbots of Albrighton and of Longford. In 1416, Thomas de Cherynton was one of the jurors in an enquiry at Shrewsbury as to the lands held by Sir Hugh de Holles, which were found to be a moiety of the manor of Ford, and of Newport, and a third of that of Edgmond. In 1508, a third of Edgmond which had been held by Thomas Audley passed to his daughter Anne, wife of George Twynhoe, of Cayford, co. Somerset, whose son Edward sold it in 1550 to Sir Thomas Lodge (Lord Mayor of London in 1563), son of William Lodge of Cressage, who sold, in 1558, two parts of the manor to Robert Barnfield, he having also become possessed of the Fitz-warine share. The Talbots retained their moiety of Newport till modern days, but parted with their share of the manor of Edgmond to the Barnfields, retaining, however, a share of the demesne lands. The Levesons became possessed of a moiety of Newport by purchase from Richard Barnfield in 1579, and in 1764 the Earl of Shrewsbury and the Duke of Sutherland were joint Lords of the Manor of Newport. In 1608, the Barnfields sold the manor of Edgmond to Peter Corbet, younger son of Reginald Corbet, of Stoke-on-Tern, and grandson of Sir Robert Corbet, of Moreton Corbet, the Sheriff of Shropshire in 1501.

Ecclesiastically Tibberton Church was a chapel of Edgmond till 1861, and there is little information to be gathered as to its history. It is probable that there was a chapel here in the 12th century, as Drio, priest of Tibberton, occurs circa 1175—1180. The present building, dedicated to All Saints, is a re-building of 1842, which stands upon a slightly different site from its predecessor. It consists of chancel, nave and western tower, of little interest or beauty. A vestry and organ-chamber have been added in recent years, also pulpit and font. The parish was separated from Edgmond in 1861, and declared a rectory in 1867.

The Parish Register Abstract of 1831 gives this information about the Register :—

“Tibberton C. One Book. Bap., Bur., Marr., 1719—1812. The earlier Registers were destroyed by fire.”

The Register of Tibberton from 1719 to 1812 is contained in a single volume of parchment leaves bound in calf. It is in good condition and legible throughout. There are entries of marriages till 1749, after which baptisms and burials only. From 1784 to 1792 the registers are signed by W. Foxton, Deputy Collector, and they are marked at intervals as given in at the Visitation.

There is little of remark in the register. Titles are very sparingly given. In 1720, we have the baptism of Charles Henry, son of Mr. Sherington Talbot of Caynton and Elizabeth his wife. They seem to have been at Caynton only for a short time, and apparently they were of the Worfield family.

In 1731, is the burial of Mary, wife of Mr. Thomas Adams of Tibberton, and there are several entries of the Adams family both in this and in the Edmond Register.

In 1732, Mr. John Skitt, agent to Mr. Thomas Boothby Skrymsner of Norbury, was married to Mrs. Anne Dawson, widow, of Newport. Thomas Boothby Scrimsher was also of Tooley Park, co. Leicester.

Mr. Thomas Podmore occurs in 1735. He was of a family long connected with the neighbourhood.

Mr. John Bould of Caynton occurs in 1736, and Mrs Dorothy Bould, from Preston, in 1753.

Mr. Edward Walters, of Cherrington, in 1757, and Mr. Walter Cherrington in 1758.

Mrs. Sarah Taylor, of Cherrington, in 1776, and Mr. William Taylor and Mrs. Sarah Taylor in 1804, and several following years. Mr. William Taylor of Ellerton was buried in 1797; and Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor, widow, in 1801. Another Mr. John Taylor of the Dayhouse occurs in 1803, and Mr. Thomas Taylor of the Dayhouse in 1812.

Mrs. Mary, wife of Mr. George Colebatch, of Cleobury, was buried in 1801.

There are few noticeable Christian names: Homer-Virgil Fletcher is perhaps the most remarkable.

There are one or two records of accidents and one of burning.

Among place-names mentioned are Clod Hall, Cockmere Heath and Howl Pool.

The interesting list of Briefs at Tibberton is given in the Edmond Register, and we see from it that the chapelry was often quite as generous as the Mother Church and sometimes more so, especially when the difference of size is taken into consideration.

The Register was copied by Mr. T. R. Horton, and collated by Miss Auden and it is now printed with the permission of the past and present Rectors of Tibberton.

Waters Upton Registers.

WATERS UPTON, or Upton Parva, is a parish and village, five miles north from Wellington, situate on the river Tern and the road from Wellington to Hodnet. It is in the Hundred of South Bradford, the rural deanery of Edgmond, archdeaconry of Salop, and diocese of Lichfield. The area is about 730 acres, and the population in 1801 was 169, in 1841 it had risen to 228, whilst in 1901 it was 194.

In Edward the Confessor's time the manor was held by Gamel, and was worth 40s. 4d. per annum. At the Domesday Survey, Uptune, a manor of three hides, was held by Roger de Laci of the Norman Earl of Shrewsbury, and Seuuard held it under him. In Henry I.'s reign, Pagan fitz John gave Uptune to Gilbert de Conedoure, whose descendants however did not hold the manor, for it presently passed to the Barony of Pantulf. Before the year 1200, Pantulf seems to have enfeoffed one Walter fitz John, who gave to this place its name of Walter's Upton, afterwards corrupted into Waters Upton. His son William fitz Walter de Uptune before 1223 gave to Haughmond Abbey a meadow in Uptune called Longeie. William's younger son Nicholas de Upton was also a benefactor to Haughmond Abbey, and to Shrewsbury Abbey to which he bequeathed his body and an annual rent-charge. After his death, Waters Upton passed to coparceners, who in 1292 were Richard de Upton (or de Tyrne) and Dionysia his wife, William de Upton (or de Tyrne) and Agnes his wife, and Adam de Upton and Emma his wife.

