PREFACE.

The Registers of Hackness Parish commence in the year 1557, and those transcribed in the present volume are contained in two Books, one dating from 1557 to 1653, and the other from 1653 to 1783. These Books are written upon parchment and were rebound in vellum during the Incumbency of the late Rev. Joseph Irvin, who was Vicar of Hackness from 1841 to 1856.

The first volume which covers the years 1567 to 1653 contains fifty-five leaves, and the second 1653 to 1783 contains sixty-one leaves. A large portion of the Register was inscribed by John Richardson, who subscribed himself "The Parish Register," and who appears to have held that office from 1630 to 1668 at least. His signature appears for the last time in that year, but two later pages seem to be in his handwriting, though they are not signed.

The handwriting of the Registers varies considerably. In the Elizabethian portion the letters, though very small, are beautifully formed, and retain the Gothic character, the capitals being specially decorative. The pages subscribed by John Richardson also display much care in the formation of the letters, but towards the close of the succeeding century the Registers are much more carelessly written, and the orthography suggests that the entries were made by a succession of somewhat illiterate Parish Clerks. As a whole the Registers are fairly legible, but in some instances the entries are much defaced, and I have here to acknowledge the invaluable assistance of Dr. Francis Collins, whose great skill and long experience rescued from oblivion many words and phrases which would otherwise have been lost.

Although there are few direct references to events of national importance (with the exception of the entry which records the death of Oliver Cromwell on September 3rd, 1658, and the proclamation of his son Richard as Lord Protector), yet, suggestions of the march of events are conveyed from time to time. That one, at least, of the Recusants had friends at Hackness may be inferred by the entry under date September 2nd, 1661, where John Richardson records that a child of Mr. Thomas Moore was "privately baptised, it is supposed by a Popish Priest, being a stranger then at the Manor" ; and the early history of the Society of Friends receives some interesting sidelights from the entries under dates of September xiiij, 1653, and January xxj, 1655.

John Richardson himself unconsciously reveals a marked character-study, in his interpolations of notes on parochial events, and his meteorological observations. His records of great storms in 1659 and 1660 may be noted, and traces of a love of neighbourly gossip and elderly garrulousness creep into his entries during his later years. Indeed the portion of the Registers for which he is responsible, is a very "human" document, and his detailed accounts of extraordinary births, and mishaps from violence of weather, add a distinct local colour to his official chronicle.

The thanks of the Society are due to the Vicar of Hackness, the Rev. Charles Johnstone, for his great kindness in allowing the transcription of his Registers, and also for assisting in the work.
