GRADUATING EXERCISES OF WASHINGTON SEMINARY

The graduation exercises of the Washington seminary, which took place at the Grand last evening, were witnessed by the largest audience assembled at the Grand for many days and there were rows and layers and banks of men. The old Grand has never been so decorated since her birthday. The seminary girls that were not seniors and the teachers of the institution occupied the boxes. The upper tiers were occupied by very young girls all dressed in white, their hair ribbons corresponding to the decorations of the boxes. On one side the boxes were draped with red, wreaths of roses twined in the brass grill work. On the other side the same mode of decoration was carried out in pale pink. The lower boxes were similarly decorated, the colors on one side being pale green and on the other pale blue. In these boxes the juniors and teachers sat. The stage was prettier than ever before in its history. The flowers were banked two feet high beyond the footlights, curving up at the ends of the stage into tall designs standing four feet high in baskets. The pink and red and white and purple and yellow made a glowing mass of color, and breathed a fragrance that met one way back at the entrance of the arcade. The twenty-seven young graduates each carried a huge bouquet tied with white tulle. They made a pretty picture as they filed onto the stage, those carrying red roses entering in single file from one side of the stage and meeting and crossing the file carrying white roses. The first number on the program was an invocation by Rev. C. B. Wilmer, followed by a chorus. Next Mr. Wilmer presented the D. A. R. medal to Miss Nell Brown for the best essay on "Women of the Revolution." The Atlanta chapter, D. A. R., instituted this custom last year when there were three competitors. This year there were ten who tried for the medal.

Dr. Charles O. Jones delivered the baccalaureate address, taking as his theme the force of personality. He handled his subject well, showing its force in every walk of life, in every profession and intercourse of life. Dr. Jones has a delightful humor and he pleased his vast audience immensely.

After the address Mr. Scott presented the diplomas. There were thirteen young women that received certificates of graduation in special studies. They were Miss May Dunlap, Miss Mae Healy, Miss Pauline Gibson, Miss Mary Cole, Miss Annie Louise Pagett, Miss Kate Waldo, Miss Clara May Winn, Miss Lois Crosby, Miss Marion Nutting, Miss Alice Thomas, Miss Mary Weber, Miss Mary Crew Candell, Miss Daisy Burnett.

There were four or full graduates,

The scholarship announcements created a great deal of interest. The collegiate scholarship given by the institute was won by Miss Lizabel Saxon, of Cartersville. Miss Frances West, of Decatur, won the academic scholarship, and Miss Joy Patton, of Memphis, Tenn., the piano scholarship. The vocal scholarship was divided between Miss Harriett Milledge, of Decatur, and Miss Berdina Crowell, of Tampa, Fla. The art scholarship was won by Miss Louise Davidson, of Jacksonville, Fla.

Dr. Gaines announced to the audience that the session closing yesterday had an enrollment of 295, including girls from fourteen states, 162 of whom were boarders. In this connection he said that his enrollment for next year was already in advance of this number and that work on the Rebekah Scott hall, which is to accommodate one hundred boarders and to cost $50,000, is to

MR. AND MRS. BLOSSER GAVE MUSICALE TO VISITORS

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Blosser gave a charming little musicale last evening at their home on Baker street, in honor of two very attractive visitors, Mrs. Thomas Silcox, of Charleston, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. William Bennett, and Mrs. George Rutzler, of Charlotte, N. C., who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. R. L. Walker.

Mrs. Walker, Mr. Solon Druckenmiller, Mr. Wm. MacGregor, Mrs. Peyton Todd and Mr. David Silverman were the artists, and they furnished a feast of music, giving generously of their best.

Late in the evening a delightful buffet supper was served.

The guests present were Mrs. Silcox, Mrs. Rutzler, Mr. and Mrs. William Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Peyton Todd, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Walker, Miss Clementine MacGregor, Mr. William MacGregor, Mr. Druckenmiller, Mr. Silverman, Dr. Stockwell and Mr. Hoke.

MISS PARRISH'S TEA.

An interesting event of this afternoon will be Miss Mamie Parrish's tea at her home in West End, in honor of Miss Zulette Crumley.

The hostess will be assisted in receiving her guests by Mrs. William Holleyman, Mrs. Ruth Pattillo, Mrs. Raleigh Pattillo, Miss Rosa Kingsbery, Mrs. William Hahr and Miss Pauline Wagener.

Miss Lillian Harris will serve punch and Miss Mary Lou Culberson and Miss Nora Goodman will assist in entertaining the guests.

MISS LINA ELIZABETH BOYD

Miss Nell Brown, Miss Elise Landrum, Miss Florence Dennis, Miss Virginia Parks, Miss Ruth Blodgett, Miss Lucile Watters, Miss Kate Denig, Miss Irene Silvey, Miss Anita Stewart, Miss Zemula Dooley, Miss Margaret Hallman, Miss Olive Mae Shropshire, Miss Annie Thomas, Miss Rosalie Cahn.

Miss Zemula Dooley and Miss Anita Stewart were awarded diplomas for having completed the college preparatory course. Miss Stewart will enter Vassar in the fall and Miss Dooley will enter Leland Stanford university, California. Miss Dooley was the only graduate receiving two full diplomas, having completed both the classical course and college preparatory. Both courses are in common parlance "stiff," and her having completed both at once evidences hard work and a very bright mind. The audience applauded generously when the announcement was made. Miss Dooley won a grammar school certificate from the pension of Mademoiselle Le Am in Paris, where she studied for eighteen months before entering Washington seminary, all her studies at this place being in French.

Following the exercises at the Grand a reception was given at the seminary on North avenue. The reception committee was composed of the graduates, Mr. and Mrs. Llewellyn D. Scott, Miss Emma Scott, Miss Bessie Chandler, Miss Madge Landrum, Miss Lillian Jones, Miss Bessie Ray, Mrs. James Jackson, Mrs. James G. Scrutchin, Mrs. David Woodward, Miss Eugenia Clarke, Mrs. Alice Logan, Dr. and Mrs. Landrum and Dr. Jones. The seminary was decorated in the class colors, red and white, and the ices, cakes, etc., were in the same colors, the white gowns and flowers of the girls heightening the beauty and effectiveness of the scene.

AGNES SCOTT INSTITUTE HAS CLOSING EXERCISES

The closing exercises of Agnes Scott institute were held yesterday morning in the institute chapel. The chapel was crowded, many of the visitors having to content themselves with a peep over the shoulder of someone else at the fair girl graduates, and with catching an occasional sentence or snatch of song from one of the adjoining reception rooms. Ten young ladies were graduated, Miss Emma Askew, of Atlanta; Miss Aurelle Brewer, Decatur; Miss Martha Merrill, Thomasville; Miss Lullie Morrow, West Point; Miss Mabel McKown, Birmingham, Ala.; Miss Sallie Stribling, Waffalla, S. C.; Miss Mary Thompson, Atlanta; Miss Rose Wood, Atlanta.

They were a pretty group in their commencement gowns of white and yellow, with a maze of white and yellow ribbons floating from waist line from the shoulder, and from the bouquets of
