Remarks: The County may be divided into two districts. The high and the lowlands. The highlands are mountainous and healthy. The lowlands lie upon the Holston River and French Passes rivers and are not so healthy, but very productive. Perhaps more so than any other portion of East Tennessee. The principal crops are Indian Corn which the farmers feed to swine & have for human market.

Remarks: The year ending 1st June 1850 was a healthy year, compared with other preceding it. The County of Cocke though not an unhealthy district is not as healthy as other portions of East Tennessee. The most common diseases Chills and fever. The most fatal has of late years been Consumption fever the bilious or typhus fever and pneumonia also occasionally appear. I know of no large towns.

Remarks: Tenn is a hilly land on the mountain and water power is at most without limit. The principal rocks are the blue and black limestone and mountain boulders. There are fine forests of white pine and the black pine is a common growth. The first settlement was made about the close of the revolution. The County has no commerce by water. Trading and hauling are an only means of exchanging our staples for articles of consumption.
