Report for the Years 1888-9 and 1889-90.

Read at the Annual Meeting, held in the Audit Room of the Chetham Hospital, Manchester, November 5th, 1890.

THE members of the Society are aware that last year, owing to various causes, no Meeting of the Society was held. The present Report has, therefore, to deal with the proceedings of the two years, 1888-9 and 1889-90.

Since the last Annual Meeting, held on the 31st October, 1888, four volumes have been delivered to the members; two volumes are now in the printers' hands, and two others are very nearly ready for the press. Of the volumes delivered to the members, Vol. XVII., Lancashire Inquisitions, Stuart Period, Vol. III., 1622 to 1625, and Vol. XVIII., Index to the Wills at Chester, 1681 to 1700, were fully described in the last Report. The remaining volumes, XIX. and XX., are the two volumes for the year 1888-9, and were issued some months since. Vol. XIX. is entitled:—'Memorials of the Civil War in Cheshire and the adjacent counties,' by Thomas Malbon, of Nantwich, gent., and 'Providence Improved,' by Edward Burghall, Vicar of Acton, near Nantwich, edited by Mr. James Hall, author of 'A History of Nantwich.' This is a most interesting volume, and a valuable historical record of one of the most eventful periods in the history of England. The origin of the two MSS. here printed is not a little curious. In the year 1778, Burghall's "Providence Improved" was printed for the first time at the end of the second of two miscellaneous volumes relating to Cheshire, rather absurdly entitled "The History of Cheshire." It was afterwards reprinted in 1819 by Dr. Ormerod in his "History of Cheshire," and again in 1855 by the late Mr. T. Worthington Barlow at the end of his book entitled "Cheshire: its Historical and Literary Associations," but in none of these was it accurately done. In each case the first version, which was full of errors, was copied. From its first publication it was recognised as an extremely important addition to Cheshire history, and has been freely quoted by all writers on Cheshire, from Dr. Ormerod downwards. A few years ago, however, a MS. was referred to in the fifth Report of the Royal Historical MSS. Commission as being in the possession of Reginald Cholmondeley, Esq., at Condober Hall, near Shrewsbury, which, on being examined by Mr. Hall, was found to be a very full contemporary account of the Civil War in and around Nantwich, drawn up by Thomas Malbon, a resident in that town. This MS. is now here printed in its entirety for the first time, and it is perfectly clear that it has been the source from whence the Rev. Edward Burghall compiled his "Providence Improved" about the year 1660. Malbon's "Memorials" only relate to the period 1642 to 1648, and Burghall has added a number of so-called "providences" referring to a period of twelve years or so before and after Malbon. In order to show the correlation of these two MSS. they have been printed in this volume in close juxtaposition the one to the other, Malbon's "Memorials," as being the more valuable, as well as the fuller, being in larger type than Burghall's.

As printed in this volume (XIX.) these two MSS. will be found full of very interesting reading and they are simply invaluable for the history of the period to which they relate. Instead of a dry record of the action of the various commanders on either side during the Civil War in Cheshire and the adjacent counties, they are crowded with incidents of much local and general importance, which help to bring the character of that struggle and its chief actors before us in a very graphic manner. Mr. Hall has edited this volume with much care; and, in addition to a very full introduction, he has printed a "Chronological Table of Contents," which will be found very useful, and has added several Appendices containing much matter of importance.

Volume XX., which is the Index to the Wills and Inventories now preserved at Chester from 1701 to 1720, has, like the previous Lists of Wills at Chester, been edited by Mr. J. P. Earwaker. The Council can only re-iterate what was stated in the last Report, and express their gratification that there has now been placed in the hands of the members the complete list of all the wills relating to Lancashire and Cheshire, known to be preserved at Chester, from the earliest date, 1545, to the year 1720, as well as those which were proved in London between the years 1650 and 1660, when the Diocesan Courts of Probate were closed. The total number of wills calendared in the five volumes now printed, embracing the periods, 1545 to 1620, 1621 to 1660, 1660 to 1680, 1681 to 1700, and 1701 to 1720, cannot be far short of 90,000! As the names are arranged in strictly alphabetical order, it is now possible for any one to ascertain, with little or no trouble, what wills belonging to any particular Lancashire or Cheshire family, down to the year 1720, are now preserved at Chester, and this too without the necessity or expense of a visit to Chester and a special search through each year's Index in the Probate Registry there. It is, therefore, not surprising that these volumes have been the most frequently consulted of any printed by the Society, and that the example which the Record Society has set, with regard to the wills at Chester, has been and is being followed by other Societies in various parts of England. The Council hope to continue the printing of these lists from time to time down to the year 1780 or possibly 1800.

The two volumes for the year 1889-90 will probably be (1) the "Register of Leyland, co. Lancaster," 1653 to 1710, edited, with a careful Introduction and an account of the church and parish, by the Rev. W. Stuart White, M.A., Curate of Leyland, and (2) a further volume of the Index to the Wills at Chester, 1721 to 1740, edited by Mr. Earwaker. Of these the first volume is already in the press and the second will be sent to press shortly. The two volumes for the current year, 1890-91, will consist of a "Miscellaneous Volume" (the second volume of that character issued by the Society) and the first volume of the "Lancashire Royalist Composition Papers" (arranged alphabetically, A to F), edited by the Rev. J. H. Stanning, M.A., Vicar of Leigh. This latter volume is now ready for the press and the former will be ready next year. The Council propose to print in this Miscellaneous Volume several records of much local value, to be selected from a number of documents, such as Subsidy Rolls, Lists of Papist Recusants, &c., now in the hands of the Hon. Secretary. The Council hope that these volumes will be issued to the members before the next Annual Meeting.

The following is the complete list of the Society's publications already printed or arranged for, up to the present time:—

XXIV. The Royalist Composition Papers relating to Lancashire. Part I. A to F.

The last four volumes are those now in hand.

Two volumes have been issued in each year, except on two occasions, when a single volume of more than average thickness was substituted for the two volumes.

In previous Reports attention has been directed to the various volumes which the Council hope to be able to issue in future years. Of these, perhaps the most important is the Index to the Raines MSS., now in the Chetham Library, Manchester, and to the Piccope, Palmer, Barritt, and other local MSS. there, which will form the first of a series of volumes, describing the contents of the various MSS. relating to Lancashire and Cheshire, now preserved in the different public libraries in the two counties. Since the last Report, Mr. J. E. Tinkler, recently Librarian at the Chetham Library, has completed the Index to the 45 folio volumes of the Raines MSS., and this is now ready for the press. It is not, however, quite sufficient to make a volume, and the Council hope to be able to include the Indices to the other MSS. in the Chetham Library, so as to form a complete record of the valuable MS. material for local history there preserved.

Mr. J. A. C. Vincent has made considerable progress with his Report on the Lancashire Lay Subsidy Rolls, but the Council regret that the volume is not yet fully printed. When completed it will be found full of original information of much local value.

As announced in the last Report, the important Court Rolls of the great Honor of Clitheroe, co. Lancaster, have during the past few years been carefully examined by two members of the Society, Mr. A. J. Robinson, of Clitheroe Castle, and Mr. W. Ecroyd, of Burnley, who have kindly agreed to allow the results of their labours to be printed by this Society. The great quantity of material, and the trouble of making such selections as will show the true value of these ancient Rolls, are difficulties which the Council trust these gentlemen will be able to overcome, so that their account of them, with copious extracts from the Rolls, may be printed before long.

The Council hope to obtain permission to print the Early Marriage Licences relating to Lancashire and Cheshire, preserved in the Bishop's Registry, Chester, which begin in 1608. These Marriage Licences contain information of great genealogical value, which well deserves to be placed on permanent record. They are also of use in supplying the names of the local clergy who were licensed to celebrate these marriages.

Since the last Report, full abstracts of all the Cheshire Royalist Composition Papers have been made at the Record Office, London, and the Council hope to print these documents at no distant date. The method of arranging, and the value of this class of local records were described in the Report for 1887 in the following terms, which may be repeated here: "The simplest arrangement will probably be an alphabetical one, as that will bring the many scattered documents together under the name of the person to whom they relate. Much light is thrown by these records on the tyrannical and arbitrary means employed by those in authority in confiscating the property of the Royalists, and the hardships that the latter had to undergo. These Royalist Composition Papers, relating as they do to a period (1644 to 1652) of very great public interest, will make singularly valuable volumes for the history of both Lancashire and Cheshire, and will supply a mass of information entirely new, the very existence of which, up to a few years ago, was unsuspected."

Several important MSS. have recently been offered to the Council for publication, such as the "Plundered Ministers' Accounts" for Lancashire and Cheshire during the Civil War and Commonwealth period, to be edited by Mr. W. A. Shaw, M.A.; the early Registers of Whalley, co. Lancaster, commencing 1538, to be edited by Mr. W. A. Abram; and the Roll of the Freemen of the City of Chester, to be edited by Mr. T. Cann Hughes, B.A. These are before the Council, whose desire is to print such records as will be found of interest to the great majority of the members of the Society, rather than those which are likely to be of service to a few members only.

The death of Mr. Thomas Hughes, F.S.A., of Chester, who was a member of the Council from the commencement of the Society, has caused a vacancy in the Council, which has been filled by the appointment of Mr. Henry Taylor, F.S.A., of Chester, Town Clerk of Flint.

The Council wish to direct special attention to the fact that the number of members is now much below the 350 names, to which the Society is limited, and they are most anxious that this should be remedied. The volumes issued by the Society are of great value for the history of Lancashire and Cheshire, and the Council think it cannot be a difficult matter for the present members to interest their friends in a Society, which has done and is doing such good work.

 The Council must again refer to Rule 5, under which no volume can be delivered to any member whose subscription is in arrear.

The Balance-sheets, showing the receipts and expenditure of the Society for the years 1888-9 and 1889-90, will be found on the next pages.

INTRODUCTION.

 HIS volume had its origin in a desire to provide a duplicate copy of the Registers of the parish of Leyland, so that research might be facilitated, the originals saved from wear and tear, and the important matter contained in them safeguarded from accidental loss through fire or other mishap. The first portion of the Register was copied whilst waiting for funerals, which, in this parish, are frequent and sometimes unpunctual. The idea of publication, which was an afterthought, supplied the incentive for completion. The offer of the Lancashire and Cheshire Record Society to include a transcript of the earliest volume of the Registers amongst its publications, afforded an opportunity which was gladly embraced. The genealogical and other notes which have been appended to most of the important entries in the following pages are intended to serve merely as indications of the value of these entries to those who are unaccustomed to the scientific use of such sources of information. It is hoped that the care bestowed upon them will have insured a large measure of accuracy.

The Historical Introduction, with which it was intended to furnish this volume, has had to be put aside, owing to the unforeseen length to which the transcript of the Register, with its notes, has grown. The material, which has been accumulated for that purpose, may possibly see the light at some future time in a different form. A brief survey of the parish and church of Leyland, with a list of the Vicars (so far as they are at present known), must on the present occasion suffice.

The parish of LEYLAND is of considerable extent, and has a history of something like a thousand years. It is situated in that part of Lancashire which lies between the Ribble and the Mersey, and may originally have been co-extensive with the hundred of Leyland. There have always been, however, within historic memory, as many as six ancient parishes within that hundred: Leyland, Penwortham, Croston, Eccleston, Standish, and Brindle. These parishes, with the forty townships of which they consist, are constantly mentioned in the Leyland Registers. The parish of Leyland is bounded on the east by the parish of Blackburn, on the north by the parish of Penwortham, on the west by the parish of Croston, and on the south by the parish of Standish, while the parish of Bolton-le-Moors touches it at the south-eastern corner. The extreme measurement is (roughly) nine miles from east to west and five miles from north-west to south-east.

There are nine townships within the parish of Leyland, which have from time immemorial been grouped as follows:—Leyland and Euxton have invariably been the first and second quarters; Whittle-le-Woods, Clayton-le-Woods, and Cuerden have together formed the third quarter; Heapey, Wheelton, Hoghton, and Withnell have always been known as the fourth, or Moor quarter.

