Driving Club Gay With Dinner Parties

Over a hundred guests were out last night to enjoy the first of the table d'hôte dinners of the Piedmont Driving Club, which are to be given every two weeks through the summer. They are always largely attended and are the most popular entertainment at the club in the warm season.

The scene at the club during dinner was a most animated one; the dinner tables seating parties of eight and twelve, filled the broad verandas and terrace surrounding the club, which were brilliantly illuminated from the rows of small electric lights, several hundred in number, running around the entire club house.

The dinner of several courses, served at 8 o'clock, was delicious and splendidly handled for so large a gathering at 2 o'clock, the orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Charles Wynn, gave a beautiful concert, playing during dinner and again later in the evening in the New York building for dancing. The following guests entertained at dinner:

Mr. and Mrs. Inman's Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Inman had with them a party of eight for dinner. Mrs. Inman was one of the handsomest young married women present; she was gowned in white chiffon, a hand-made frock with quantities of real lace insertion. Her hat was soft white straw with long blue plumes gracefully wreathing the crown. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Grant, Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall Slaton, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Kiser.

Mr. and Mrs. Howell's Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Howell, Jr., had of narrow ruffles of Valenciennes lace and underneath the brim near the face were small pink roses, a bow of cream velvet trimming the hat on top.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson's Dinner.

Dining with Mr. and Mrs. James D. Robinson were Mr. and Mrs. Milton Dargan, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Conklin, Mr. and Mrs. Harry English, Mr. and Mrs. Inman Sanders, Miss Josie Stockell and Mr. Hugh Adams.

Mrs. Robinson was beautiful in a stylish gown of white crepe de chine, covered with handwork and lace; a hat made of narrow lace ruffles and pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller's Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. James G. Miller entertained for their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Williams, of Patterson, Ga. Mrs. Williams is charming and pretty, a sister of Mrs. Miller; she was a Miss Nixon, of New Orleans, and a great belle in the Crescent City. She wore last night a frock of champagne poplin and lace with bebe hat of cream lace and tea roses.

Mrs. Miller was most attractive in pink flowered organdie with a becoming bebe hat of white and pink.

Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Edward McCerren, Miss Ethel Kelly, Mr. James Alexander, Mr. William Markham.

Captain and Mrs. Ellis's Dinner.

At another table were seen Captain and Mrs. William D. Ellis, and their guests, Mrs. Fred W. Allen, of Providence, R. I.; Mr. and Mrs. William A. Wimblish, Miss Susie Fort, of Athens; Miss Phoebe Ellis, Mr. W. D. Ellis, Jr., Mr. Franklin Ellis.

Mr. and Mrs. Beck's Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Beck had a small party at dinner to meet Mr. and Mrs. Jerome C. Beam, Jr., the other guests being Mr. and Mrs. William Congrove, Judge and Mrs. Henry Tanner, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sledge.

Mrs. Beck's gown of soft white mull and lace was an exquisite hand-made creation.
