It is unnecessary to say that the exercises were a decided success, and from beginning to end there was not a dull moment. The audience was so large that many were turned away, not being able to get standing room. The program was well arranged and carried out, the features of the occasion being the rendition of the selections from Shakespeare.

Linton White as Shylock was a great success. The declaimers did well, but the hit of the evening was the recitation of Ernst Holdt, of Atlanta, whose efforts were rewarded by an encore, to which he responded by giving "What the Wind Said."

The dumb bell drill, followed by some pyramid work by the members of the gymnasium class, was heartily enjoyed by the audience. Henry M. Edmonds, the physical director of the school, has accomplished wonders with the boys of the Donald Fraser during the past year.

The history contest was a notable event, resulting in the winning of the gold medal by Paul F. White, of East Atlanta. This medal was recently offered by the D. A. R. (Thomas Jefferson chapter), of Atlanta.

Mr. White also won the first honor, which entitles him to a scholarship at Emory college, or Washington and Lee university, or Hampden-Sidney college, Va. C. M. Candler, in a most appropriate and forcible address, closed the exercises by delivering the gold medal to Mr. White.

The past term has been in every way a successful one, having five states represented this session.

The friends of the school will learn with great pleasure of Charles D. McKinney's coming back into the Donald Fraser as associate principal. Being a man of great natural ability as a teacher, Mr. McKinney will be quite an addition to the school and community as well.

With such prospects in view the future of the Donald Fraser is very bright.
