

State of North Carolina in the City of New York, where he has resided for over ten years past, and it is further proved by the oath and examination of said George Murray that he is well acquainted with the hand writing of said John Holloway, having often seen him write, and that the name of said John Holloway subscribed as a witness to said will is in the handwriting of said John Holloway. And it is also proved by the oath and examination of said John D. Bellamy that he is well acquainted with the handwriting of said D. L. Russell, Jr., having often seen him write, and that the name of the said D. L. Russell, Jr., subscribed as a witness to said will, is in the handwriting of the said D. L. Russell, Jr., the said examination of the said John Holloway and John D. Bellamy being hereto attached as a part hereof. And W. W. Drew and Carrie C. Drew, subscribing witnesses to a codicil attached to the said will, bearing date the 22nd of March, 1894, and now offered for probate with said will, each being duly sworn, depose and say, and each for himself and herself doth depose and say: That he and she each are subscribing witnesses to the aforesaid paper-writing purporting to be the codicil to the last will and testament of Dory Haggard, deceased, and that they each severally saw the testator, Dory Haggard, execute the said paper-writing as a codicil to the last will and testament, and that affiant attested it in the presence and at the request of the said Dory Haggard, deceased, and that they did each sign the same at the same time in the presence of each other, and at said time the said Dory Haggard, deceased, was, in affiant's opinion, of sound mind and disposing memory.

It is therefore considered and adjudged by the Court that the said paper-writing, and every part thereof, is the last will and testament of the said Dory Haggard, deceased, and that the said codicil is a part of the said last will and testament of said Dory Haggard, deceased, and the same is ordered to be recorded and filed.

George Murray and John D. Bellamy, each being duly sworn depose and say:-

That they have had exhibited to them a certain will, hereto attached, bearing date the 6th day of April, 1891, alleged to be signed by Dory Haggard in the presence of John Holloway and D. L. Russell, Jr., and each of the said deponents doth say, that they knew John Holloway and D. L. Russell, Jr. whose names are attached to the same as subscribing witnesses; that the said John Holloway is dead, having died about eight years ago, and the said D. L. Russell, Jr., is living, but residing out of the State of North Carolina, having resided in the City of New York for over ten years past, and the said George Murray doth say that he is well acquainted with the handwriting of John Holloway, deceased, having frequently seen him write, and that the signature of said John Holloway to said instrument is the true and genuine signature of John Holloway, and the said John D. Bellamy doth state that he is familiar with the handwriting of said D. L. Russell, Jr., having frequently seen him write, and the said signature of D. L. Russell, Jr., attached to the said paper-writing as a witness, is the true and genuine signature of the said D. L. Russell, Jr.

And these deponents further say not.
Geo. W. Murray
John D. Bellamy.