There are good grounds for supposing that Leyland dates back far into the Saxon era as an ecclesiastical centre, but there is no direct historical evidence to prove its existence till the reign of William Rufus. Although the Domesday Book does not speak of the church of Leyland, yet it does mention a priest resident there, and it is surely no unfair inference that he had a church and an altar for his ministry. The Chartulary of Evesham Abbey (Worcestershire) and the private deeds of the local families supply us with the information that a donation of the churches of Leyland, Penwortham, the chapel of Meols, and other appurtenances of his lordship, was made by Warin Bussel, a comrade and adherent of Roger of Poitou, soon after the Conquest. (See Hulton's Priory of Penwortham, Chetham Society, vol. xxx.) The connection of Matilda, the wife of Warin Bussel, by association and ownership with the town of Evesham suggests a motive for his gift of Lancashire territory, &c., to the Worcestershire monastery. This donation was confirmed and added to by successive members of the same family, so that the Abbot and Convent of Evesham continued to enjoy the whole of the great tithes of the district and the advowson of the church until the suppression of the Abbey in 1536. A special provision for a perpetual vicar was made in 1331, under the licence of the King and the sanction of the Bishop of the diocese (Lichfield). A papal bull given on the occasion is also in existence.

No considerable change took place in the state of the parish or the position of the vicar until the era of the Reformation saw the patronage transferred to the family of Fleetwood, which had become possessed, by purchase from the Crown, of the neighbouring priory of Penwortham. The disturbed period from 1645 to 1660 left fewer marks upon the parish than might have been expected. Vicar Langley, who was growing old when the Presbyterian system was adopted, sat as a prominent member of the sixth Classis. His successor, Rothwell, was not sufficiently puritanical for the zealots, and so he was driven into hiding until "the King enjoyed his own again," when he re-assumed the duties of his office. In 1690 the Crown conferred upon "the poor Vicar of Leyland" a confiscated estate which had been assigned to "charitable uses." The sale of the Fleetwood property in 1748 led to the transfer of the advowson of Leyland Church to the Baldwin family, which has supplied seven of its members as vicars of the said church. The Rev. Thomas Baldwin, M.A., the first of these, was also one of the co-rectors of Liverpool, succeeding the Rev. Henry Richmond in 1721.

The fabric of Leyland Church as at present standing is worthy of inspection, although it cannot compare with many other buildings of the same date. The western tower (which is about twenty-four feet square) and the chancel are the only parts which are ancient, the nave having been destroyed and rebuilt in 1816. The date assigned to these existing portions is about A.D. 1350. From some fragments which were removed from the foundations of the south-west wall, it is evident that a church of Norman construction stood on the same site. The interior of the chancel has some features of special interest. The three sedilia form an arcading under a simple roll moulding, a fourth arch covers a double piscina. Opposite to these, in the thickness of the north wall, is one of those curious openings known as low-side windows, the middle point of which is in a direct line with the centre of the altar. Upon one of the window ledges rest six chained books (popularly supposed to be Bibles), of which one is a black-letter copy of Foxe's Book of Martyrs. The south-west corner of the nave is occupied by the ffarington Chapel, the right to which was confirmed by Bishop Chadderton, in 1591. It represents the ancient chantry chapel of S. Nicholas, founded sometime in the fourteenth century by the lord of the manor. The tower has a peal of six bells, dating mostly from 1722. The churchyard possesses some ancient and curious memorials of the departed. There are no less than twenty-five rude incised crosses in different parts of the yard, and some of them plainly show the chalice and book of the ecclesiastic. Most of these are said to be as early as the fourteenth century. One stone dated 1558 is well worth attention.

The Communion plate is comparatively modern, but one cup looks as though it had been remodelled. Two pattens, each with a foot, were given by Mrs. Elizabeth ffarington, widow, in 1716. Two tall flagons and a cup were the gift of Samuel Crook, gentleman, in 1759. Besides these there is a small patten, a salver, and a double-handled (pint) cup.

Chuntries or Oratories existed at Euxton and at Heapey in the sixteenth century. Within the present century churches have been built and districts assigned to Heapey, Hoghton, Whittle, and Withnell. Euxton is an endowed curacy; but whether a separate parish or not, does not clearly appear. The church of St. James, Leyland, built and endowed by the liberality of the ffarington family, has, since 1855, supplied the necessities of the western portion of the parish. St. Ambrose Church (at present a chapel of ease) stands on the northern boundary of the parish. The late vicar and his wife contributed very largely towards its erection.

The following is the list of the Vicars of Leyland as far as their names have been at present traced. It was originally intended to have given particulars of most of them, collected from original deeds, wills, the parish registers, &c., but the space at my disposal does not now permit of this.

I very sincerely regret that the Rev. T. Rigbye Baldwin, Vicar of Leyland, who gave his sanction to this publication, has not lived to see its issue and to receive the befitting acknowledgment of the favour thus granted. Without the kind encouragement, assistance, and counsel of the Hon. Secretary of the Record Society, J. P. Earwaker, Esq., M.A., F.S.A., I should not have been able to present the work in the form which it now assumes. To the same gentleman my thanks are also due for supervising the proof sheets and for many suggestions, &c. Valuable assistance has also been received from Miss ffarrington, of Worden Hall, Leyland, W. A. Abram, Esq., of Blackburn, and W. Brown-Clayton, Esq., of Brown's Hill, Ireland.

An apology is offered to the members of the Society for the unavoidable delay which has attended the completion of this book.

The Registers of the Parish of Leyland (co. Lanc.).

THE earliest Register of the parish of Leyland, now extant, commences in 1653, those of prior date being unfortunately lost. It has therefore been thought desirable to print here the few "Transcripts" of the entries in these Registers, which are now preserved at the Bishop's Registry at Chester. Every clergyman was directed to forward to the Bishop of the diocese a copy of the entries of Baptisms, Marriages, and Burials made in his parish Register during each year, and such copy had to be certified as correct by himself and the churchwardens. Much irregularity prevailed in the sending of these "Transcripts," as they are technically called, and much laxity was shown in their safe preservation, even when they reached the custody of the Bishop's officials. Hence it is that there are now only seven documents of this class relating to Leyland prior to the year 1653, namely, those for the years 1622, 1629, 1630, 1637, 1639, 1640, and 1641, each comprising the entries for a single year only. As the legal year then began on the 25th March, the entries run from that date till the 24th March following.

De nupt'.

William Morresbie & Jonie Lyptrott, married the xxth daye of Maye, Aō p^rdict.

Richard Boulton and Alice Boardman, married the first day of December, Aō p^rdict.

William ffrarrington³ and Alice Somner, married the xxiiijth daye of January, Aō p^rdict.

William Worsley and Elizabeth Peareson, married the xxiiijth day of ffebruarie.

Richard Bannester and Alice Blackborne were married the same daye.

Raphe Cowp⁴ and Alice Bushell,⁵ married the same daye Aō p^rdict.

Leyland, of Morleys, a reputed manor situated in Astley (near Bedford, co. Lanc.), was the son of John Leyland, who married Eleanor, d. of Sir Ric: Molyneux. As the Molyneux family owned the lordship of Euxton, this may suggest a connection. A family of Leylands, of yeoman rank, was resident for many years in Clayton. Representatives of the original stock settled in West Derby, Kellmergh (in Kirkham parish), &c. The founder of the eminent Liverpool firm seems to have sprung from Preston, and so of course originally from this parish.

² Is not this the baptism of the celebrated Dr. Kuerden? In the pedigree which he entered in 1664 he gave his father's name as Gilbert, and his own age as 41 years. The family appears to have been called Jackson alias Kuerden. There is a tombstone in Leyland churchyard to the memory of "Gilbert Jackson, alias Kuerden. Deceased 17 day of Oct., 1662, æt. 70. Ex sumpt: Alisæ, ux: ej:."

⁵ Probably of Cuerden, d. of Edm: Bushell (cf. Pedigree, 1664).

 William Myller, buried the third of December.
 Thomas Anthonies, buried the xiiijth of December.
 Mrs Ann ffarrington,³ buryed the xxvijth day of December.

² The eldest son of Willm. ffarrington, Esq. (who died in 1610). His father disinherited him on account of his spendthrift habits, and settled the estates upon William, the son of this Thomas. There is a portrait of this gentleman, dated 1593, now at Worden Hall [formerly Shaw Hall], the present seat of the family. He was Constable of Lancaster Castle and Steward of the Queen's lands in Lonsdale. His wife (married 3 Aug., 1581, at Beetham) was Mabel, one of the daughters and coh: of George Benson, Esq., of Hugill, Westmoreland, and widow of John Preston, of Holker. He had two sons besides William (the Royalist) and four daughters. He is believed to have re-married some one of inferior position. Mr. Thomas ffarrington is entered on the Preston Guild Rolls for the years 1582, 1602, 1622.

³ This appears to be the mother of Mr. Thomas ffarrington just noticed. She was the daughter of Sir Thos: Talbot, of Bashall, and brought as her dower the lease of Blackburn rectory estate, &c. It was her husband who was the first of the ffarringtons to dwell at Worden. He also repurchased the manor of Leyland, which had passed away, through the female line, to the Huddleston. He obtained, per Lawrence Dalton, Norroy King-at-Arms in 1560, a patent authorizing him to make a change in the family crest, which was henceforth to be "A wivern tail nowed, argent, collared gules, the chain reflexed, or." William ffarrington, Esq., died before his wife, on July 3, 1610, directing by his will that he should be buried "within the Chappell erected in the Southe syde of the Parish Church of Leyland." Portraits of this lady and gentleman are now in the collection at Worden Hall, formerly Shawe Hall.

Margrett, the wiffe of Raph Johnssonne, buried the fifth of January.

² Son of John ffleetwood, Esq., and Anne, his wife (who was the daughter of William ffarington, of Worden, Esq., High Sheriff 1636). The marriage entry would be found among those for the year 1627, as it took place at Leyland on Sept. 25 (cf. Hulton's Penwortham, p. lxiv.). John ffleetwood, Esq., was a collector with his brother-in-law [? father-in-law], Wm. ffarington, Esq., of the subsidy granted at Preston, 10 Dec., 1642, to raise 4,000 foot and 400 horse for the King. £8,700 was the amount of the levy on the county (ibid.). He was a Guild-Burgess of Preston 1622 and 1642. In 1645 he compounded for his estates at £641:3:4. His will is dated 20 Mar: 1651, and he was buried at Penwortham 4 Feb., 1657. Richard, the son here mentioned, died unmarried 16 Feb: 1647. This Richard is also entered on the Preston Guild Rolls for 1622 and 1642.

⁴ In Blackburn parish.

² ? The Vicar of Leyland.

³ The Hollins farm is not far from Snubsnape, but nearer to Eccleston.

Adam Mort, sen., of Bolton, and Jennet, d. and h. of Thomas Mort, of Dam House. He became a burgess of Preston, and married firstly, Elizabeth, d. of Seth Bushell of Preston, gent., by whom he had one son (Seth Mort, born 1624) and a daughter Jennet. For his second wife he married Elizabeth, d. of Sir Thomas Tildesley, knt., by whom he had five sons and a daughter, all of whom were young children in 1642. This alliance may perhaps explain the very prominent part taken by him on the side of the King when most of his fellow-citizens inclined towards the Parliamentary side. He was elected Mayor of Preston in Oct., 1642, but seems to have been too busy mustering men for the King to be able or willing to attend to civic affairs. Upon his refusal to repair to the town to take the necessary oaths the Council declared him "contumacious," and imposed a fine of 100 marks to be forthwith levied on his goods. Mr. Mort seems to have assumed the position of Mayor while the King's party was in temporary ascendancy. The Parliamentary forces, however, succeeded in carrying the town by assault in February, 1642-3, and in gallantly opposing their entrance Mr. Mort was slain. In a letter addressed by the Rev. John Tilsley, pastor of Dean (who was present on this occasion), to "an eminent Divine in London," we find him saying: "And as if men must have been singled out for slaughter we could scarce have picked out better, the Major [i.e. Mayor] . . . that was resolute to desperateness in this cause, that had oftentimes been heard swear He would fire the town ere he gave it up, and beginne with his own house, &c., &c." (Cf. Abram's Memorials of Preston Guilds, &c., &c.) The funds obtained by the subsidy granted on Preston Moor (£8,700) were to have been entrusted to the High Sheriff, Adam Mort, and others.

¹ Will at Chester, described as "Linen Weaver."

³ Is not this a curious rendering of "Balderstone," which is derived from the township of that name in Blackburn parish?

These are to Certifie all whom itt may concerne that uppon ellection made by the Inhabitants of y^e Prish of Leyland in the County of Lanc uppon Thomas Walker of Leyland aforesaid yeoman to bee Register for their said parish of Leyland according to the Acte [of Parliament] of the 24th of August last past. I doe therefore allow of him the said Thomas Walker to be Register for the said parish & have according to the terme of the said Act administered the oath of a Register to him and likewise delivered into the hands of the said Thomas Walker the old Register Book (belonging to the said parish) bearing date from the 27th of Aprill 1538 to the 3rd of Aprill 1597. In testimony whereof I have hereunder written my hand the 22nd day of September 1653.

