At Mrs A. L. Smithson's Oct 17, 1903.

I write this to say that at my death I leave all of this world's goods that I possess to Bettie Smithson. She has given me a home not knowing what a burden on account of age and infirmities I may be to her.

I wish her to pay the Dr. if I owe him. And pay Mr. Eborn for wages. After paying my other expenses necessary, the little money that may be left is here with every thing else even including my clothes. Give the blue checked apron that Sarah Mome gave me back to her. And the calico that sister Lillian gave me for an apron to her. Any oblige

H. that the said will was found among the valuable papers and effects of the said E. J. Lamb after her death; and it is further proved by the oath and examination of three competent and credible witnesses, to wit: W. J. H. H. & A. L. Smithson that they are acquainted with the handwriting of the said E. J. Lamb having often seen her write, and truly believe that the name of the said E. J. Lamb subscribed to the said will and the said Will itself, and every part thereof, is in the handwriting of the said E. J. Lamb. And it is further proved by the evidence of the three last mentioned witnesses that the said hand writing is generally known to the acquaintances of the said E. J. Lamb.
