In the Name of God Amen. I Elizabeth Damaris Broughton of St. John Berkley in the State of South Carolina, Widow, being of sound and disposing, mind, memory and understanding, praised be God for the same, do make and declare this my last Will and Testament in manner and form following; that is to say, I give and devise all my real estate to my son Daniel Broughton, his heirs and assigns forever. Also I give and bequeath all my personal property of every nature and description to my children Alexander Broughton, Elizabeth Wife of Thomas Broughton, Mary, Widow & Relict of the late Philip Porcher Broughton and Daniel Broughton, to be equally divided between them share and share alike, subject however, to the following limitations & directions which I will to be strictly observed. The portions of my personal property, bequeathed to my sons Alexander and Daniel Broughton I give to them absolutely and without any restriction whatsoever. But it is my Will and direction that the income of the portion above given to my daughter Elizabeth wife of Thomas Broughton, be equally divided between her and her children by her present marriage, share and share alike for and during the term of her natural life, but if my said daughter, should survive her present husband and thereafter marry, have children by a second or other marriage and survive the second or other husband, then and in such case, it is my Will, that her children by such second or other marriage should be admitted to an equal share and participation, with my ^{said} Daughter & her children by the present marriage, in the income of the portion, or one fourth part of my personal property given as afore said. And Will, that the portion or one fourth part of my personal property given to my son Daniel Broughton, his heirs and assigns forever.

... of my income and description to my children Alexander Broughton, Elizabeth wife of Thomas Broughton, Mary, Widow & Relict of the late Philip Porcher Broughton and Daniel Broughton, to be equally divided between them share and share alike, subject however, to the following limitations & directions which I will to be strictly observed. The portions of my personal property, bequeathed to my sons Alexander and Daniel Broughton I give to them absolutely and without any restriction whatsoever. But it is my Will and direction that the incomes of the portions above given to my daughter Elizabeth wife of Thomas Broughton, be equally divided between her and her children by her present marriage, share and share alike for and during the term of her natural life; but if my said daughter, should survive her present husband and thereafter marry, have children by a second or other marriage and survives the second or other husband, then and in such case, it is my Will, that her children by such copulation, with my ^{said} Daughter & her children by the present marriage, in the income of the portions, or one fourth part of my personal property given as aforesaid. And from and immediately after the death of my said daughter Elizabeth, it is my Will, that the portions or one fourth part of my personal property given to her as aforesaid, should be equally divided, share and share alike, between her children by her present and any future marriage or marriages. Provided nevertheless, and it is my especial Will and direction, that neither the Capital nor Income of the above bequeathed one fourth of my said personal property shall at any time, be liable to the payment of the debts or incumbrances of the present or any future husband of my said daughter Elizabeth and it is furthermore my will, that upon her death the distributive proportions of her children should not be paid or delivered over to them, until if males each should have respectively attained the age of twenty one years; if females, the age of twenty one years or day of marriages; it is however my will that each one portion of the annual income should be regularly paid over.

It is also my will and direction, that the Income of the portion above given to my daughter Mary Widow, as aforesaid, be equally divided between her and her present children, share and share alike, for and during the term of her natural life, but should she hereafter marry, have children by a second or other marriage and survive the second or other husband, then and in such case, it is my will that her children by such other marriage or marriages, should be admitted to an equal share and participation, with my said Daughter Mary, her present children, in the income of the portion or one fourth part of my personal property given as aforesaid; and from and immediately after the death of my said daughter Mary, the said portion or one fourth part of my personal property, given to her as aforesaid, shall be equally divided share and share alike, between her present children and those by any future marriage or marriages. Provided nevertheless, and it is my special will and direction, that neither the Capital nor Income of the above bequeathed one fourth part of my said personal property, shall at any time be liable to the debts or incumbrances of the late or any future husband of my said daughter Mary: And it is furthermore my will, that upon her death, the distributive proportions of her children should not be paid or delivered over to them until, if males, each shall respectively have attained the age of twenty one years, if females, the age of twenty one years or day of marriage. It is however, my will that each one's proportions of the annual income should be regularly paid over. And I do hereby nominate constitute and appoint my son Alexander Broughton and Daniel Broughton, my son in law Thomas Broughton, (and my grandsons Thomas Broughton, son of my daughter Mary and Thomas Alexander Broughton, son of my daughter Elizabeth when they shall respectively attain the age of twenty one years) Executors of this my last Will and Testament; hereby revoking all former Wills and testaments at any time heretofore by me made, and I do declare this to be my last will and testament. In Witness, whereof I the said Elizabeth Damaris Broughton, have hereunto set my hand and seal this twenty seventh day of October, A.D. one thousand eight hundred and twenty five