(Signed) ¹EDWARDE ROBINSONN.

Lanc^r ff.

[It is to be noted that the first Register commenced on the 27th Aprill, 1538. This was just after the suppression of the Monasteries (1536) and the collapse of the Pilgrimage of Grace (1537). One of the grievances of the multitude engaged in that insurrection was the order for compulsory registration. It was thought that a tax was to be laid upon the administration of the sacraments. No trace of this "old Register Book" is to be found later than in the certificate (iii.) dated 1656.]

[ii.]

Whereas y^e above said Thomas Walker being deceased [cf. Dec. 7, 1655] and y^e parish of Leyland being void of a Register y^e Inhabitants of y^e said prish or y^e Major part of y^{em} have att a Gen'all meeting by a Certificate under y^{ere} hands ellected and chosen M^r William Rothwell yeir minister to bee Register of y^e parish aforesaid with a provisoe yat hee shall relinquish itt when y^e parish or y^e greater part yereof shall think fitt to conferr itt upon y^e Schoole[master]. These are therefore to certifie all whom itt may concerne that y^e said M^r Rothwell comeing before mee one of y^e Justices of peace for y^e said Countie of Lanc^r and tendered y^e said certificate I haue allowed of him to be Register for y^e said prish and have tendered and given him y^e oth of A Register according to an Act of parliam^t of y^e 24th of August 1653 in y^{at} case provided And hath also deliuv^d to the safe keepeing of y^e said M^r Rothwell y^e old Register above mentioned.

Given under my hand att Buckshaw¹ the 25th of Januarie 1655.

(Signed) ¹EDWARDE ROBINSONN.

[Mr. Rothwell seems to have kept in favour with his parishioners thus far, but, according to the story given in Walker's Sufferings of the Clergy, he had to endure much persecution and hardship between this date and that of the Restoration. Vide List of Vicars, given in the Introduction.]

THOMAS WALKER Register.

Whereas Mr Rothwell the late Register being displaced and y^e said parishioners of Leyland meeteing att the prish Church of Leyland upon the first day of May 1656 the Major part then p^rsent did ellecte and choose Robert Abbott of Leyland aboue-said yeoman to bee for the tyme p^rsent Register for the said prish and to execute that office till the parish with y^e aprobacōn of the next Justice of peace should thinke fitt to conferr y^e said office upon some other pson. Theese are therefore to certifie all whom itt may concerne that y^e said Robert Abbott comeing farm called Lower Buckshaw, which is less than a quarter of a mile distant. Until recently it was the property of T. Towneley Parker, Esq., of Cuerden Hall, but he has transferred it to Colonel T. R. Crosse, of Shaw Hill, to whom it now belongs. There is a good illustration of this specimen of domestic architecture in the Chetham Society's Volume (lxii.), from which book also may be obtained information concerning the Robinson family and Mr. Justice Robinson in particular. The plate will be found on the page facing the title and at the conclusion of the introductory chapter. In Dugdale's Visitation of 1664-5 (Chetham Society vol.) Mr. Robinson entered a pedigree of four generations, but no coat of arms was allowed him. His parents were Mr. Richard Robinson, buried at Leyland, 5th March, 1657-8, and Margaret, daughter of Mr. Adam Holland, of Newton, near Manchester. He was born about the year 1610, and married Helen, daughter of John Brown, of Scale Yate in the Fylde. At the outbreak of the Civil War he took the Parliamentary side and served under Colonel Assheton, of Middleton, Colonel Shuttleworth, and Colonel Rigby. In May, 1644, he is described as Major Edward Robinson, and there is strong reason to believe, as Mr. Beamont has pointed out, that he was the author of the anonymous "Discourse of the Warr in Lancashire." At the restoration he appears to have made his peace with the authorities, although he was at first arrested. His wife was buried at Leyland on November 23rd, 1670, and he himself on January 7th, 1680-1. He had two sons and five daughters, whose names are entered in the 1665 pedigree.

that day before mee one of the Justices of y^e peace for y^e said Countie I have approved and allowed of him and hath administred y^e oath of A Register to him according to y^e Acte of parliam^t in that case provided and also hath deliuv^d into his safe keeping the old Register Booke menconed in the first certificate on y^e other side. Given under my hand att Buckshaw y^e 2^d of May 1656.

¹EDWARD ROBINSONN.

[This, and the two other similar certificates of appointment, have been written and signed by Mr. Justice Robinson.]

[N.B.—The use of the word “Register” as applied to a person has a strange appearance to eyes accustomed to the form “Registrar.” The former is, however, strictly correct, while the latter is merely a maimed Latin word, which has been adopted through ignorance, or careless inattention to the fact that it was the abbreviation of Registrarius.]

Nathaneell, son of William Rothwell, vicar, baptised at Leyland, June the 20th, 1651, p me.

James, son of William Rothwell, vicar, baptized at Leyland, May the 8th, 1653, p me.

vicar.

[N.B.—These entries in the handwriting of Vicar Rothwell are similar, in general appearance and in the shape of the letters, to the writing with which the register commences. Hence we may infer (notwithstanding the appointment of Thomas Walker to be Register) that the entries of Births and Burials from the commencement down to ffebruary, 1655-6 are in Vicar Rothwell's handwriting, especially as the same style is discernible from August, 1663, to the date of Rothwell's death. The intervening period is one of bad writing and worse spelling. In comparing also the Briefs for 1653 and 1671, which are signed “by mee William Rothwell,” the foregoing supposition becomes even more probable.]

William, son of John Crichlow, of Claiton, baptised Aprill 1st, 1644.
William, son of James Crichlow, of Exton, baptised June 24, 1653.

[These two entries I have placed here because they are earlier than the date at which the existing Register commences. They will both be found again entered among the Baptisms in 1655.]

² This curious name should be noticed. It is possible that the illiterate scribe intended to write Leoninus, or even Leonard!

¹ Mr. Seth Bushell, here mentioned, was the son of Adam Bushell and Alice, his wife, daughter of John Loggan, of Garstang (co. Lanc.). He married, 1st, Mary, d. of Mr. Roger ffarington, of Leyland (buried at Leyland, Dec. 26, 1656), and 2ndly, Mary, d. of Mr. Wm. Stanfield, of Euxton (married at Preston, 23 July, 1657), by whom he had four sons and three daughters. A third wife survived him, and, as Mistress Elizabeth Bushell, was buried at Preston, 16 July, 1697. Her will was proved at Richmond. Adam, the son whose baptism is here recorded, was the second child and eldest son. He was buried at Preston, 15 June, 1696. William, the next son, was born at Spout House in Euxton, 5 March, 1661, but no entry of baptism appears in this Register. This William became curate of Goosnargh and rector of Heysham, and was buried at Goosnargh, 30 April, 1735. By his wife, Margaret, d. of William Werden, gent., of Preston (who presented him to the rectory of Heysham), he became the father of a son, William Bushell, M.D., the munificent founder of Goosnargh Hospital. It is frequently stated that this benefactor lies interred in Leyland churchyard, but that is not the case. There is a stone placed over the portion of ground, supposed to appertain to Spout House, which has the inscription, "Spout House, Euxton, Sacred to the memory of William Bushell, Esquire, Founder of Goosnargh Hospital." At the lower part of the slab are the names of Richard Slater, William Porter, Richard Latham, Roger Charnock, trustees, by whom the stone was in all probability placed there to connect the benefactor with the parish of Leyland. The doctor died about 10th June, 1735, and is buried at Goosnargh. Mr. Seth Bushell, the father of the child named in the text and the grandfather of the benefactor, was born in 1621, and in 1639 became a commoner at S. Mary's Hall, Oxford. When the civil war turned Oxford into a garrison Mr. Bushell retired to Lancashire. The name Seath Bushell occurs in the list of schoolmasters of Longton Free School in a return furnished by William Banester in 1673, and as Bushell was his immediate predecessor the dates allow of an identification. In the Church Surveys of 1650 (vol. i., Record Soc. Publications, p. 101), we find the following reference to him: "Mr Seath Bushell is the p'sent Incumbent there [Euxton] and is a godly p'ching minister and conformable to the p'sent governmt and came into the said place by an order from the Committee of plundered ministers, and hath ffor his sallery forty pounds p' ann' yssueinge out of the sequestracons of the [great tythes]." In 1654 Mr. Bushell returned to Oxford and graduated B.A. and M.A., at which time he appears to have been minister, probably curate, of Whitby or Whitley in Yorkshire. On June 10, 1665, he became B.D., and on 27 June, 1672, he proceeded to the degree of D.D. The exact date when Seth Bushell became vicar of Preston has not yet been definitely ascertained, but there is an entry in the Preston Register of the baptism of "Alice, daughter of Seth Bushell, Clerk, Vicar of Preston," on Dec. 18, 1664. (See Fishwick's History of Goosnargh, from which much of the information contained in this note is derived.) Upon his resignation of the vicarage of Preston he was instituted vicar of Lancaster, on June 19th, 1682, upon the presentation of George Toulson. On the north wall of Lancaster Parish Church is a memorial brass to "Seth Bushell, S.T.P., who died 1684, aged 63" (i.e., before June 17th, 1684, the date of the next institution). On the Preston Guild Roll for 1682 we find the name of "Seth Bushell, Theologiæ Professor," together with four sons, Adam, William, Seth, and Samuel. The first of these sons is the one whose baptism is recorded in the text.

² The last figure of the year has been altered in each of these fifteen entries, which are printed in full here, exactly as in the Register. Originally 1662, it now appears as 1661. The person making the entries from the Clerk's book, or from loose papers, into the parchment Register, seems to have neglected to do so until a large number had accumulated. This may perhaps account for the confusion of dates. It will be noticed that the baptism of "John, son of Oliver Cross, Ap. 29, 1661" (and some others), are repeated. The order as here printed is exactly that of the Register.

² In Euxton township. A small area contained by a loop in the direct road from Croston to Chorley, and within a short distance of the junction of that road with Leyland Lane.

² The Sumner family must have been of some consequence, or at least of considerable wealth at this period, for, while William ffarington, of Worden, Esq. (the High Sheriff of 1636), and his son, Mr. William ffarington, were fined for "delinquency," the sums respectively of £536 and £117. 13s. 4d., the Sumners (senior and junior) were fined £805. Among those who wore the "Sheriff's Cloth" in 1636, we find the names of William Somner de Worden [? Steward], William Sumner de Lost: sen., and William Sumner de Lost: jun. These are not included among the "Gentlemen," but probably rank as yeomen or tenant-farmers. In 1622, W^m Sumner (son of John Sumner "de Radom") "servus Will^m ffarington Ar" is entered as a foreign burgess at the Preston Guild. In the same year (1622) "Will^m's Sumpner de Lostoche" is sworn and pays a fine of xl. s. upon which his name, together with those of his sons, William and Christopher, are entered.

⁴ See postea, Baptisms, 1682.

¹ William ffarington, Esq., son of Mr. George ffarington and his wife Elizabeth (née Whitmore), succeeded to the Worden estates, in 1715, upon the death of his cousin William (son of Henry ffarington, Esq., "of Worden," Preston Guild Roll, 1682), who had held the headship of the family from March, 1691-2. He married Elizabeth, daughter and sole heir of Dr. James Rufine, of Boulogne, a Huguenot refugee, and became the father of three sons and three daughters. His name is entered as a foreign burgess at Preston Guild in 1682 and 1702.

² This lady was buried at Poulton-le-Fylde, November 24, 1698. The father, Mr. Richard ffeetwood, was son and heir of Francis ffeetwood (third son of Sir Paul, of the Rossall line). He married Margaret, d. and h. of Edward ffeetwood, Esq., of Leyland, who was a cadet of the Penwortham family, and settled in Leyland (probably) on account of his marriage with Margaret ffarington. There is an old house near to the Leyland Station which still bears the name of Fleetwood Hall.