In 1285 Upton occurs as a member of the Barony of Wem, and William de Titley held it by the service of one knight's fee. He was Sheriff of Shropshire 1290—1295.

At the subsidy of 1327, six persons from Uptune were assessed, viz:—William de Garmeston, 2s. 9d., Adam Bercar, 18½d., Robert Louote, 18d., John fitz Nicholas, 13d., Emma the relict of Roger, 21d., and Richard de Uptune, 21d.

Hardwicke's MSS. state that the manor, with the ancient manor-house, and land, was for some time part of the possessions of the Corbets of Moreton Corbet. Sir Andrew Corbet died possessed of it on 16th August, 1577. It then passed to his son Robert Corbet, who died in July, 1583, and on his death to his daughter and heiress Elizabeth, wife of Sir Henry Wallop, knight, of Farley and of Peynton in High Ercall. She died 15th November, 1624, and her son Robert Wallop, about the year 1656 sold this manor and part of the estates to Sir Richard Leveson, K.B., of Lilleshall. On his death, without issue, 2nd June, 1661, it passed to his niece Frances Leveson, the daughter and coheir of his brother John Leveson. She married Sir Thomas Gower, Bart., from whom is descended the Duke of Sutherland, the present lord of the manor of Waters Upton. The lands in Waters Upton belonging to the Levesons have long since been parted with, the small remaining portion being sold by the Duke in July, 1912, with the Lilleshall estates.

The hall was re-built early in the 18th century by Mr. John Wase, who by his will dated 6th April, 1715, left a croft in Sutton Lane, Coleham, in trust for the poor of the parish; he was buried in the chancel, 2nd May, 1715. From the Wase family the hall passed by marriage to Mr. John Dickin, who married Elizabeth Wase in 1791. Miss Ann Dickin was living here in 1851. The last of the Dickins left three daughters, amongst whom the property was divided. The hall and land adjoining was purchased by Mr. Ernest John Fisk in 1905.

The Church was originally a chapelry of High Ercall, and was probably founded by the Lacies. About 1245 the advowson was given by Nicholas de Upton to Shrewsbury Abbey. In 1341 the chapelry was assessed at 16s. to the Ninth, but before this year had been separated from the mother church. Its value in 1534-5 was £4, less 2s. for procurations and 10½d. for synodals, and it was in the Deanery of Newport. At the Religious Census of 1676, there were in Upton Parva 80 conformists above the age of 16, and no papists or nonconformists; the population would then probably be about 160.

No portion of the mediæval chapel now remains. In 1741-2 a Brief was issued for building the Church at Upton Parva, and the Register records "The Church new built." Probably the nave only was then re-built, as John Wase, Councillor of Shrewsbury, mentions in his will of 1715 that he had built the chancel. In 1851 the Church is described as being "a small unassuming structure, dedicated to St. Michael, consisting of nave and chancel, with a small belfry at the west end." It was taken down in 1864, when a new church was erected, from designs by Mr. G. E. Street, in the Decorated style. It consists of nave, chancel with south vestry, north porch, and western bell-cot, with a small spire. The money for this new church was raised by the Rev. John Halke, curate. A porch and organ chamber have lately been added to the church. There are two bells, dated 1701 and 1865, the earlier one being cast by a Wellington founder. The Church Goods return, dated 4th May, 1553, mentions "two small bells; a small chalice of silver with the paten." Roger Henson was parson, and Roberd Hylton and William Garson churchwardens. An earlier return dated 2nd June, 3 Edward VI., has this:—"Upton Parva, smalle bellis of accorde, oone chalys wythe a pattent of sylver." On the south wall are several small brasses, taken from tombstones on the floor of the old church; one is to the memory of rector William Jones, who died in 1691, aged 82 years. The Communion Plate, consisting of flagon, chalice, and paten, is all inscribed "Upton parva, Com. Salop, 1748." There is also a small paten, presented in 1907.

The Abbey of Shrewsbury presented to the rectory from about 1250 until its dissolution, after which the King presented until about 1864, when the advowson was purchased from the Lord Chancellor by Mr. Taylor, who in 1866 presented his nephew the Rev. John Bayley Davies. On Mr. Taylor's death the advowson came to Mr. Davies, and it is still vested in his trustees.

He copied the old paper Register into the present book in 1598, and signs each year until 1616, and again in 1631. He was buried at High Ercall 29th March, 1632, and his wife Jane was also buried there.
- 1632, April 10.—William James, M.A., presented by the King, died 14th February, 1691, aged 82, and was buried at Waters Upton. A brass states that he "laboured in the work and doctrine 64 years."

- 1741, Sept. 1.—John Brooke, M.A., St. John's College, Cambridge; third Master of Shrewsbury School, 1740—54, and second Master 1754—63. He died 29th Nov., 1763, aged 48, and was buried 2nd December, at St. Mary's, Shrewsbury, where there is a brass to his memory. During his incumbency the church was re-built, and the communion plate presented.

- 1906, March 22.—Samuel Hobson, M.A., and Scholar of Sidney Sussex College, Cambridge; vicar of Uppington 1880—1902, and Diocesan Inspector 1888—1902. The present rector of Waters Upton. During his incumbency a new porch and organ chamber have been added to the church.

* Another Bishop of Achonry, Thomas Fort, was Rector of Edgmond, 1493—1497, and Prior of Stone. Probably Wellys and Fort both acted as Suffragans of Lichfield.

