A paper writing, without subscribing witnesses, purporting to be the last and will and Testament of J. E. Hood, deceased, is exhibited for probate in open court, by William B. Hood, there being no executor named therein, and it is thereupon proved by the oath of said William B. Hood, that the said will was found among the valuable papers and effects of said J. E.
Hood, after his death. And it is further proved by the oath and examination of credible witnesses to-wit: S. B. Hollingsworth and H. E. Goodwin and Eli Cavenaugh that they are acquainted with the handwriting of said J. E. Hood, having often seen him write, and verily believes that the name of the said J. E. Hood, subscribed to the said will, and the said will itself, and every part thereof, is in the handwriting of the said J. E. Hood. And it is further proved by the evidence of the last three mentioned witnesses, that the said ^{hand} writing is general known to the acquaintances of the said J. E. Hood. It is therefore, considered and adjudged by the court that the said paper writing and every part thereof is the last will and Testament of the said J. E. Hood, and the same is ordered recorded and filed.
