I, James M. Ambrose, of the Town of Cherry, County of Washington, and State of North Carolina, being of sound and disposing mind and memory, but considering the uncertainty of my earthly existence, do make and declare this my last will and testament.

First. My executor, hereinafter named, shall give my body a decent burial, suitable to the wishes of my friends and relatives, and pay all funeral expenses, together with all my just debts, out of the first moneys which may come into his hands belonging to my estate.

Second. I give, devise and bequeath to my beloved wife, Mary A. Ambrose, all of my property of every kind and nature, both real and personal, with full power and authority to sell, barter, exchange, give away, devise and bequeath by will, and otherwise dispose of, use and enjoy the same with all the rights and privileges incident to complete and full ownership.

Third. In the event that I survive my wife, then I give and devise to Annie Hoodley Brown my lot No. 16, in block 15, as appears upon a plat of Glenwood Park of record in the clerk's office in the Circuit Court of Norfolk County, Va., in map book 8, page No. 1; and in the event my wife survives me, and does not during her lifetime make or provide for some other disposition of same, then, at her death, I give and devise the said lot to Annie Hoodley Brown.

Fourth. In the event that I survive my wife, then I give and devise to Annie Hoodley my lot in the Town of Cherry which abuts the residence and store property where we now live and which I purchased from L. B. Phelps; and, in the event my wife survives me, and does not during her lifetime make or provide for some other disposition of same, then, at her death, I give and devise the said lot to Annie Hoodley.

Fifth. In the event that I survive my wife, I give and devise to Annie Hoodley the lot now held and owned by myself and wife jointly as an estate by the entirety, which was purchased from W. A. Holmes, is known as the mill lot, and abuts the residence and store property where we now live.

Sixth. Whereas, I am informed and truly believe that my wife has made and declared her last will and testament, by which she gives to me her property, and at my death, unless I have made or provided for some other disposition of same, gives, devises and bequeaths