The Parish Register Abstract has this notice of the Registers :—" Upton Parva or Waters Upton R. Nos. I., II. Registers (parchment) 1563—1793. No. III. 1794—1812. See Ercall Magna." And under Ercall Magna are the words "including Bur. from Rodington and Waters Upton." This account is both incomplete and inaccurate.

Volume I. is a book of 31 parchment leaves, without a cover. Several leaves have been cut out. It contains Baptisms 1547—1718; Weddings, one in 1547, thence 1566—1612, on two leaves at the end of the book with a few others interspersed; Burials 1711—1718 on the last leaf, and other entries in 1662, 1679, 1686, and 1693—1709. The first page is largely illegible. The entries from the commencement to 1598 were "newly copied by Roger Lowe, parson there"; each page to 1608 is signed "per me Rogerum Lowe, Rect.", and the Register is well written up to that year. Later on some of the writing is in a clerk's hand. This volume needs careful binding.

It should be noted that many of the burials from Waters Upton took place at High Ercall. At the end of Volume II. of the High Ercall Registers is a "Registrum Rodintonia et Waters-Upton per se separatim et inchoatum Undecimo Die Octobris Anno Christi 1679," which contains entries of sixteen burials from Waters Upton between 1679 and 1692. Other burials took place at Great Bolas.

Volume II. is a book of 24 parchment leaves, 10 $\frac{1}{4}$ inches by 6 $\frac{1}{4}$ inches, in a parchment cover, and contains Baptisms, Marriages, and Burials from 1718 to 1733. Outside is written: "The Register of Waters Upton, beginning in May, 1718." Inside the first cover is the Institution of John Tourneur in 1718, and on the last cover that of Thomas Hatton, in 1764. The entries in John Tourneur's handwriting are well written, and he heads each year from 1725 to 1740, "Anno Æræ Xtianæ, 1725," &c. John Brooke's writing is also very good, 1741 to 1764. Thomas Hatton baptized many children at home and enters their reception into the church. The volume is in good condition, and fairly legible throughout.

Volume III. is a book of 15 parchment leaves, 13 inches by 8 inches, in a leather cover. It contains Baptisms from 1794 to 1816 at one end, outside being written "Xg Register of Waters Upton"; and Burials from 1793 to 1815 at the other end, "Burial Register of Waters-Upton" being written on the cover. There is also one Wedding in 1815. The volume is in good condition and legible, but much of it is written by an illiterate clerk.

Volume IV. contains 60 entries of Marriages from 1755 to 1811. It is the usual printed paper book, without covers, and in bad condition.

There is an interesting paper by the Hon. and Rev. G. H. F. Vane, "On the Parish Registers of Waters Upton," printed in the Shropshire Archæological Society's Transactions for 1897.

The principal families named in the Register are those of Wase, Dickin, Littlehales, and Geary. John Wase, esq., was buried in 1715, and his descendants are usually styled "gent." or "Mr." The Gearys are ancestors of Admiral Sir Francis Geary, created a Baronet, and of his descendants the Gearys of Oxon Hoath, Kent. In 1727 the marriage of Mr. Vernon Yonge of Charnes occurs, in 1751 the marriage of Mr. Edmund Littlehales with Margaret Wingfield, and in 1752 that of Mr. Folliott Sandford with Mary Littlehales. In 1785 occurs the burial of Octavius Cæsar Augustus Hitchcock, who was murdered at the early age of 22. In 1787 and 1790 two daughters of Captain Rene Neve L'Issoir, a French refugee, were baptized.

The Registers were transcribed by Mr. T. R. Horton, and collated by the Rev. W. G. D. Fletcher, F.S.A., who has also passed the proofsheets through the press; and they are now printed with the kind permission of the Rev. Samuel Hobson, the present rector.

Great Bolas Registers.

GREAT BOLAS is a parish and village situate on the river Tern, seven miles north from Wellington, in the hundred of South Bradford, rural deanery of Edgmond, archdeaconry of Salop, and diocese of Lichfield. It includes the township of Meeson, on the south-east. Its total area is about 1,897 acres, and its population in 1801 was 207; in 1831, 255; in 1841, 228; and in 1901, 255. It must not be confused with Little Bolas, which is a township of Hodnet, and lies due north, the river Tern forming the boundary between Great and Little Bolas. The river Mees also flows through the parish.

The Parish Register Abstract of 1831 contains this account of the Registers of Great Bolas:—"Bolas Magna R. Nos. I.—V., Registers, 1582—1650, 1653—1812. Nos. VI., VII., Marr., 1755—1812."

Shropshire Parish Documents, issued by the Salop County Council in 1903, has the following:—

"General Register, 1651—1679.

Do. 1679—1722.

Do. 1723—1755, then Baptisms and Burials only to 1805.

Register of Baptisms and Burials, 1805—1812.

„ Banns and Marriages, 1755—1808.

„ Marriages, 1809—1812.

Churchwardens' Account Book, 1699—1799.

Overseers' Account Book, 1698—1769.

Do. 1770—1817."

The earliest volume of the Registers is not mentioned in the County Council's list.

Volume I. consists of 14 leaves of parchment, 11½ inches by 8½ inches, and contains entries of Baptisms, Burials and Marriages from 1582 to 1650. The cover, and apparently the first two leaves of the Register, have been cut off. It is much faded and stained from damp, but is on the whole legible. From 1590 onwards the names of the Churchwardens are often entered at the beginning of each year, and occasionally the names of the Sidesmen and Surveyors of the Highways.

