

OFFICIANTS

These men performed the ceremonies. They were careless with the spelling of their own names, and probably worse with the brides and grooms. Hadly spelled his name with and without the "e"—sometimes Langford was spelled with a "k". Akin dropped the first "i" in his name and it is noted on the first certificate that he signed his name without two "i"s". Others signed their names several ways on the certificates. They are listed below as they usually appeared.
