I, Thomas P. Cowan, of Blount County, in the State of Tennessee, realizing the uncertainty of the length of life and the certainty of death, do make, ordain and publish this my last will and testament, that is to say:-

First:- I desire that all my just indebtedness, including the expenses of my last sickness and funeral, be paid as soon after my decease as convenient.

Second:- Having already given to my daughter, Bessie McCall, all that she would be entitled to under a division of my estate among my children, no more is given to her.

Third:- During my sickness and for a great while my helpless condition, my daughter, Nellie B. Cowan, has been faithful and constant in rendering help and caring for me, I therefore give her three hundred dollars.

Fourth:- It is my will and desire, and I hereby give and bequeath all the rest, residue and remainder of my estate of whatever kind or character, to my two children, Nellie B. Cowan, and my son Kenith Cowan, to be equally divided between them.

Fifth:- I hereby constitute and appoint my daughter, Nellie B. Cowan, as Executrix of this my last will and testament, with power to take charge of everything belonging or pertaining to the estate, to sell and dispose of every thing she may deem advisable or proper to sell, such sales to be made in the manner and form as to her may appear to be for the best interest of the estate, to make deed or conveyances divesting title from the estate and heirs, and vesting in the purchasers the same as if I was making the same while living; and I hereby relieve her taking the oath, making bond, rendering inventories and making settlements with the Clerk of the County Court as required by law.

In witness whereof, I hereunto affix my signature, on this 5th day of September, 1907.

T. P. Cowan.

The undersigned, being personally acquainted with Thomas P.