² Valentine (younger brother of William ffarington, baptised on June 10th, 1675) married Agnes, daughter of ——— Prickett, of Natland Abbey, co. Westmorland, by whom he became the father of two sons and two daughters. The eldest son, Henry, who was Guild Mayor of Preston in 1742, and Alan, who married a daughter of ——— Tyrer, of Liverpool, both died without issue. His eldest daughter, Elizabeth, married Col. Gardiner, of Uttoxeter, co. Stafford, and became the mother of the first Lord Gardiner. The younger daughter, Sarah, married Nicholas Starkie, of Riddleston, and had issue. Valentine ffarington was entered with his father and brother at the Preston Guild of 1682. He is described as M.D. and "of Preston" in Foster's Lancashire Pedigrees.

¹ A member of this family, "Mistress Ann ffarnworth, of Euxton," was married at Leyland, on 2 Aug., 1670, to Mr. Thos. Rishton, of Preston. Again, in 1672, July 2, was buried Mr. Raphe ffarnworth, of Euxton. A Mr. John ffarnworth appears as one of the four gentlemen appointed by Commission from the Exchequer Court to take the depositions (at Leyland) of witnesses summoned in the Leyland Hall case (Attorney-General v. William Cross, gent., and Gaynor Jones, widow), April 6, 1687. From an entry of a burial in 1692, the ffarnworths (or one of them, Edward) appear to have been resident at Runshaw Hall, in Euxton. Mary, d. of Edw: ffarnworth, of Runshaw, gent., is mentioned in the Patten pedigree as the wife of William Patten (born 1700), who settled in London. Probably this Edward was the son of John named above. In 1715 Edwd. ffarnworth, of Euxton, registered his estate as a Roman Catholic. In the pedigree of Crosse, of Shawe Hill, Dorathy Crosse was married to Edward ffarnworth, and the burial of Dorathy ffarnworth is entered at Leyland on Feb. 18, 1720.

² See after March 12, 1675, for a baptism which took place on Aug. 26th of this year.

[There is at this point an entire change in the style of handwriting. This continues only for the next nine entries, but is observable again in May, 1678, when it goes on for a period of nine months, with one or two exceptional entries. There were evidently two persons registering the baptisms, &c., during the next vicariate, as though there were a curate-in-charge and a vicar occasionally in residence. From an old MS. now in the hands of the Rev. T. R. Baldwin, we learn that the name of the curate in Vicar Rishton's time was Edmund Thornley, and that he was living as late as 1720. Vicar Rishton was certainly resident at Bury at the time of his death, and thus the modern running hand which commences with the next entry may be his. There is a great similarity, however, between this writing and that which occurs during the vicariate of George Walmesley, who was certainly resident during the whole period of his incumbency. The conclusion, therefore, is not very definite.]

¹ Sir Charles Hoghton (4th baronet) was Knight of the Shire for co. Lancaster in the Parliaments of 1679-1681, 1681, and 1688-9. He died at Hoghton Tower, June 10, 1710, aged 66 years, and was buried at Walton. Lady Hoghton was the eldest daughter of John Skeffington, Viscount Massarene. This marriage took place in 1676 and the lady died on the 30th of April, 1732. Some of the children of this family may be conveniently noticed here. On March 19th, 1684-5, was baptised Mary, who died at Chester, Sep. 19, 1710, unmarried. On July 23, 1686, Cordelia, who became the wife of Robert Davie, of York. On Oct. 7, 1687, Skeffington, who died unmarried, Feb. 8, 1768, and was buried at Walton, Feb. 11th. On Jan. 29, 1688-9, Hannah, who (apparently) married Samuel Crook, gent., of Crook in Whittle. N.B. This last entry has hitherto been mistaken for "Hugh." The word, however, is perfectly distinct. Others occur in later years.

² The third son of Richard Fleetwood, Esq. (who was the son of Francis Fleetwood, of Hackinsall, and grandson of Sir Paul Fleetwood, of Rossall), by his wife Margaret (d. and h. of Edward Fleetwood, of Leyland, and granddaughter of Edward Fleetwood, of Penwortham, who died v.p. in 1615). The marriage of the parents took place at Leyland, June 16, 1674. Paul Fleetwood, whose baptism is here recorded, lived at Rossall until his father's death in 1709, when he removed to Wharles. He was buried at Kirkham in 1727. For a full account of this family, see Fishwick's History of Poulton-le-Fylde.

¹ There are at present two farmhouses of some importance which bear this name. Lower Farington Hall occupies the site of the mansion of Sir Henry Farington, who was Squire of the Bodyguard to Henry VII., and Knight of the Bodyguard to Henry VIII. During many years Sir Henry was Steward of the King's Manor of Penwortham, and when the dissolution of the monasteries was resolved upon he was chosen as one of the commissioners. Having settled his Farington estates and the lordship of the Manor of Leyland upon the issue of his son William, these both descended through females to the Huddlestons, of Sawston, co. Cambridge, and so became alienated from the original proprietors. Sir Henry purchased Werden from the Andertons, and thus provided an estate for the son of his second marriage and his descendants. This son, William Farington, Esq., who afterwards became Comptroller to Edward, Earl of Derby, was the first of the Faringtons of Werden, and to him was granted, by Norroy, a change in the family crest and motto. The Huddleston family disposed of the lordship of the Manor of Leyland to the aforesaid William Farington, Esq., and later on the estates passed from them into the possession of various persons. Several sons of the Huddleston family became notable members of various religious orders. In particular may be mentioned Richard, youngest son of Andrew Huddleston, of Farington Hall. Educated at Rheims, and at Rome he became a Benedictine monk, and was sent to England to win over as many as possible of the Lancashire and Yorkshire gentry to the Roman obedience. He is said to have met with remarkable success, for the Prestons, Andertons, Downes, Traffords, and Sherbournes, of the former county, and the Watertons, Middletons, and Trapps, of the latter, are thought to have been induced by his persuasions to withdraw themselves from the Established Church. When Charles II. was in hiding at Moseley, in Staffordshire, he occupied himself with the perusal of the books left in his chamber. Among them was one by Father Richard Huddleston, upon the Roman Controversy, which the King pronounced to be conclusive, and not to be disproved. This book was the property of another member of the Huddleston family, John (nephew of the aforesaid Richard), who was likewise a Benedictine, and who is well known as the confessor procured by the Duke of York for his brother the King (Charles II.) when death was approaching. (See Lingard, vol. x., p. 109; Macaulay, vol. i., pp. 434-436.) Others of the name became members of the Jesuit order and held important offices therein. A younger branch of the family was settled at Hutton-John, in Cumberland. Lower Farington Hall is now the property of the heirs of the late George Hargreaves, Esq., of Leyland. It retains scarcely anything to testify of its former dignity except a portion of the moat, which is replenished by the River Lostock. The situation of this Hall is within a short distance of the boundary between the parish of Penwortham (which includes Farington township) and the parish of Leyland, and near to the Lostock in its southward course. Higher Farington Hall is less than half a mile to the northward of the Hall just described. Some features of the house and outbuildings denote that it has been in the hands of persons of substance. This may be the Little Farington, where resided a younger branch of the family of that name, which line ended with females in the seventeenth century.

² Mr. William Shurd, of Clayton Hall, was perhaps of the family of Sherd, of Disley, co. Chester, as the name is an uncommon one. There is a pedigree of this family in Mr. Earwaker's East Cheshire, and it is possible that the last Mr. William Sherd there mentioned had left Disley and come to Clayton Hall.

³ Clayton Hall, in the township of Clayton-le-Woods, has still many features of interest to tell of its former importance. The present building is said to be of Elizabethan date, but, if so, it must have replaced an earlier mansion. The ancient family of Clayton, of Clayton, closed (in the direct male line) with John Clayton, Esq., who married Elizabeth, daughter of Sir Richard Langton (of Walton), the Baron of Newton. He died in 1541, leaving two co-heiresses, one of whom married William, the eldest son of Sir Henry ffarrington (the last), of ffarrington. There appears to have been a considerable amount of litigation respecting this estate at the end of the sixteenth century. Finally, a branch of the Anderton family settled here and retained the ownership down to the end of the seventeenth century, when the estate passed into the hands of Lord Molineux. The present proprietor is the Earl of Lathom.

³ The eldest son of Mr. William ffarington, of Shawe Hall (who succeeded his cousin, William ffarington, Esq., in the possession of the Worden estates, in 1715), and of his wife, Elizabeth, d. of Dr. James Rufine, of Boulogne, a Huguenot refugee. This George ffarington afterwards married Margaret, daughter and sole heiress of John Bradshaw, of Pennington, Esq., and thus enjoyed both the Worden and the Pennington estates. He died 9th May, 1742, in the forty-sixth year of his age; and his wife on 9th March, 1771, aged 69 years. There are portraits of both at Worden Hall. There is a very handsome marble monument in the ffarington chapel, within Leyland Church, to the memory of Mr. George Farington, which was erected at the expense of Margaret, his widow, "as a testimony of her conjugal love and affection." The names of their ten children are given, of whom two died young. The widow's name was added after her death.

¹ Transcript signed by the Vicar and three of the Churchwardens. The writing is clear, but the parchment is torn in places.

² The P. here put before the name probably stands for Papist. The expression, "said to be christened," may indicate such a baptism, the entry being made that a public and officially recognised certificate might hereafter be obtainable. In some instances the child may have been privately baptised by some other person than the parish clergyman, and the entry indicates the date of the public reception into the Church.

² Brother to George ffarington, of Worden, Esq., who married Margaret Bradshaw. This gentleman took holy orders, and in 1734 became Vicar of Leigh (Lanc.); after which he was appointed Rector of Warrington (in 1767), but died in the same year. He married Hester, daughter and coheir of . . . Gilbody, of Manchester. From this marriage descend the ffaringtons of Wood Vale (Isle of Wight) and the ffaringtons of Wigan.

² Vicar Armetriding (who died in 1719) bequeathed to this nephew, John, the sum of £150, which was to be increased by the portions of two sisters, Alice and Ann, in case of their early death. John Armetriding received his education at (? Leyland Grammar School, and afterwards at) Kirkham, under Zachary Taylor, M.A., who was head master of the grammar school of that place. On May 1, 1727, John Armetriding was admitted a sizar of Trinity College, Cambridge, and in due course graduated B.A. (1730). His title for ordination seems to have been North Meols, where he was curate for some years. He married at Leyland Church (1736), Jane, d. of Edward Woodcock, of Euxton, yeoman. From 1767 to the date of his death in 1791 he was perpetual curate of Bispham in the Fylde.

¹ Transcript on parchment. Closely written. Writing fair. Signed as before.² Rixton with Glazebrook, in Warrington parish.³ This is the earliest recorded instance of the administration of holy baptism in the Chapel-of-Ease at Heapey. There was in existence before 1554 (perhaps only as an oratory) a certain building known as Hepay Chapel, which received notice from the Church Commissioners of Edward VI., and of which they made report. In the Cromwellian Survey of 1650, Hepay was reported as fit to be made parochial. The chapelry became a separate parish under the Blandford Act about 1847.

[End of Baptisms in earliest extant Register.]

[COLLECTIONS BY KING'S BRIEFS.]

These sixteen entries of Collections made in Leyland Parish fill exactly one page in the original Register. The dates of the entries show that the page, having been selected for the purpose when the book was commenced, was thus used down to the end of the period covered by the baptismal and other entries contained in the volume. There are no other indications of Collections having been made in the parish under similar circumstances, either in the first or any subsequent volume of the Leyland Registers. For the sake of convenience, and to prevent a break in the sequence of baptismal entries these "Collections" have been removed to their present position from the place where they occur in the Register, viz., between the Baptisms for the year 1689 and those for 1690.

KING'S BRIEFS were letters patent granted by the Sovereign, by which permission and authority were given for the solicitation of alms in all parishes and hamlets of the kingdom on behalf of some specified charity. These letters were employed for objects of private, semi-public, or public interest. Calamities arising from fire, flood, or earthquake; the sad effects of war, piracy, or religious persecution; the foundation or sustainment of hospitals; the building, rebuilding, or repair of churches—these were all met by the same method, viz., the issue of a brief or royal letter addressed to the bishops, clergy, and churchwardens of parishes, to the magistrates, mayors, and other civil officers. The special circumstances calling for sympathy and assistance were related in the brief, which was read from the pulpit in the churches. During the reign of Charles I., the issue of these briefs settled into a regular system, which gradually became intolerable because of the abuses which attended it. The Cromwellian Government endeavoured to regulate the business and reform the abuses; but in 1705 an Act of Parliament became necessary to check the "farming" which had become the customary use. In 1828 the Act, to which reference has just been made, was repealed and the system brought to an end. For a time royal letters were issued in recommendation of the objects of the three great church societies, the S.P.C.K., the S.P.G., and the Church Building Society (which had received incorporation in 1828), but this practice was finally allowed to fall into abeyance in the year 1853.]