Volume II., which contains entries from 1653 to 1679, is a parchment book of 21 leaves, 11 by 5 inches, in a vellum cover, and is written on the right hand side only. On the left side after 1662, the names of the rector and churchwardens are given each year, and the inductions of the incumbents. Generally this volume is in good condition and well written, though in places the writing is faded and illegible. Until 1662, it is in the handwriting of Edward Bury; after 1662 in that of John Tourneour. Inside the cover are the names of Churchwardens 1656—1672, but some of these are decayed and faded, and the names sometimes differ from those given in the body of the Register. From the beginning of the volume until 1660, the words "borne," "sep.," "nat.," or "nupt.," are written in the margin against each entry. There is a note that the Bishop preached and confirmed at Hodnett on 13 June, 1665.

Volume III. contains 34 parchment leaves, $13\frac{1}{2}$ by 7 inches, bound in a brown leather cover, and extends from 1679 to 1722. It is in good condition, and is in the handwriting of John Tourneour, and of his son of the same name. It is written on one side of the leaf only from 1683 to 1694. Until 1706 burials in woollen are recorded. The Bishop's visitations and confirmations are also entered. The rector signs each year, and the churchwardens' names are given throughout the volume. Outside the cover is written "Bowlas Register," and inside are rates, fees payable on induction and at visitations, and a note as to Terriers.

Volume IV. consists of 39 vellum leaves, $13\frac{1}{2}$ by $6\frac{1}{2}$ inches, in a vellum cover. It extends from 1723 to 1805, but has no marriage entries after 1754. It is well written and in good condition. The rector generally signs each year, and the churchwardens' names are given to 1741. There are a few Latin entries, chiefly of the Tourneour family. Inside the cover is a note as to the demolition of the old church, and the opening of the new church in 1728, and entries of the delivery of Terriers and copy of the registers to Lichfield. At the end of the book is a memorandum as to the induction of Benjamin Wase in 1745.

Volume V. is a parchment book, 12 by 7 inches, in a vellum cover, and extends from 1805 to 1812, but only six leaves are written in.

Volume VI. contains marriages from 1755 to 1808, and one earlier in 1753. It consists of 14 paper leaves, 16 by 10 inches, stitched in a piece of parchment which serves as a cover. They are printed forms of marriage, three entries on a page.

Volume VII. is one of Lowndes's printed Marriage Registers, four entries on a page, but only nine entries are filled up. It is a paper book, 15 by $9\frac{1}{2}$ inches, in a brown leather cover, and the entries entered from 1809 to 1812.

The Registers are of considerable interest as a whole. During the Civil War and Commonwealth period we have Isaac Martin, rector from 1628, who was ejected by the Puritans for refusing the Covenant, and Edward Bury, who was appointed in 1653 in his place. At the Restoration Bury was turned out, and John Tourneour put in as rector. Bury retired to Eaton, in the parish of Stoke-upon-Tern, but was interred at Bolas 7 May, 1700, as was his widow, Mary Bury, on 30 January, 1703—4. The most important families named in the Registers are those of Tayleur (patrons of the living), Tourneour, Geary, Meeson, Jervoise, Wingfield, Eddowes, Taylor, &c.

The most interesting entries are, however, those relating to the family of Hoggins, on account of the romantic circumstances connected with the marriage of Henry Cecil, M.P., nephew and heir of the Earl of Exeter, to Sarah Hoggins of Bolas. From 1789 to 1794, Henry Cecil was living at Bolas, under the assumed name of John Jones. The incident has been immortalized by Tennyson's poem, The Lord of Burleigh.

The Hoggins family settled at Bolas about 1694, in which year John Hoggins of Bolas Heath married at Waters Upton, on Dec. 1st, Mary Ansell of that parish. They had four children born to them, and then Mrs. Mary Hoggins died, in July, 1708. John Hoggins married a second wife, Margaret Adney, on 27 Dec., 1708, and in 1711 he served the office of Churchwarden.

His only surviving son, Thomas Hoggins, of Bolas, was baptized 18 February, 1701, was Churchwarden in 1734, and was buried 6 August, 1752. By his wife Sarah, who died in 1753, he had seven children.

The eldest of these, Thomas Hoggins, who lived at the old Rectory House, Bolas, was baptized 7 Nov., 1730, and was twice married; first, on 25 March, 1755, to Sarah Eddowes (she died in May, 1760), and secondly, on 6 Nov., 1768, to Jane Bayley, the daughter of a clergyman. By his first marriage he had two daughters, and by the second marriage six sons and four daughters. The eldest surviving child by the second wife was Sarah Hoggins, who was baptized at Bolas on 28 June, 1773.

Towards the end of June, 1789, a stranger came to Mr. Hoggins's house, and begged shelter for the night. He gave the name of "John Jones." His stay lasted some weeks, for on July 18th, he witnessed the marriage of Francis Light and Sarah Massey, and when he went away, he soon returned to Bolas. The next year, on April 13th, he married by license Sarah Hoggins. In the marriage bond, which is dated 4 April, 1790, he described himself as John Jones of Bolas Magna, yeoman, over 21 years of age and a bachelor.

As a matter of fact he was already married at the time. As Henry Cecil, he had married at St. George's, Hanover Square, on 23 May, 1776, Miss Emma Vernon, of Hanbury, Worcestershire. She eloped, on 14 June, 1789, with the Rev. William Sneyd, curate of Hanbury. Mr. Cecil obtained from the Consistory Court a divorce a mensa et thoro on 2 March, 1791, and also procured an Act of Parliament dissolving his marriage with Emma Vernon and permitting him to re-marry, which received the Royal assent on 10 June, 1791.

