Note for the Reader.

--1465359

With the present volume is completed the ninth volume of the Registers of the Diocese of Lichfield. It consists of the long Register of Wem, together with those of the daughter parishes of Edstaston and Newtown, and is issued as a memorial of the late Rector of Wem, the Hon. and Rev. Gilbert H. F. Vane.

Mr. Vane himself copied the long Register of Wem, in the intervals of a busy ministerial life, and it was always his hope and wish that it might be printed at an early date. This has been done, with the kind assistance of a number of his friends in Wem, who raised the sum of fifty pounds in aid of the cost of printing. The thanks of the Society are due to them, and also to the incumbents who have given facilities for their Registers to be copied or collated. The Register of Wem, as it passed through the press, was mainly collated by the Rev. W. G. D. Fletcher, but Miss Auden collated volume V., and Miss Hope-Edwardes volume VI. The Register of Edstaston was transcribed and collated by the Rev. F. T. Purcell, and that of Newtown was transcribed by Mr. T. R. Horton, and collated by the Rev. Henry Phillips Lee. To all these thanks are also due.

For the biographical sketch of Mr. Vane which follows we are indebted to the Rev. Prebendary Auden, M.A., F.S.A., Vicar of Condover. The accompanying illustration, which forms the frontispiece, is the work of Carl Hentschel, after a photograph by Maull and Fox.

The Registers are not printed verbatim et literatim, but in the abstract form used in all the Registers, and the abbreviations are readily apparent to the general reader. It is necessary to add here, that, on consulting pages 1 to 96, it is necessary to refer to the voluminous ADDENDA ET CORRIGENDA which follow the Introduction to the Wem Register.

GILBERT HOLLES FARRER VANE.

A BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH.

The accompanying volume is issued as a memorial of the late Rev. the Hon. Gilbert H. F. Vane, successively Vicar of High Ercall and Rector of Wem.

All who were acquainted with him in life will recognise the appropriateness of perpetuating his memory in this form, for it brings together what were in some respects the predominant features of his career, namely, love of his sacred calling and love of antiquity. Next to the spiritual duties of his office he found pleasure in bringing to light the records of the past, especially as they were enshrined in Registers and other parochial Records, and the possession of the volume will serve to remind many beyond his immediate circle how great a loss churchmen of all classes of society sustained when he was taken away, at the early age of 49.

A younger brother of Lord Barnard, he was educated at Eton and Trinity College, Cambridge, where he graduated in Classical honours in 1878, and took his M.A. degree four years later. After a year at Leeds Clergy School, he was ordained in 1879 to the Curacy of Louth. Having afterwards served the Curacies of Datchet and St. Peter's, Eaton Square, he was presented in 1889, by the late Duke of Cleveland, to the Vicarage of High Ercall, Salop, where he remained till 1895, when he moved to the Rectory of Wem, on the presentation of Lord Barnard. In 1897 he was made Rural Dean of Wem, and only a year before his death was elected Proctor in Convocation for the Clergy of the Archdeaconry of Salop in Lichfield.

As already stated he was a keen antiquary, giving special attention to Parish documents, and he was a member of the Council both of the Shropshire Archæological Society and the Shropshire Parish Register Society. The transactions of the former contain many papers from his pen; and he had been an F.S.A. since 1901.

It will thus be seen that his sympathies were wide, and his mind many-sided. Conscientious to the last degree as a Parish Priest, he yet found time for other interests which gave freshness to his thoughts on the more sacred things of his profession. His peculiar charm, however, was his gentle disposition. He was not without his ambitions, and he could be firm when necessary, but he was wholly incapable of being aggressive, or wanting in consideration for the feelings of others.

Indeed he won the hearts of all who were associated with him, whether in parochial work or other fields of labour.

His health had for many years been delicate, but there seemed no reason why he should not with ordinary care live to a good old age. In the spring of 1905, however, he broke down, and went away for rest, but without the wished-for result. In obedience to medical orders he consented to a longer respite from work, and moved to the bracing atmosphere of Buxton; but dangerous symptoms supervened, and on June 27th, 1905, he passed away, leaving a widow and one daughter to mourn his loss.

In accordance with his expressed wish, his body was laid to rest on the following Friday in the Churchyard of High Ercall amid a large concourse of sorrowing friends and parishioners. Those, however, who stood beside his grave, and indeed all who knew him, feel that nothing could express their estimate of his character, as well as his own aims in life, better than the epitaph which he desired might be placed in High Ercall Church, near the Memorials of the two Vicars of that Parish whom he mentions :—

“ He believed in the Holy Catholic Church, and the Communion of Saints. He aimed at being classed with faithful Priests, like George Herbert, whose works he loved, and George Bucknill, whom he found to be wonderfully remembered here, and John Hotchkis, whose pious prayer he often quoted :

*“Reminiscaris me defunctum ; tuque, pastor proxime, fidelis esto
ἐν τῇ ἱερατείᾳ σοι δοῦσῃ.”*

“Ille jacet qui assidue pro pace Ecclesiae oravit.”

[At least one page is here missing. A number of entries follow extending from Sep. 10, 1695, to Mar. 24, 1696-7. These, with a very few exceptions, are repeated in Vols. III. & IV. It has seemed best therefore to combine these items of information, which in some instances are given in three places, under the next heading. Any variations in the spelling of the names, &c., which occur in Vol. II., are given in parentheses.]

VOLS. III. & IV.