(1) Marlborough in Wiltshire.

On the 28th of April, 1653, "a fearful and most violent fire broke out almost at the lower end of the town, which in the space of four hours burnt and destroyed . . . one of the churches, the market house, and 224 [dwelling] houses." Thus does the original Brief describe the calamity which overtook this thriving town, hitherto one of the most important centres of the woollen-cloth manufacture in the Kingdom. Application was speedily made for a Brief to authorize collections throughout the country on behalf of the distressed inhabitants. This being the first occasion of the kind since the accession of the Cromwellian party to power, great efforts were made to reform the whole system of Briefs. A committee was appointed which sat at Salters' Hall, to undertake the management and ordering of this appeal. Regulations were issued to ensure the proper and systematic distribution of the documents, and for their return endorsed with the amounts collected under their authority. From the office of their origin consignments were made to the High Sheriffs, who, in turn, passed on a sufficient supply to the Chief Constables of hundreds, &c., who were required to furnish the ministers (and churchwardens) of parishes with single copies. On the Lord's Day next after the receipt of the document notice was to be given in church of the sad distressed condition [of the town of Marlborough], the better to prepare the people for the collection of the following week. A special requirement which deserves particular attention was that the amount collected should be registered in the books of each parish. Hence the entry which we are now considering.

Instead of the customary term "Kings Brief" (which was inapplicable to the changed circumstances of the period) the style and title of the document authorizing these collections was merely "An Order in Council." Those who may be specially interested in this subject will find the "Order in Council" printed at length, together with much additional information, on pp. 21-23 of Mr. C. Walford's little book on "Briefs."

It is said that towards the loss sustained by the town Cromwell subscribed £2,000, but £200 seems more likely to have been the true amount.

In Lewis' Topographical Dictionary there is a statement that in the year 1690 an Act of Parliament was passed to prohibit the use of thatch as a covering for houses and other buildings within this unfortunate borough, which had repeatedly suffered by fire prior to that date.

(2) Towards the ransoming of English subjects from Turkish slavery.

The contributions of the charitable had frequently to be asked for on behalf of the many unfortunates who fell into the clutches of the pirates of the Mediterranean. The Sultans of Algiers, Morocco, Tunis, &c., made a very considerable income by the capture and detention of merchants and others for whose release large sums of money were demanded as ransom. Private resources would seldom be able to meet these demands. Hence the appeal for public assistance.

Briefs for the aforementioned purpose appear to have been issued in 1670, 1680, 1692, and 1700, in which years contributions were made from the parish of Clent (Salop), where a book for the special entry of the amounts obtained by brief was kept by the Vicar. Possibly the collection in Leyland was made under the authority of the brief of 1670.

The original documents of 1671-2-4 are now among the Records of the City of London.

(3) New Alresford in Hampshire.

This ancient corporate town, which is situated at the head of the river Itchen, lies between Alton and Winchester, at a distance of about six miles from the latter place. On May-day, 1690, it was destroyed by fire, previously to which event the town had been so prosperous that no single individual stood in need of parochial relief. In 1710 a similar calamity occurred.

Mention is made of this and of the following brief in the registers of Brixton, Isle of Wight (vide Ch. Quarterly Review, vol. iii., p. 377).

(4) Bungay, in Suffolk.

In the year 1688 a fire broke out in an uninhabited house, and the flames spread with such rapidity that the whole town, with the exception of one small street, was reduced to ashes, destroying property of the estimated value of £30,000, together with the records of the Castle (vide Lewis' Topographical Dictionary).

In Suckling's History of Suffolk, i., p. 27, we are told that "a brief to collect money in church, as well as from door to door, in aid of the sufferers from the fire (of March 1, 1688) was granted on June 7, 1688." The original brief was engrossed on parchment (vide Walford "Briefs," Appendix iii., p. 72).

(5) Relief of Irish Protestants (2nd time).

From the "Clent" book (referred to above) we learn that a first collection was made for this object in 1689. This brief of 1690 was also presented in that parish. The original documents connected with this brief and the one for Southwark are preserved among the City of London Records.

(6) Sufferers in the parish of S. George, Southwark.

This appears to have been, like so many others, a "Fire Brief."

(7) Relief of French Protestants.

The very stringent measures adopted by Louis XIV. against the Protestants of his Kingdom, culminating with the revocation of the Edict of Nantes in 1685, caused multitudes of these persecuted people to seek for safety and liberty of conscience in other lands. Great numbers of them succeeded in reaching England by means of the trading vessels which plied to and from the French ports. The destitute and distressed condition of these refugees aroused the sympathies of the English people, and every effort was made to render them assistance. Pressure was brought to bear upon the King (James II.), whose religious sentiment was unfavourable to the refugees, to sanction the issue of a Brief in their behalf. The amount collected by this means (£67,713. 2s. 3d.) is said to be the largest ever produced by a Brief.

From the Clent collection book we learn that Briefs were issued with this same object in 1681, 1688, and (on this occasion) in 1694.

(8) This was a "Fire Brief," but no particulars of the damage done or of the part of the City of York affected by the fire are to hand.

(9) Nether-Haven and fidleton. The letters in the Register are quite clear and unmistakeable, but the places which are intended are, most probably, Nether avon and Fittleton, which are two parishes in Wiltshire. These parishes lie in immediate proximity to each other, but on opposite sides of the river Avon, and at a distance of some 13 miles to the north of Salisbury.

(10) Gillingham is a very extensive parish (being about 41 miles in circumference) bordering on the counties of Somerset and Wilts. The town is about 4 miles from Shaftesbury and in the county of Dorset. The manufacture of linen was for a considerable length of time a flourishing industry in the place. The charitable appeal made under cover of a brief seems to have been rendered necessary by a destructive fire which occurred about this time.

(11) Warwick.

In 1695, King William III. visited the town, of which, in the course of the preceding year, more than one half was destroyed by a dreadful conflagration, occasioned by a spark from a lighted piece of wood, in the hands of a boy, communicating with the thatched roof of a dwelling house; a great quantity of goods, probably in a state of ignition, having been removed for safety into the Collegiate Church of S. Mary, set fire to that venerable pile, which (with the exception of the Chancel, the Beauchamp chapel and the Chapter-house) was destroyed. In a few years after the town was rebuilt, in consequence of a national contribution amounting to £110,000 of which £1,000 was bestowed by Q. Anne (vide Lewis' Topographical Dictionary).

(12) White Fryar Gate in Kingstowne-upon-Hull.

(13) Wrockingham in Salop. The word is thus written in the Register with perfect distinctness. In all probability the place intended is Wrockwardine, which is the only possible identification if the county be correctly given. Moreover, from the "Clent" book (mentioned in note 2) we learn that there was a brief running at this date (1695-6) for the parish of Wrockwardine (or Wreckardine as it is there given), the occasion being (as usual) a fire.

[MARRIAGES AND BANNS OF MARRIAGE,

From 1653—1710.]

Marriage Certificate,¹ 1654.

These are to certifie all whom itt may concerne, that upon due publication of an Intended marriage betwixt Arthur Ingilbie, of Slabdale, in ye countie of Yorke, Esq^r, and Margerie ffarrington, Daughter of Wiltm ffarrington, of Shaw hall, in ye countie of Lanc^r, Esq^r, and ye said Arthur Ingilbie and Margerie ffarrington comeing this day before mee and expressed their willingnes to marriage, and contracted to each other according to ye forme and words of ye Acte of parliamt of the 24th of August, 1653. And yat I, one of the Justices of peace for ye said countie of Lanc^r, have, according to the tennor of ye said Acte, declared them to bee husband and wife together, in ye presence of John ffleetwood, Henry Bannister, and Alexander Nowell, Esq^{rs}. Given under my hand yis second day of Januarie, 1654.²

(Signed) EDWARDE ROBINSONN.

¹ This interesting and valuable certificate occurs on the upper portion of one of the pages subsequently filled with entries of Christenings for the years 1681 and 1682. It has been removed to this place as being here more convenient for reference, and to avoid making a break in the entries of Births and Baptisms. Some one has subsequently crossed through the certificate from corner to corner and from side to side, but these marks do not in any way prevent the words from being legible. Probably Mr. Rothwell would do this on his return to the parish at the restoration. Perhaps this would be considered as a record of an irregular proceeding, and made by a person who had no ecclesiastical status, and so to be obliterated from a volume intended to be a Register of Church Ceremonies duly performed. The handwriting of this Marriage Certificate is the same as that of the certificates at the commencement of the volume (see pp. 22, 23), and the signatures are identical, the resemblance being extended even to the flourishes. Major Robinson must have been a "painful" writer, and not a little proud of his position and acquirements.

² The bridegroom was Arthur Ingilbie, of Lawkland [or Lakeland], co. York, Esq. He entered as a foreign burgess at the Preston Guilds of 1662 and 1682. The bride was one of the daughters of Wm. ffarrington, Esq. (the younger, the proposed Knight of the Oak) and his wife, Katherine ffleetwood, of Penwortham. Of the witnesses, John ffleetwood, Esq., of Penwortham, was the brother of Mrs. ffarrington and the husband of Anne ffarrington, sister of Wm. ffarrington, Esq., mentioned above. Henry Banister (of Banke) was sister's son to Wm. ffarrington, Esq., and married Dorothy Nowell, sister to the next witness. Alexander Nowell, son of Roger Nowell, Esq., of Read, married Margaret ffarrington, sister to the bride. He was entered on the Preston Guild Roll for 1662 as a foreign burgess.

[From this date the Marriages follow on consecutively to the end of the period contained in the first volume of the original Register. At the top of the page there has been a heading (afterwards crossed through), which seems to indicate an intention to continue here the marriage entries for 1655 (or perhaps 1656, for it is difficult to say which, owing to obliterating marks). The heading runs thus:—"Marriages 1655 (or 6) made according to the Acte of Parliamt of the 24 of August 1653." At the top of the inner margin (at the very edge) occurs a figure 4, as though connected with something now cut away, and also the letters "rriages." 1664 is added, but in a different coloured ink. ¹ This marriage entry is so written as to attract immediate attention on reference to the page on which it occurs. The titles M^r. and M^{ris}. are placed out of line, and are rather larger than actually necessary. The words are certainly not later additions. The natural conclusion is that the scribe felt himself to be making an important record and (perhaps unconsciously) allowed his penmanship to mark the fact. If this were really the case, to what individuals of social rank in the district could the names belong? The most obvious suggestion is that we have here the marriage by which Astley Hall and the attendant property passed into the Brooke family. Richard, second son of Sir Peter Brooke (afterwards of Mere), certainly did marry Margaret, the heiress of the Charnocks, of Astley, but the date given for that event by Canon Raines (in the notes, vol. ii. of the Stanley papers) is 1673. The Brookes resided at Astley in 1682, and are entered on the Preston Guild roll of that year—the Knight, Sir Peter (who married for his third wife one of the ffarrington family), his son Richard (Armiger) with three grandsons, Peter, Robert, and Richard. From information furnished by T. T. Townely Parker, Esq. (the direct descendant of the Charnock and Brooke families and present owner of Astley Hall), we learn that the heiress, Margaret Charnock, survived her first husband, who died in 1715, and was re-married to John Gillibrand. She survived all her children, and did not die until 1744. If, then, we are to reconcile the latter facts with a marriage taking place in February, 1665-6, then the lady must have lived to the ripe age of 94 years at the least. If this identification be given up, then who were the persons whose marriage is here recorded?

² A township in Croston parish, near to the sea. Made parochial 1821.

⁴ In Leyland parish. Worden Hall was for centuries the home of the ffarrington family.

¹ Mr. Ralph Assheton was the eldest son of Richard Assheton, of Cuerdale, Esq., who, by the settlement of his relative Sir Ralph Assheton, of Whalley, became heir of the estates at Downham and Whalley. Upon the death of Mr. Richard Assheton in 1709 (O.S.), the gentleman whose marriage is here recorded succeeded to the family estates. The lady (Mrs. Sarah Bruen) was the only daughter of Tilston Bruen, of Bruen Stapleford, co. Chester, Esq., by his second wife. Her mother was Lucy, one of the daughters of Sir Richard Hoghton, Bart., and his wife Sarah, daughter of Philip, Earl of Chesterfield. Mr. Ralph Assheton and his wife had two sons, Ralph and Richard, the latter of whom died without issue.