On 3 Oct., 1791, Mr. Jones,—this time as "Henry Cecil, bachelor,"—married Sarah Hoggins a second time, at the Church of St. Mildred, Bread Street, London.

Mr. Jones had bought some land at Bolas, and built on it a small house which he called Bolas Villa. For this his name occurs in the rate books from May, 1790, to May, 1797, first as "Mr. John Jones," and afterwards as "the Right Honble. the Earl of Exeter." In 1790 he is rated at 7s. 10½d.; in 1794 at 6s. 4½d. Here he lived with his young wife. There were two children of the marriage born at Bolas, viz., Sophia, who was baptized 27 February, 1792, and afterwards married the Right Hon. Henry Manvers Pierrepont, and Henry, who was baptized 3 January, and buried 29 May, 1793, in Bolas Church near the pulpit. These are both entered in the Register as the children of "John and Sarah Jones." After their second marriage at St. Mildred's Church, they were evidently still called Jones at Bolas, as on 1 April, 1793, "John Jones" and "Sarah Jones" were the witnesses to the marriage of Francis Arkinstall and Martha Rogers.

On 26 Dec., 1793, the 9th Earl of Exeter died, and Henry Cecil succeeded as 10th Earl, and in 1794 removed to Burghley. Sarah had two more children,—Brownlow, born 2 July, 1795, who succeeded in 1804 as 2nd Marquess of Exeter and K.G., and Thomas, born 1 January, 1797, a Colonel in the Army. The Countess Sarah did not long survive the birth of her youngest son, but died 18 January, 1797, and was buried on the 28th at St Martin's, Stamford. The Earl was created Marquess of Exeter in 1801, and lived till May, 1804. He was born at Brussels 14 March, 1754, and was M.P. for Stamford in 1774, in 1780, and from 1784 until 1790, and a Fellow of the Royal Society.

His first wife Emma Vernon seems to have married the Rev. William Sneyd on 13 Oct., 1791; and also a third husband, Mr. John Phillips of Winterdyne, Bewdley. She died 21 March, 1818, aged 63, and was buried "by her own desire" at the extreme north edge of Hanbury Churchyard, and not in the Vernon vault with her forefathers. In regret for her misdoings she chose this unworthy place for her sepulture. She had had a child by her first husband, Henry Cecil, who was baptized 12 June, and buried 11 July, 1777, at Hanbury.

Thomas Hoggins, the Countess's father, was Overseer of Bolas in 1785 and 1794, and was buried there 1 May, 1796. Administration to his estate was granted 27 May, 1796, to his daughter Sarah, Countess of Exeter. His wife Jane predeceased him, and was buried 27 March, 1796.

Their other children were all preferred by the kindness of the Earl of Exeter. William became a Captain in the 92nd Regiment. John was settled on a farm at Micklewood, and left a numerous family. Thomas was also an officer in the Army. Whilst James was educated at Shrewsbury School and St. John's College, Cambridge, and became Vicar of Elham in Kent. One daughter married; the remaining children all died young.

When he left Bolas, Lord Exeter gave Bolas Villa to his godchild Creswell Tayleur (son of the Rev. Creswell Tayleur, curate), who was baptized on 23 Febr., 1795. It was for him that the house was enlarged, and its name was changed to Burghley Villa. On his death in 1819 it was sold, and became the residence of Mr. Thomas Taylor, whose daughter Mrs. R. Taylor Davies now owns it.

THE MANOR.

Bolas Magna is not named in the Domesday Survey; it was at that time a member of the manor of Isombridge, which was held by Ralph de Mortimer of Earl Roger de Montgomery. Either Earl Roger or his son Earl Hugh founded the Forestership of Shropshire, and endowed it with the manors of Isombridge and Bolas, and the office was still further augmented by King Henry I. The Chief Forester had a residence at Bolas, which became a place of great importance, and the caput of the manor, Isombridge becoming merely a member of Bolas. The hereditary Foresters of Shropshire are often called "Foresters of Bolas." The name Bolas (Boulwas or Bolewas) is probably derived from the Anglo-Saxon Bold, a house, and was a marsh or fen,—“the house in the marsh”; and from the proximity of the two rivers the land must often have been marshy. The first known lord of Bolas and Chief Forester of Shropshire was Ulger Venator, who occurs as witness to a charter of Earl Hugh (1094-98); he assisted Robert de Belesme in his rebellion in 1102, but soon surrendered Bridgnorth Castle to the King, and was pardoned, and he was still living in 1135. His son William fitz Ulger, the second Chief Forester died in 1182; he was succeeded by his son Robert fitz William, who gave a rent of 4s. in Boulewas to Lilleshall Abbey, and died in 1203. In the Testa de Nevill is an account of the King's Serjeanties in Shropshire, written about 1200. The record states that “Robert, son of William, the King's Forester in Shropshire, holds in serjeantry in Bolewas half a carucate of land in demesne which is worth half a mark (per annum); and one carucate and an half there in villanage which renders 18s., and a mill which renders 10s.; and it is worth altogether 34s. 8d. He offers to the King 3 marks.” It also gives particulars of his estates in Isombridge and Cotes, and of his under-tenants' holdings in Caynton, Calvington, Orleton, and Dorrington.

Hugh fitz Robert was the fourth Chief Forester; he married at King John's request a niece of John le Strange, but renounced his fealty to the King, and his estates were forfeited; in 1217 they were restored to him by Henry III. He died in 1249, and the Inquisition taken after his death states that Bolas, with its mill, fishery, rents, and one carucate of demesne-land, was worth £8 3s. 8½d. per annum.

