

CHARLES VITTUR WINS MEDAL AS BEST DRILLED CADET

In Contest at Marist College Friday Afternoon He Stood Up Until the End in the Drill.

Charles Vittur, Jr., is the best drilled member of the Marist College battalion of cadets, and as a reward for that distinction he is now the proud possessor of a gold medal. In a contest held between the cadets at the college last Friday afternoon young Vittur proved his superior knowledge of the drill manual, and in return for his studious efforts was presented the beautifully carved gold medal. Besides his excellence as a soldier, the young man was also on the honor roll of his class, and his splendid work both on the parade ground and in the class room is the source of much gratification to his parents and teachers.

Young Vittur is the son of Major Chas. Vittur, a prominent citizen of Atlanta, who is especially well known in secret order circles.

TEACHERS TO MEET NEXT WEEK

THIS YEAR THE GEORGIA EDUCATORS WILL HOLD THEIR SESSION AT CUMBERLAND ISLAND.

The annual convention of the Georgia Teachers' association will meet at Cumberland Island, June 23d, for a three days' session.

It is expected that several hundred of the foremost educators of the state will take the trip.

Elaborate preparations have been made for the accommodation of those who will attend the convention.

Many papers and discussions have been prepared by the teachers which they will read during the course of the convention. These will prove of the greatest interest to those attending the various sessions as they have been written by some of the ablest of Georgia's teachers and with the greatest of care upon the different topics.

The various officers who have been elected to make the arrangements for the different programs that are to take place, have spent much of their time and labor to make the big convention a success.

From all the sections of the state the teachers will flock to the island for the convention is always a great source of interest and as many pertinent school topics are discussed it is a great help to the teachers from the fact that in hearing the papers written by able educators they will be able to glean many important facts.
