Remarks: Saw that portions of Danvers County alluded to me. The soil (except on the gravelly ridges) is very productive and except in the immediate vicinity of Nashua, comprises the finest land east of Lake Champlain. Soil fertile, sugar, corn and apples. The water is strong limestone and is almost everywhere of the County good, particularly on the small streams in the most broken portions of the County. Gray sandstone is very abundant and in some parts of the district sandstone is still fresh.