His son John fitz Hugh was 25 years of age in 1249. In 1272 he appears as a knight, and his estates at Bolas, Isombridge, and Brumfield (in Herefordshire) constituted a knight's fee. He died in 1284, and was succeeded by his son, Hugh fitz John, sixth hereditary Forester of Shropshire. The Tenure Roll of 1284 states that Hugh fitz John held Bowlas, with its members, viz., Meeson, Isombridge, Caynton, Calvington, Orleton, and half the vill of Sugden; that he held his free court at Bowlas twice yearly, and adjudged cases of bloodshed and hue-and-cry, and had a gallows. He died in 1292. Sara, "Lady of Boulewas," presumably John fitz Hugh's widow, held Bolas in dower, and in 1284 married Brian de Brompton.

Roger fitz John, brother and heir of Hugh, succeeded. He died in 1302, seized of Boulewas, which was worth £5 3s. 9d. per annum. His son John fitz Roger, an infant of three at his father's death, became eighth hereditary Forester of Shropshire. In 1324 he was summoned to the Great Council at Westminster. In 1327 he was assessed 15d. to the Subsidy. An Inquisition was taken in 1349, when it was found that Boulwas was worth 100s. per annum; and that John proposed to settle it on himself and his wife Petronilla, and their heirs. He died without issue about 1370.

The manor of Bolas then passed to Sir John de Eylesford (or Eynesford) and his wife Isabella, who was presumably the sister of John fitz Roger. John de Eynesford died in 1396; Isabella survived him, and married Richard de la Mare, and died in 1421. Richard de la Mare held the manor until his death in 1436. The following year it was sold, by license from the Crown to Sir John Talbot, afterwards second Earl of Shrewsbury.

The manor remained in the possession of the Talbots until 1565, when George, sixth Earl of Shrewsbury, sold it to Thurstan Woodcocke, of Newport, and Thomas Kerdiffe (or Cardiff).

Thurstan Woodcock's moiety passed at his death in 1587 to his son Thomas Woodcock, who died seized of it in 1616, when it came to his son Thomas. This Thomas Woodcock and Elizabeth his wife, and their son Thomas and Mary his wife, in 1632, sold this moiety to Creswell Tayleur. (William Hill, cousin and heir of Humphrey Hill, seems to have had some interest in this moiety in 1601).

Thomas Cardiff's moiety descended to his son Roger Cardiff, who sold it in 1620 to John Tayleur (or Taylor), of Longdon-upon-Tern, who in 1632 settled it upon his son Creswell Tayleur on his marriage with Ann Steventon of Dothill.

The whole manor of Bolas thus became vested in Creswell Tayleur, and it continued in the Tayleur family for nearly 200 years, until the death of Mr. Creswell Tayleur in 1819, when his estates were divided among his four sisters. Rachael Anne, the eldest of these, married on May 2, 1804, the Rev. Edward Scott Dickenson, who in 1836 sold the site of the ancient manor-house and the demesne lands to Messrs. John and Thomas Taylor, the sons of Mr. Richard Taylor of Crudgington. The manor of Bolas is now presumably vested in their descendants. Mr. Thomas Taylor's property passed to his daughter, Mrs. R. Taylor Davies.

In olden times, Isombridge, Old Caynton, Calvington, Orleton, half Sugden, and Meeson were all members of the manor of Bolas. Meeson is now its only township. MEESON was held by a family who took its name from the place. William de Meston occurs in 1245, and the surname Meeson is frequent in the Registers. The township passed with Bolas, through its various changes, to the Tayleurs, who resided at Meeson Hall for several generations. In 1836 the Rev. Edward Scott Dickenson and his wife sold the subordinate manor of Meeson with its manor-house and demesnes to Mr. John Ogle of Longdon-upon-Tern (the only child of the Rev. Richard Ogle, Curate of Preston on the Weald Moors). Meeson contains about 630 acres. Its population in 1841 was 85.

Seven inhabitants of Bolas Magna were assessed to the Subsidy of 1327:—John fitz Roger 15d.; Richard Calueser' 6d.; Richard fil' Pyck' 6d.; Thomas de Meston 6d.; Roger Bercar 12d.; John Serjant 12d., and Richard Payn 12d. In the Muster Roll of 1538 Humfrey Bauge and John Sockett, billman, were of Bolas.

There was a chapel at Isombridge at least as early as the 13th century, built by some lord of the manor, of which the lords of Bolas were the patrons. It was still standing in 1535, but has long since disappeared.

The patronage of the rectory was vested in the hereditary Foresters of Bolas, who presented the rectors. Thus in 1322 John fitz Roger presented, and again in 1349 and 1353 as Sir John de Boulewas, knight. In 1377 and 1388 Sir John de Eyneford presented, and in 1414 Richard de la Mare and Isabel his wife. In 1454 John Talbot, Earl of Shrewsbury presented; in 1463 and 1467, Elizabeth, Countess of Shrewsbury; and in 1497, 1503, 1515, 1527, and 1531, George, Earl of Shrewsbury. In 1662 and 1694 Creswell Tayleur presented. Browne Willis states that Mr. Kinaston was patron in 1727. The patronage afterwards passed to the Hills of Hawkestone; Sir Rowland Hill occurs as patron, and Viscount Hill in 1851. In 1877 General Turner was patron, and Miss Miller in 1886.

THE CHURCH.