² Canon Raines, in the introduction to the Stanley Papers (page xcii), says that the third son of William ffarington, of Worden, Esquire (the old Comptroller), lived to a great age, and was buried on January 15, 1655-6, and that his tombstone still remains in Leyland churchyard, near the chancel door. If this be so, the entry of January 12th may possibly refer to him, and record for us the date of his death. Probably the title of Esquire was not added to the father's name because of the changed condition of social affairs, and of the length of time which had elapsed since his death. The ninety years of this ancient scion of a Royalist family may have rendered him an object of small consideration in the eyes of the dominant party who at this time had the registers in their charge. Probably, as a younger son and an extravagant man, his worldly wealth was not great—hence the omission of all titles of courtesy. Born in 1566, this William ffarington was “brought up in the Earl of Derby's household,” and in 1597 was living in London. His father had more than once to make arrangements for the payment of his debts, and experienced with this, his youngest son, almost as much anxiety as with Thomas, the son and heir. On his brother's resignation of the office of Steward of the Royal Manors of Lonsdale, in 1599, William ffarington, the younger, was nominated by the Queen as the successor, and he also succeeded his brother as Castellan of Lancaster Castle. There is a portrait of him in the Worden Collection, taken in 1628, when he was 62 years of age. A companion picture of a lady, taken in the same year and by the same artist, may possibly represent his wife. As there is neither name nor coat of arms on the picture, and no entry in the family pedigree of his marriage, it is impossible to arrive at any conclusion as to whether the lady of the picture was his wife—or whether he ever married at all. Attempts were made to negotiate a marriage suitable to his rank, but these seem to have failed. The incised memorial stone may still be seen in Leyland churchyard, but it is now in an imperfect condition, so that very little information can be obtained from it. All that can be read is as follows: WILLIAM FARRINGTON. YOUNGEST SONNE OF WILLIAM FARRINGTON OF * * * * ESQUIRE BVRIED THE XV D * * * * *

³ The name of ffrancis Woodcock, second son of John Woodcock, of Cuerden, gen., occurs in the Preston Guild Roll for 1622 and 1642. ffrancis Woodcock, of Walton (and two sons, John and Thomas), will be found among the Out-Burgesses in the Roll for 1662.

A child of John Philips ffeb. 16

[From the commencement to this place the handwriting in the original is clear and easy to read, every letter being distinctly formed. The same person who made the baptismal entries for the period (1653—ffeb. 16, 1655-6) has evidently recorded the Burials up to this date. The style and character of the entries from ffeb. 19, 1655-6, onwards, is entirely different, the writing being indifferent and the spelling variable and to a great extent phonetic. On Sept. 21, 1663, the stiff courthand of the early entries commences again, and continues until Sept. 9, 1675. Vicar Rothwell was buried on Sept. 16, 1675. Probably the earlier and later writing was his.]

² William ffarrington, Esquire, whose burial is here recorded, was the son of Thomas ffarrington and Mabel (Benson) his wife, and the grandson of the well-known William ffarrington, who occupied the honourable position of Comptroller of the Household to three (at least) of the princely Earls of Derby. The spendthrift habits of Mr. Thomas ffarrington were of such long standing and so incorrigible that, although he was the eldest son and heir, his father, the old Comptroller, felt it to be necessary for the continued permanence and prestige of the family to make a special settlement of the estates excluding him from the succession. By a deed executed in 1609, about a year before his death, an arrangement was concluded which constituted William, the eldest son of Thomas, the inheritor of his grandfather's large property. This younger William was the subject of the present note. Owing to the early death of his mother and subsequent re-marriage of his father, he was brought up under his grandfather's care. His after career shows much more plainly the influence and example of the diligent man of business and worthy landowner than that of the unmethodical, impulsive, and æsthetic man his father. The death of the Comptroller happened when William ffarrington was about 17 years of age, so that he was at an early period in life thrust into a prominent position in the county. He was within a short time made a magistrate and a deputy lieutenant, and in 1631 was called upon to pay the knighthood composition. With the neighbouring gentry he attended the successive Preston Guilds, and has his name recorded on the Rolls for 1602, 1622, and 1642. He seems to have been married when a very young man to Margaret, daughter of Henry Worrall, of Wysall, co. Notts, Esq., and subsequently had three sons and four daughters.

In 1636 William ffarrington was appointed to "undergoe" the office of Sheriff of Lancashire. Designing to put a check, for the sake of his successors, to the almost reckless extravagance which was beginning to be displayed in connection with the official hospitalities expected of the Sheriff, he was unfortunate enough to bring upon him the ill-will of the Judges of Assize. Various charges of neglect in matters of etiquette and administration were made the excuse for the infliction of heavy fines. Although some remission was, with difficulty, obtained, his year of office must have been made a serious drain upon his resources. Like other gentlemen he took a share in the military organisation of the county, and held the rank of colonel of militia. When the uneasy condition of public affairs threatened war between Charles I. and the Parliament, Colonel ffarrington took a very active part as an ardent Royalist. In 1640 he acted as provost marshal for Lord Strange, when the powder and match were bought at Warrington to store the magazine at Liverpool. On 11 June, 1642, he was made a Commissioner of Array, and, when the High Sheriff summoned a meeting of loyal subjects to hear the reading of the King's two declarations and answer to the Lancashire petition on Preston Moor, William ffarrington, Esquire, was there named as a collector and treasurer of the subsidy granted for the King's use. The importance of this gentleman in the eyes of the Royalist party may be seen by the special injunction issued by the King himself, which forbade the private withdrawal from the county of Colonel ffarrington and his son, a proceeding which seemed not improbable owing to the threats of arrest and removal called forth from the Parliament by their activity in executing the Commission of Array. On 9 Feb., 1643, William ffarrington the elder was taken prisoner in the assault on Preston; and on Sept. 12, 1643, he had all his goods sequestered by Parliament. He was present at both the sieges of Lathom House, and appears to have laid down his arms soon after the surrender of the fortress. On his way home he was arrested and thrown into prison, where he remained from July, 1646, to the following May, when he was permitted to compound for his estates for the sum of £536, and to return to his family. In 1649 he appears to have been forced to pay a second composition. He was then nearing seventy years of age, and would doubtless be thankful to exchange the turmoil of war for the retirement of his home. It was about this time that consideration for the poverty and distress of his dependents moved him to found and erect six almshouses for their benefit, charging certain of his lands for their maintenance. The care of his successors has preserved and improved his benefaction down to the present time. See Stanley Papers, vol. ii.; ffarrington Papers; Dis-course of the War in Lancashire (Chetham Society's volumes), for original evidences relating to the local biography and history of these stirring times.

¹ This name is probably "Garstang," for, in that form, it is very common in the Whittle and Heapy districts.

² This appears to be the grandson of that Hugh Anderton who, by his marriage with the heiress of Butler, of Rawcliffe, obtained a moiety of the lordship of Clayton, and, by subsequent purchases, became sole lord. James Anderton, of Clayton, the son of Hugh, appears in the Preston Guild Rolls for 1582, 1602, and 1622, with a son James and four younger sons. On the last occasion the names of five grandsons (children of James, the eldest son) are added. In 1642 the family is represented by James, the grandson of Hugh, who has then become "of Clayton" (arguing his father's death), and his four elder sons.

³ "Mistris" Barrett or Barret was probably a widow lady of some social standing, but she has not yet been identified. She appears to have lost two sons within a short period. See entry on Feb. 19, 1654.

[At this point there is some irregularity in the entries. After the "Marriages" for the early months of 1674 will be found a number of entries of "Burials," dating from March 10, 1658, to Oct. 4, 1661. These are apparently in the same handwriting as the contemporary burials. The entries from the aforesaid extra list will be here incorporated with the rest, only being distinguished by square brackets.]

¹ Mr. William Modsley (otherwise Mawdesley) was the second son of William Mawdesley, of Mawdesley, Esq., and, as such, his name is entered in the family pedigree given by St. George (1613). In the Visitation of 1664 he appears as the first individual in a short succession under the heading of Mawdesley, of Leyland. The arms assigned are, Sable, on a chevron between 3 pickaxes, argent, as many annulets of the first. Crest: An eagle displayed, sable, charged on the breast with an annulet, or. Mr. Mawdesley married Mary, d. of Edward Bamford, of Bamford, co. Lancaster, and had (according to the 1664 pedigree) a daughter, Margaret, married to Ralph, son of Thurstan Leyland, of Clayton, and a son, William, whose wife was Ellen, daughter of John Lawton, of Budworth, co. Chester. There is an incised overlay, to the memory of this younger William, now in Leyland churchyard; but it is unfortunately broken at the corner where the year was given. The initials E.M. are cut deeply into the stone in the centre. Mrs. Ellen Mawdesley was buried on March 21, 1696-7. There is a lengthy pedigree of the family of Mawdesley, of Mawdesley, in Baines' History of Lancashire (edit. Croston), on page 182 of the part which relates to Croston parish. A number of early charters, dating from 1326, connected with lands now the property of the Rev. H. W. Bretherton, M.A., supply additional names of the Mawdesley line.

¹ This is a curious and important entry. The only William Pudsey, of Bolton, Esq., as recorded in the full pedigree in Whittaker's History of Craven, last edition, p. 126, was buried at Bolton on the 7th October, 1629. His first wife, Elizabeth, died in 1601, but no information is there given as to the death of his second wife, Katherine. Unless the lady whose burial is here so fully entered is an hitherto unrecorded third wife, it is difficult to conjecture who she can have been, as there is no other William Pudsey at this period who was the owner of the Bolton estate. Was she a native of Leyland who had returned there to live and die?

³ Mr. Richard Clayton, of Crook in Whittle, was the last male representative, in the direct male line, of a younger branch of the family of Clayton of Clayton, which settled at Crook in the latter part of the sixteenth century. Dr. Kuerden tells us in his Itinerary that Dr. Richard Clayton (who was great uncle to the subject of this note) built the New Crook, and it was probably the wealth inherited from him which made the importance of the family at this time. The Dr. Clayton referred to was Fellow of St. John's College, Cambridge, Master of Magdalene College, and soon after Master of St. John's College, Dean of Peterborough, and Archdeacon of Lincoln. In the Inq. p.m. (1612) his nearest of kin was declared to be John Clayton, the son of his brother Ralph (then deceased). This John was the father of Mr. Richard Clayton, whose burial is here recorded. The widow of this gentleman, who was a daughter of Wm. ffarrington, Esq. (the Royalist), became the third wife of Sir Peter Brooke, of Mere.

⁵ Probably the Seth Bushell who was “Incumbent” of Euxton in 1650, and afterwards Vicar of Preston, and then of Lancaster. He married the daughter of William Stanfield, of Euxton. See page 36.

¹ Cawbeck is the name of a stream which runs into the River Yarrow. The local explanation of the name is, that a certain Prince (generally stated to have been Charles II., when seeking refuge at Euxton hall) exclaimed, after drinking a draught from it, "What a refreshing cool-beck." The Cawbek or Culbeck of the text is farm house. See p. 64.

M^{ris} ffrancis, ¹ daughter of M^r Edward Tilsley	"	19

¹ Mr. Thomas Clayton, of Fulwood, near Preston, mentioned in the text, was apparently the eldest son of William Clayton, of Leyland, gent., by his wife Elizabeth, daughter of Nicholas Rigbye, of Harrock, Esquire. His name occurs with those of his father and four brothers in the Preston Guild Rolls for 1602 and 1622. In 1642 and 1662 he is entered as "Thomas Clayton de Fulwood, gen:": with sons, brothers, and brothers' sons. William Clayton, his father, is said to have died in 1631, and these entries help to that conclusion. In the Heralds' Visitation of 1664 he is entered as of Old Croke (in Whittle-le-Woods) and Fulwood, and his age is given as 78 years. In the Discourse of the War (Chetham Soc., vol. 62) we read that Colonel (Alex.) Rigbye in 1643, among the captains whom he appointed within the Hundred of Amounderness, selected "Mr. Claton an Ancient Gentleman dwelling about ffulwood More." As the age of the gentleman noted above would be about 57 years, this reference may possibly apply to him. See also note on Jan. 16, 1670-1.

² Notice this unusual name; the letters are quite distinct.

