

Samuel Phipps' Will

In the name of God amen I being of sound mind and memory knowing that all men must die and in contemplation of that solemn event give to the earth my body from which it sprang and resign my soul to God who gave it and in regard to my earthly effects, I bequeath unto Patsy Phipps one yellow mare, and one faded cow, and his kitchen furniture, after my body is decently buried. and I hereby revoke all other wills by me made contrary to the purport of this my last will and testament. This 11th of March 1850.