The Church at Bolas is dedicated to St. John the Baptist. There was a church here at least as early as the 13th century, but, as the Rev. D. H. S. Cranage has pointed out, no part of the mediaeval building remains, except possibly two stones in the arch of the east window. The present church consists of chancel, nave and western tower, with two bells. The chancel is about forty years earlier in date than the nave. It is of stone, and is a mixture of Classic and of debased Gothic style. It was built in 1690, at the cost of Mr. John Tourneur, 32 years rector of Bolas, who died 18 January, 1693-94, as is clear from the Register, which states that he was buried under the Communion Table in "this Chancell which hee unconstrainedly and generously erected on his Sole Charges about 3 years before his Death." The nave was taken down in 1726-27; the Register states,—“The Old Church demolished on ye 10 April, 1727.” The new nave and tower are built of brick, with stone quoins and dressings. The cost was £331, which was raised mostly by Briefs. The design was the work of John Willdigg, who is described as “one of the trustees and manager.” The new church was opened on 23 June, 1728. There is a gallery at the west end, with some massive oak pews of pre-Reformation date. The squire's pew, below the pulpit, has a row of balusters round the top. The font dates from 1843. There is a brass in the chancel to John Tourneur, 1693; a mural tablet of Thomas Griffiths, 1745; and another to John Ogle, esq., 1840. In the tower are two bells, both quite plain.

The Church Goods Return of 3 Edward VI. gives this information about the bells and plate:—“Bollas, ij bellis of oone accorde and a sackryng bell, oone chaleys of sylver wythe a patten over gyld.” In 1553 the Return is as follows:—“Boolas, 4 May, 7 Edward VI., John Penson, curate; Holyfer Becher, Fowke Anderson, Roger Broke, Wyllyam Scoton and John Lyle. Two small bells, a small chalice of silver.” In 1740 and 1752 there were at “Bowlas Magna 2 Bells.”

The Religious Census of 1676, states that there were at Bowlas Magna, in the Deanery of Newport, 120 conformists, no Papists, and 7 Nonconformists, all “inhabitants above the age of 16.” The whole population would then be about 250. The seven Nonconformists were probably those who were attached to Edward Bury, the puritan Rector ejected in 1662.

(Walker's Sufferings of the Clergy, Part ii, p. 310).* He presumably died during the Commonwealth, as he was not reinstated in 1662. His father, Thomas Martin, died June 20, 1635, aged 78, and was buried at Forton.

He was born in Worcestershire, 1616, and educated at Coventry; was chaplain in a private family until appointed to Bolas. On March 7, 1653, he was chosen "publicque Register" of the parish. He signs each year until 1660 as "minister and Register," and in 1661 as Rector. He was "suspected of desiring the King's restoration," and his life was threatened. On March 26, 1662, he subscribed £1 to the Free and Voluntary Present to His Majesty. On the passing of the Act of Uniformity he left Bolas, but built a house in the neighbourhood where he ministered, when permitted. He died at Eaton in Stoke upon Tern parish, May 5, 1700, aged 84, and was buried May 7th at Bolas. His widow Mary Bury was interred 30 January, 1703-4. He was the author of eight small works. (Calamy's Nonconformists' Memoriat, ed. Palmer, III., 140—143).

The Register
Eaton Constantine.

Eaton Constantine Registers.

EATON CONSTANTINE is a parish and village, situate about seven miles south-east from Shrewsbury and five miles south-west from Wellington, in the rural deanery of Wrockwardine, archdeaconry of Salop, diocese of Lichfield, and hundred of South Bradford. Its area is 945 acres in the civil parish, and 874 in the ecclesiastical; and its population in 1801 was 204; in 1831, 244; in 1891, 232; and in 1901, 201. At the Domesday Survey, Etune was part of the possessions of Earl Roger de Montgomery, and was held under him by Rainald the Sheriff. It was a manor of two hides. In demesne were two teams; and 4 serfs, 2 ancillæ 1 villain and 5 boors had another team, and still there was room for two more teams. There was a fishery in the river Severn, and a small wood.

The family of Fitz-Alan succeeded to the possessions of Rainald the Sheriff; under them it was held (as likewise was Oldbury), by the family of Costentin or Constantine, and was known hereafter as Eaton Constantine. In 1165, Helyas de Constantine, who was head of the family, held it by service of half a knight's fee. In 1215, Thomas de Constantine took the side of John Fitz-Alan in his rebellion against King John, in consequence of which his lands were forfeited and granted to John fitz Philip, but in 1217 he had returned to his allegiance, and his lands were restored to him. By a fine levied in 1269 the manor was conceded to Thomas de Constantine for his life, with remainder to Adam de Montgomery and Isabella de Constantine, his wife, and the heirs of Adam. Adam de Montgomery died in 1290. In 1316, William de Leighton occurs as lord of Eaton Constantine. In 1331, one Maculine is stated to be lord. In 1350, Sir Walter de Hopton was lord. In 1462, Walter Hopton, Esq., died seized of the manor. The Thornhill family also had some interest in the manor. Richard Thornhull occurs 1393. In 1397-8, amongst the estates of Richard, Earl of Arundel, forfeited to the Crown, was half a knight's fee in Eaton Constantine held by William Thornhull. William de Thornhull also occurs in 1403. In the 15th century the manor belonged to the Corbet family. In 1475, Sir Richard Corbet, knight, was the lord; he was going to cross the sea with the King, and had had licence on 6th Oct., 1473, to enfeof Thomas Monington and others of his manors, amongst others Eaton Constantine.

In the 17th century the manor passed to the Newports, with whom it remained till 1735, when the 3rd Earl of Bradford left it in trust for John Newport, alias Harrison. On his death in 1783, it came to Sir William Johnstone, in right of his wife Frances Pulteney, cousin of the Earl of Bath. He took the name of Pulteney, and died in 1805, when the manor passed to William Henry Vane, 3rd Earl of Darlington, who was created in 1833 Duke of Cleveland. On the death of the 4th Duke in 1891, it came to Lord Barnard, who is now lord of the manor and chief land-owner.