¹ M^{rs} Clayton was doubtless the widow of the Mr. Thomas Clayton, of Fulwood, buried on August 13, 1669. If so, her name was Anna, and her father was Robert Blundell, of Ince Blundell, Esq. She had two sons and one daughter. Robert, the elder, seems to have made himself a name and a fortune in Liverpool. Gregson, Fragments, p. 175, says that he was buried at S. Nicholas' Church in that town. He succeeded to the Fulwood and other property of his father. Thomas, the younger son, became a successful and wealthy merchant (? first in Liverpool), and in 1664 is entered in the pedigree as a "citizen of London." He purchased the manors of Worthington and Adlington, and became the head of the family of Clayton, of Adlington. He lived to a great age, and did not die until 1721. The two brothers married two sisters, Helen and Ann, daughters of John Atherton, of Atherton, Esquire. Their own sister, Ann Clayton, married Mr. Robert Livesey, of Livesey, in Blackburn parish. Robert Clayton, de Fulwood, gen: was entered on the Preston Guild Roll of 1682 with four sons, Thomas, William, John, and Richard. To the name of the eldest son Thomas is added "Armiger," which is not easy of explanation seeing that he became a clergyman, and in 1664 was Rector of Bolton in Bolland. From the third son John, who appears to have been an M.D. in Dublin, descended Bishop Robert Clayton, of Killala, then of Cork, and finally of Clogher, who, at the death of his father John Clayton (Dean of Kildare), entered upon the possession of the Fulwood property as the eldest male representative of the direct line. The Bishop, having at his death (25 Feb., 1758) neither brother nor son, bequeathed his Lancashire estates to Chief Justice Richard Clayton, of the Adlington branch, a grandson of the subject of this note. Among the Foreign Burgesses at Preston Guild in 1682 we find "Thomas Clayton de Leverpool, Mercator," together with sons Richard, Thomas, and Robert. If this be the Thomas who married Ann Atherton, we have two names not usually found in the published pedigrees. Richard, the eldest son, succeeded to the manor of Adlington, and died in 1728. Robert is conjectured to have become a courtier, and finally the first Viscount Sundon and the husband of Charlotte Dyves, Mistress of the Robes to Caroline, Queen of George II. There were seven daughters, of whom three only were married. Eleanor became the wife of Nicholas Rigbye, of Harrock, Esquire. I am much indebted to W. Browne Clayton, Esq., for kind assistance with the Clayton pedigree.

² Mr. Robert Charnock was the second but eldest surviving son of Roger Charnock, gentleman, of Leyland, and his wife Ann, daughter of Robert Manley, of Broughton, co. Northampton. From the 1664 pedigree of his family, which was a younger branch of that of Charnock, of Charnock and Astley, he appears to have been the youngest child. His parents, in common with many others of their name, were resolute in their unwillingness to conform to the public ministrations of religion. Mr. Robert Charnock, the subject of this note, was early destined for the priesthood, and was sent to Lisbon for training. His name does not appear among the Jesuits who came to England, and there is reason to believe that he was a secular priest.

He was known "in religion" as Father Manley, taking, according to a common custom, the name of his maternal grandparent. His activity in the work to which he was appointed is sufficiently attested by the various references to his visits in the secret diaries which are here and there in existence (e.g., at Scarisbrick), and by his future eminence among his brethren. Apparently he was known to most of his neighbours and fellow-countrymen as a gentleman possessed of landed estate which he farmed for his own benefit. As a matter of fact he did devote some of his attention to these matters, even while carrying on his mission duties. He exercised considerable influence in Lancashire and the neighbouring counties among those who shared his convictions, for he held the office of Vicar Apostolic for the North, which gave him the Pope's authority to fulfil all the duties of a bishop which are possible to one not of that order. Only the power to confirm and to ordain deacons or priests was withheld. Being the last of his family he desired to settle his estate in such a manner as to benefit his co-religionists. Allusion has already been made in a previous note (page 204) to the residence of Lady Frances Tyldesley at Mr. Charnock's house during eleven years. Also that Mrs Grace Bold acted as house-keeper for Mr. Charnock for the last four of these. This latter person had been the personal attendant of Lady Tyldesley, to whom she came when in distressed circumstances. In after years Grace Bold used to assert that her father turned her out of his home owing to her forsaking the Church of England for the Romish religion. That fact is more than doubtful, but at all events she did yield to the arguments and persuasions of Mr. Charnock, and in 1644 was by him received into the Roman communion. In course of time Mr. Charnock came to place great confidence in her, and conducted much pecuniary business in her name. Hence when making a settlement of his affairs in January, 1660, he conveyed his estate to Willoughby Manley and Robert Charnock, and at their death to Grace Bold. At the death of Mr. Charnock, Grace Bold held possession of his estates, asserting that Leyland Hall had been purchased by her from the late owner. No objection was raised at the time, because Mr. Charnock's friends understood that a fictitious transfer had been made, in order to render the fulfilment of Mr. Charnock's wishes a possibility. At Grace Bold's death the estate was passed to Mr. William Crosse, of Darwin, and Mrs. Gaynor Jones, widow. The former of these had married a sister of Grace Bold, and the latter was another sister. In the opinion of Mr. Charnock's co-religionists who were privy to the trust the lands were misapplied, and they "discovered the matter."

In 1686 the Attorney-General brought an Information against the Appellants, and witnesses were examined. The case submitted to the jury at the Summer Assizes held at Lancaster was "Whether the conveyance of Leyland Hall, &c., to Grace Bold was made, declared, or intended upon any Trust, and upon what Trust." The verdict on this occasion was given in the following terms:—"That Leyland Hall was conveyed to Grace Bold in Trust, for the support and maintenance of Priests of the Romish Religion, viz., In Trust for the Support of the Priests of the Secular Clergy of the Romish Religion in the County of Lancaster." Upon this verdict the Court of Exchequer in 1688 decreed these lands and the trust thereof to the King as forfeited. A petition from the vicar of Leyland, with certain knights of the shire and burgesses, was presented to the Crown praying that the estate might be conveyed to trustees for the benefit of the present and future orthodox ministers holding the vicarage of Leyland, which was then of very small value. After directions were given for this grant, and as the same was passing, the Defendants Crosse and Jones brought in a Bill of Review of this decree of the Exchequer Court. The result was that the Court affirmed the decree, with the explanation or addition that "the Premises should be disposed of to such charitable and pious uses as their majesties [William and Mary] should appoint and think fit." Again directions were given for passing the grant in trust for the vicar of Leyland, but again Crosse and Gaynor Jones appealed; but they were not successful in averting the final transfer of the lands to the vicar of Leyland. The original papers connected with every stage of this interesting case are deposited at Leyland vicarage, as well as the trust deed engrossed on parchment and having a very fine specimen of the broad seal of William and Mary appended to it. The depositions of witnesses taken at Leyland in 1687 contain a considerable amount of interesting local information, and enable one to become en rapport with the people and the times. The following may perhaps prove worth recording. The examination was held at the house of Henry Breckhill, of Leyland, innkeeper, on April 3rd, before John ffarnworth, Thomas Hodgkinson, Robert Pigott, and John Roberts, gentlemen. Lady Tyldesley, of Morleys, gave her age as 71 years or thereabouts. She stated that Mr. Charnock at one time expressed his intention of so leaving Leyland Hall that "in case the Catholique religion came again to be established in England the same should go to Jesus Chappel in Leyland Church." [This must have meant the founding of a new chantry, for there is no mention of any such dedication in pre-Reformation days.] Another witness asserted that Mr. Charnock had declared his resolution "that if itt please God to send them a Bishopp he intended the same house for him until a better should be provided."

The evidence of Mr. William Gradell (Gradwell), of Berbers Moor in Ulnes-walton, gent., is interesting and important. He gave his age as 68 years and upwards, and stated that he was intimately acquainted with Mr. Charnock and his affairs. There was indeed a tie of relationship between them, although not a very close one. From a pedigree published by W. A. Abram, Esq., in the Preston Guardian of 1884, we learn that this gentleman had married Elizabeth, daughter of John Butler, of Kirkland, Esq., and that he succeeded as a minor to his father's property in 1630. The date of his death is thought to have been near the end of the seventeenth century. From this present evidence it may be concluded that he was born in 1619, and was still living in 1687. After repeating at length similar testimony to that contributed by Lady Tildesley and others, Mr. Gradwell stated that shortly after Mr. Charnock's death one Mr. Gerard, a Romish priest (deceased in 1687), visited Grace Bold, and urged her to convey and settle the estate according to the trust reposed in her. This she agreed to do, and a conveyance was drawn by a Mr. George Pigot, of Preston, leaving blanks for the names, which were afterwards filled in, with Grace Bold as grantor and Richard Sherbourne, Esq., and Thomas Walton, late (in 1687) of Walton, gent., as grantees. This deed was deposited in the care of Mr. Gradwell; but in a short time Grace Bold demanded it back, and threatened an action in Chancery for that purpose. Mr. Gradwell thereupon "repaired to" Mr. Gerard (mentioned above) and one Mr. Moore, another Romish priest (then a Superior), who agreed that "the times were not for them nor had they a purse wherewith to controvert the matter," and so the conveyance had better be given up. [It is difficult to identify these two priests, as no names given in Foley's Jesuits seem to correspond.] Mr. Gradwell further stated that Grace Bold died "within two years last past" (i.e., in 1685). He acknowledged the genuineness of various writings signed by Robert Charnock and others, thus incidentally giving information, e.g., Susan Charnock, of Leyland, signs as a spinster on 13 Feb., 1659-60; the purchase of Starkie's tenement [still known in Leyland] from Henry Wright took place on Dec. 14, 1664; Mrs. Westbie lived at Leyland Hall "about five or six years agoe" [1681-2] when Mrs Bold was reported as willing to sell the estate owing to her then residence with her relations in Wales.

Several other gentlemen and yeomen gave evidence, and among them we may mention Mr. Christopher Anderton, of Clayton, gent., of the age of 60 years and upwards; Mr. Alex. Butler, of Goderstaffe, co. Lanc., gent., of the age of 38 years or thereabouts; Richard Sherdley, of Leyland, yeoman, &c., &c. Mrs. Susan Orrell, of Leyland, widow, of the age of 80 years, was one of the sisters of Mr. Charnock and probably the relict of Mr. Richard Orrell, whose name appears on some of the writings certified to by Mr. Gradwell. The Letters Patent for the conveyance of the disputed lands, which was issued in 1690 under the Great Seal, contains an enumeration of the fields included within the demesne mentioning them sub-deacon, deacon, and priest took place in September and October, 1631. After a few years he was sent to England, and left the College on April 2, 1634. He is spoken of as "a pious man and an example of all good." Oliver, the second brother [known as John Foster], his brother William, and others were arrested between London and Dover on their way to Douay about the year 1624, and were thrown into the Tower, from which a bribe of £20 effected their escape. Oliver was admitted to the College in 1628, when about 21 years of age, and received ordination as priest in 1634. On April 12, 1635, he was despatched to England as a missionary. He is described as "a man of remarkable virtue, distinguished for humility." Richard, the youngest son [known as Christopher Foster], was admitted to Douay in 1629, being then about 19 years old. He was ordained priest on April 15, 1634, and sent on the English mission in March, 1636. In the students' replies he states that he "studied at home until fourteen years of age; then, when on his way in company with others to prosecute his studies in Lower Germany, he was captured on the River Thames and taken back to London, and was detained there in gaol by the Archbishop of Canterbury, who examined him. Some months after, having obtained his liberty, he was compelled to return home. In the following year he went to London, seeing an opportunity of embarking; but the plague raged there, and he was compelled a second time to return home. He made his humanities at St. Omer's College for three years."

¹ William ffarrington, of Worden, Esq., was the eldest son of the High Sheriff of 1636 and his wife Margaret (Worral), and succeeded to the family estates in 1658. He and his father were very actively engaged during the Civil War on the King's behalf. It is often difficult to distinguish these gentlemen in the accounts, owing to the identity of name; but William ffarrington the younger is meant when we read of the doings of Captain ffarrington. Both assisted in the defence of Lathom House. The elder is usually called "the Royalist," or "Colonel ffarrington." At the restoration the honour of admission among the proposed Knights of the Oak was intended for Captain ffarrington had not the scheme been abandoned. His name is found among the Foreign Burgesses on the Preston Guild Rolls for 1622, 1642, 1662. By his wife Katherine (fleetwood) he had two sons (perhaps three) and four daughters. He was one of the parties to the deed of settlement, &c., respecting the Almshouses mentioned on page 207. His will (dated Feb. 20, 1672) was proved at Chester in 1673.

