

GRESHAM SCHOOL HAS CLOSING EXERCISES

MACON AUDITORIUM IS FILLED
BY AUDIENCE WHICH
GREETS GRADU-ATES.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MACON, Ga., June 15.—The graduating exercises for Gresham High school drew an assemblage that filled the Macon auditorium last night. The following is the class which received diplomas:

Myrta Catharine Anderson, Louise Godwin Ayres, Elberta Bernd, Myra Birdsey, Inez Bragg, Urla Burrus, Mary C. R. Davis, Jennie Sue Daughtry, Mamie Belle Elder, Willie Mae Fields, Nellie Howell Foster, Susie C. Frambles, Irene Hodges Glenn, Mary Pemberton Glenn, Nell Harris, Ethel Louise Hines, Virginia Hutson, Jessie B. Isaacs, Bessie Holt Jeter, Annie Gertrude Jones, Mamie Walton Jones, Helen Gignilliat Mallary, Mabel Frances Marsh, Elizabeth McLean, Julia Meyer, Rosa Agnes Moore, Minnie Phillips, Julia Tharpe Riley, Francis Sherling, Mary Lucille Simmons, Cornelia Greaves Smith, Annie Lou Steed, Eunice Estelle Stewart, Lilly Marie Stewart, Rowena Taylor, Bessie Brooks, Warren, Mary Julia Whitehead, Blanche Williams, Elizabeth B. Willingham, Daisy Wimberly, Margaretta Wrigley, Alfred Waddill Bond, Earleworth C. Brunner, A. Moody Burt, Emory W. Cabaniss, John Baxter Duncan, E. Huguenin Ellis, James Austin Grant, Benjamin Meyer Goldgar, Bernard Henry Logters, Edward C. Marsh, William Edmund Pendleton, Wiley H. Simms, Earl C. Stewart, Claud M. Stubbs, J. D. Todd.

The exercises were delightfully interesting, the salutatory by Miss Mabel Marsh and the valedictory by Mr. Emory Cabaniss being especially so. Those who gave recitations were Mr. Austin Gantt, Miss Daisy Wimberly, Mr. Moody Burt and Miss Annie Lou Steed.

Mr. R. Douglas Feagin, who graduated from the high school eleven years ago, made the address of the occasion, showing to the students what it is in the life of Jefferson Davis that an American might profitably emulate, and declaring that his unselfish Christian patriotism was the foundation upon which the great chieftain builded his remarkable character.