Georgia has seen many state championships won and lost in the past and the future may see many more, but there can never be another so hardly fought as the season of 1904 and The Journal's pennant offer to the victors has brought forth.
As a fitting close to the fine struggle the championship was not landed until the last wagger of the red and black had been retired in the ninth.
The series ended with Mercer victorious Tech running second and Georgia third