¹ The Henry ffarington whose burial is here recorded was baptised at Leyland on July 17, 1655. He married Anne, daughter of Henry Dicconson, of Wrightington (in Eccleston parish), and died without issue and before his parents. His mother was Susan, daughter of Degory Weare, D.D., Professor of History at Oxford. His father was the son and heir of William ffarington, Esq. (the proposed Knight of the Oak), and his wife Katharine (ffleetwood).

² Mr. ffrancis Woodcock was the second son of John Woodcock, gent., of Cuerden (Crowtrees). He was entered with his father and brothers, Thomas and William, at the Preston Guild of 1622. In 1642 the youngest brother was not entered with them. John Woodcock, the father, was dead in 1662 (? buried at Leyland, Aug. 17, 1655), but the eldest son, Thomas (brother of ffrancis), was entered at that Guild as "of Cuerden Green, Gent." There is an entry of a "ffrancis Woodcock de Walton," with sons John and Thomas, at that same Guild. Possibly this person may be identical with the gentleman whose burial is here recorded.

¹ Mr. Thurstan Anderton was the second son of James Anderton, of Clayton, Esq., and brother of Elizabeth and Eleanor Anderton, buried Dec. 18, 1678, and Ap. 22, 1679. The lordship of Clayton, which had been mortgaged by James Anderton, Esq., to — Dicconson, of Wrightington, Esq., was after several years redeemed by Caryl, Lord Molyneux, Viscount Maryborough, in the name of Thurstan, Christopher, and William Anderton (about 1672). After the death of Thurstan, the two latter sold their right in the lordship to Viscount Maryborough, and retired to Bardsey. See Baines' History of Lancashire, under Clayton township. Bardsey-in-Furness became their inheritance through the marriage of Elizabeth, the elder heiress of Nicholas Bardsea, who died in 1642. This Elizabeth married James Anderton, Esq., of Clayton. William and Christopher Anderton occupied the mansion in 1672. In 1726 that estate also passed into the hands of the Molineux family.

¹ Although unable to identify with certainty the individual here named, it may be useful to note the following:—Mr. Thomas Stanley, son of Edward Stanley, of Moor Hall, Esq., was a legatee under the will of his brother-in-law, Mr. Thomas Walmsley, of Banister Hall (in Walton-le-Dale), who died in 1637. As Mr. Walmsley was only a little over thirty when he died, the dates do not altogether forbid an identification. Banister Hall is not far from Cuerden Old Hall, the home of Dr. Kuerden. Thomas Stanley, gen., was entered as present at the Preston Guild of 1642. In the succeeding Guilds of 1662 and 1682 we find Thomas Stanley, Esq., of Eccleston, and his son Richard, among the Foreign Burgesses.

² There is a family of the name Hilton or Hulton, of Brindle, enrolled among the Burgesses of the Preston Guilds of 1642–1682. The first member is a "tanner," another is a "farmer," while a third has the title "generosus." Possibly the Mr. Hulton of the text was one of them.

³ This was the second son of Mr. Richard Fleetwood and his wife Margaret (see page 60, also page 143, note). There is a memorial stone to his memory now lying outside the vestry door of Leyland Church, where it was placed on its removal (with several others) from the floor of the chancel in 1875. It is from the Wheelton quarries, of a dark red colour, and has the letters in relief. This child only lived two years, having been born on May 7, 1684.

¹ There is a stone lying to the south-west of the tower of Leyland Church recording the death of Margaret, wife of Thurstan Leyland. It is in an excellent state of preservation, as is generally the case with memorials which have the letters standing up in relief. The marriage of Margaret Nelson, of Ulneswalton, with Thurstan Leyland, of Clayton, took place at Leyland Church on Dec. 6, 1678. She was 27 years old at her death.

³ These three sons of Alexander Breres, yeoman, were entered with him at the Preston Guild of 1682. See the entry of their baptisms on page 70.

¹ Probably some retainer or servant in the household of Henry ffarington, Esq. Worden, the family home of the ffaringtons, lies at the south-eastern corner of the township of Leyland, where the boundary touches Whittle-le-Woods and Euxton. The estate was purchased from the Andertons by Sir Henry ffarington in 1534 for his male heir, who was the fourth but only surviving son, and the only child of Sir Henry's second wife. The ancient family domain of ffarington was settled on the heirs of Sir Henry's eldest son, so that it passed away through the female line to the possession of strangers. The Worden mansion was reconstructed by Sir Henry's son, afterwards known as the old Comptroller. It remained as the chief seat of the family until about 1736, when George ffarington, Esq., made Shawe Hall to be the more important residence. Sir William ffarington, who succeeded to the estates in 1742, completed the migration by transferring all of the furnishing, pictures, panelling, &c., which were thought to be interesting and valuable to the more modern mansion. The old hall at Worden was much reduced in size, and degraded to the position of a farm house for the demesne. Notwithstanding all this the building is a noticeable one, and presents many features of interest. Can anyone suggest how it came by its name? Did the estate at any time belong to a family of the name of Worden before it came into the possession of the Andertons? There has been a family of the rank of yeomen or lesser gentry of that name resident in Clayton, or thereabouts, from remote times.

² A chrysom was a white linen vesture given to the newly baptised to signify the necessity for holiness. It was worn until the mother went to be churched. A chrysom-child was one which died in the interval. The final rubric of the Churching Service in the Prayer Book of 1549 ordered the woman to "offer her chrisom and other accustomed offerings," when she made her thanksgiving. The use of the chrysom was abandoned in 1552, and not resumed at any subsequent revision.

M ^r George Walmsley, Vicar of Leland ²	"	10
Anne Litherland, of Whittle	"	29

¹ There is just a possibility that this name may be Henry.

² Instituted February 17th, 1684-5, on the death of the late Vicar, the Rev. John Rishton. At the Preston Guild of 1682 the name of George Walmsley, "Clericus," appears among the In-burgesses. Until the restoration of Leyland Church, in 1875, a flat stone with an inscription to the memory of Vicar Walmsley used to lie under the Communion Table. For some years it lay near the exterior of the vestry, but has now been fixed in an upright position on the south side of the chancel. It may there perhaps escape the destruction which was inevitable while it lay exposed to daily traffic. The Rev. George Walmsley is described on his memorial as "hujus parochiæ vicarius, vir prope divinus." He was 34 years old at his death.

² Henry ffarington, Esq., entered upon the family estates in 1672, at the death of his father, William ffarington, Esq. (the younger), who was so actively engaged in the Civil War, and in particular at the siege of Lathom House. The eldest son and namesake of Henry ffarington, Esq., having died before this date (in 1678), he was succeeded by his next son, William, whose baptism at Leyland will be found on page 40. The widow, Susanna (daughter of Dr. Degory Weare), was buried on Nov. 6, 1699.

² The eldest sister of Mr. Robert Charnock, of Leyland Old Hall. (See pp. 210-213.) Her name appears in the pedigree entered by the Heralds in 1616. She was called as a witness before the Commissioners in 1687, and there stated that she was a widow, and of the age of eighty years or thereabouts. If born in 1607 she must have been the eldest child of the family, and, apparently, was the last survivor. If the signature referred to in Mr. Grawell's evidence was her's, then she was unmarried as late as February 13, 1659-60. Mr. Richard Orrell was also a party to some of Mr. Charnock's pecuniary transactions, and there is reason to believe that he became the husband of Susan Charnock, the sister. If so, their married life was very brief, as Mr. Orrell died February 23, 1661-2, and was buried at Leyland.

² See note on page 89. Clayton Hall had at this time passed from the Andertons into the possession of Caryll, 3rd Viscount Molineux. Mr. Sherd was probably a lessee or tenant. Six of his children were baptised at Leyland, three of which were also buried there as infants. A son Hugh, probably born earlier than any of these, was buried in 1695. No entries connected with this family occur after 1705.

³ In Abram's Memorials of Preston Guilds, page 71, we find the following extract from the Council Book: "11 July, 1701. Mr Christopher Nowell, having now some considerable time been an inhabitant of Leyland, was at his own request discharged from the Council, &c." "13 May, 1685. Ordered that Cristopher Nowell bee desired to procure a box for putting in of ye new Charter and that he also take care to send ye same to Mr Mallory at London with direc'cons to deliver ye same to Mr Will'm Patten, when he shall call for ye same in order to passe it under ye Dutchy Seale." Mr. Christopher Nowell was one of the seventeen Capital Burgesses or Councilmen named in the second Charter of Charles II. (dated 1684-5) granted to the town of Preston. Mr. Christopher Nowell was an Alderman of the Guild of 1682, and his name, together with sons Thomas and John, is recorded on the Roll. Among those who paid a fine and so were admitted at the Guild of 1662 we find a certain Christopher Nowell, and a similar means procured the admission of an apprentice of Christopher Nowell in 1682. Apparently there were two individuals of the same name citizens of Preston about this time. There was a family connection between the Nowells, of Reed, and the ffaringtons, of Worden, Alexander Nowell, Esq., having married Margaret, daughter of William and Katharine ffarington, of Worden. The Guild Rolls from 1622 to 1682 contain entries of the heads of the Nowell family, but no Christopher appears among them. He may have been a younger son of a younger son.

² The infant child of Mr. William ffarington and his wife Elizabeth (Rufine), and grandchild of Mr. George ffarington, of Shawe Hall. Her father afterwards succeeded to the Worden estates, owing to the death of William ffarington, Esq. (a first cousin) without issue.

³ Mrs. Susannah Farington was the widow of Henry ffarington, Esq., of Worden, the entry of whose burial will be found on March 14, 1691-2. Her father was Dr. Digory Weare, Professor of History at Oxford, and Principal of Gloucester Hall. The marriage seems to have taken place in 1658—probably in Oxford. There were two sons and four daughters as the issue of the marriage. Henry, the eldest son, died in the lifetime of his parents, and without children, so that his brother William succeeded to the family honours. The wife of Vicar Armetriding was the eldest daughter of Mrs. Susanna Farington.

² This infant, baptised on Oct. 8, 1701, was the son of Mr. Wm. Farington and his wife Elizabeth (Rufine), and grandchild of Mr. George Farington, of Shawe Hall.

³ This gives almost exactly the local pronunciation of the more common name "Heywood."

¹ Mrs. Mary Anderton was a daughter of William farington, Esq., and his wife Katharine (fleetwood). Can she be identified with the Mary (M^{rs} Mary Leake), of Worden, married at Leyland on July 6, 1670, to Mr. William Anderton, of Euxton? If so, there must have been a previous marriage. The family pedigrees give no assistance. See note on page 136.

² This is probably the William Anderton, of Euxton, who was aged 26 years at the Herald's Visitation in 1664. See note page 136, also on March 1, 1702 (Burials). It is very difficult, however, to be sure of the identity of the different members of this extensive family, for there is great confusion in the various notices of them, and some errors in the dates. The Andertons of Clayton, of Euxton, and of Lostock are not clearly distinguished. The Preston Guild Rolls are entirely silent as to any "Anderton of Euxton." At the Guild of 1582, James Anderton, of Clayton, Ar., and his sons are entered, and the head of the family and his heirs appear among the Foreign Burgesses down to 1682. The fact seems to be that the Euxton and Clayton estates went together until the settlement of a younger branch at Euxton. The Clayton branch had the lordship of their manor of Clayton, which was not the case with Euxton until recent times. By the end of the 17th century the Andertons, of Clayton, had died out, whereas the Euxton branch became gradually more wealthy and better known, and has continued in possession down to the present time.

² Mr. George farington, of Shaw Hall, was the second son of William farington, Esq. (the proposed Knight of the Oak), and his wife Katharine (fleetwood). He married in 1672, Elizabeth, daughter of Valentine Whitmore, of Thurstaston, co. Chester. The eldest son of this marriage, William (baptised at Leyland, June 10, 1675), ultimately succeeded to the Worden estates. The other son, Valentine, was an M.D. in Preston. The two daughters, Elizabeth and Margaret, both died childless. Mr. George farington was entered as a Foreign Burgess at the Preston Guild of 1662, with his father and elder brother Henry. Also in 1682 with own sons William and Valentine.

³ Mrs. Elizabeth Farington, of Shaw Hall, was the relict of Mr. George Farington, buried on July 24th, 1704 (see note). She survived her husband less than a month.

¹ This infant son of Mr. Wm. Farington and his wife Elizabeth (Rufine) was baptised at Preston, Sept. 14, 1705. See the entry of that date in the Leyland Register. Another son Henry was born in 1715. The marriage referred to on page 109 was that of the second Henry, and not of the one there named, who died an infant, as this entry proves.
