

Belmont, N.C. Sept. 27, 1911.

Realizing the uncertainty of life and being anxious to so adjust my affairs that there will be no contention in regard to same when I am gone I hereby make my last will and testament.

I will and bequeath to my son, Alfonzo Ross, twenty five dollars in money and my bed (including bedstead, featherbed, pillows and covering).

I will and bequeath to my son, Will Ross and his wife Kate Ross, and their children all the remainder of my property, both personal and real.

I make this my last will and testament while in the exercise of my right mind and without any persuasion or compulsion on the part of any one.