Three persons were assessed to the Subsidy of 1327, in respect of their lands at Etone, viz., William le Spencer, xviiij. ; William de Harleye, ijs. ; Richard Rotar', xiiij.

Eaton Constantine is associated with the name of Richard Baxter, the celebrated Nonconformist divine and author of the Saint's Rest, who, though born at Rowton in 1615, lived here for some time from 1625 onwards at his father's house, a black and white building, which is still standing. His father was a freeholder, and resided here. Baxter is traditionally said to have played upon the village green.

Castle Hill and the Stanway (a field on the Wroxeter side of the parish) are names worthy of note ; the latter gaining interest from the site of Roman occupation at Wroxeter.

There are two charities in the parish. A small sum arising from the Poor's Stock is distributed annually amongst widows. The five " most necessitous men in the parish " receive the interest on a sum of money left by William Warham, whose will was proved on the 3rd Sept., 1816.

Calamy states that George Moxon, the ejected Minister of Radwinter, in Essex, lived and died here at the house of his brother-in-law, Sheriff Sute, but the early register, beginning in 1684, has no reference to either name.

The population has grown, although there is a tendency to decrease in later years. According to the Religious Census in 1676 there were " 75 Conformists, no Papists, 4 Nonconformists," which gives a population of about 150. The increase to nearly 300 in the middle of the last century was due, to a great extent, to the mines in the locality. The population has now fallen again to what it was a hundred years ago.

The Church, which is dedicated to St. Mary (according to Eyton) was originally a chapelry of Leighton, which always maintained the right of burial over Eaton Constantine. Its foundation was of considerable antiquity, as appears from its Norman font and from its early incumbents. The Taxation of Pope Nicholas in 1291 values it at thirty shillings. In 1341 it was rated at ten shillings only, because it was small and poor, and there had been a murrain among the sheep. In 1534-5 the " free chapel " of Eaton Constantine was worth only £1 6s. 2d. per annum. Though styled a " free chapel " it early became a rectory.

The old church was taken down and the present church erected in 1847-8 at a cost of £775. It consists of nave, chancel with north vestry, south porch, and western bell-gable. The windows are mostly lancets. The font dates from the middle of the 12th century ; it is circular, its inner diameter being about 20 inches. In two chairs in the chancel some late 15th century panels with quatrefoils, fleurs-de-lis, &c., have been let in.

The Church Goods Return of 3 Edward VI. has this :—" Chapel of Yeton Constantyne. ij smale bell' of a coorde and oone Chaleys wthe patten of sylver." The Return of 4th May, 7 Edward VI., gives Two small bells, a chalice of silver with the paten. Thomas Wryght and Thomas Rocke were churchwardens.

In 1740 and 1752 there were two bells. In 1814 there was a turret with one bell. In 1893 the old bell, which had no inscription, was recast by Taylor of Loughborough, and put up in an open gable-cot.

The Burial ground was opened in 1850. Prior to that year all interments took place at Leighton.

Amongst the Communion plate are a tankard, almsdish and paten of pewter, and a silver chalice. The last was a domestic cup of 1601-2, and bears the initials MS stamped in dots, with possibly an emblem or letter, defaced, over them.

The patronage of the vestry was anciently vested in the Constantines. In 1350, Sir Walter de Hopton presented; in 1393, Richard Thornhull and Florence his wife; in 1403, William Thornehull. In 1673, the Bishop presented by lapse. In 1679, Francis, Viscount Newport presented, and in 1689 and 1699, Richard Newport, Esq. In 1739, Anne Smith presented, as the guardian of John Newport, Esq., to whom Henry, 3rd Earl of Bradford had left his property in trust. William, Earl of Bath occurs as patron in 1749 and 1751; and in 1781 John Newport, Esq., presented. He died two years later, and the Earl of Bath in 1805, when the patronage passed to the Vanes. The 1st Duke of Cleveland presented in 1823 and 1832, and the 4th Duke in 1889, on whose death in 1891 the patronage passed to Lord Barnard, the present patron, who presented to the living in 1912.

The Parish Register Abstract of 1831 gives this information about the Registers :—

“Eaton Constantine R. Nos. I., II. Registers 1684—1812. No. III., Marriages 1780—1811. No burial ground ; burials at Leighton.”

The Salop County Council's Return of “Shropshire Parish Documents,” 1903, has this :—

“General Register, 1684—1768.

Register containing :—Baptisms, 1740—1812 ; Marriages, 1772—1796.

Register of Marriages, 1780—1811.”

This last account is not strictly accurate. Volume I. is a parchment book, measuring $9\frac{1}{2}$ inches by 6 inches, and contains entries of baptisms and marriages from 1684 to 1740, with one entry of 1768, and inside the cover one entry of 1693 and three undated entries. Volume II. is also a parchment book ; it measures 12 inches by $6\frac{1}{4}$ inches, and begins in 1740, and it contains marriages to 1796 and baptisms to 1812. Volume III. contains entries of marriages from 1780 to 1811. The volumes are in good condition, and have been carefully kept. There are no entries of burials in these Registers, as the parishioners of Eaton Constantine were formerly interred at Leighton.

Amongst the peculiarities in the Christian names that occur in the Registers are double Christian names in 1764 and 1765, Flora as a man's name, Ruja and Sidonia.

It only remains to add that the Registers were transcribed by Mr. T. R. Horton, and have been collated, and the proofs as they passed through the press compared with the original Registers, by the present Rector, by whose permission they are now printed. Much of this introduction is due to the researches of the Rev. W. G. D. Fletcher.
