Will A. McTeer.

I, Mary A. McIlvaine, widow, of Blount County, Tennessee, do hereby make ordain and publish this codicil to my will which was made on the 10th day of September 1892, that is to say:-

First:- Since making my will I have received from the estate of my brother, Robert Alexander, the sum of four hundred and fifty dollars. This sum is at interest, and from that amount I retain fifty dollars for any necessary personal expenses that I may incur, including sickness and funeral, and it is my will, and I hereby bequeath the remaining four hundred dollars equally to my eight children, that is, fifty dollars to each.

Second:- I hereby amend and change the second clause of my will hereinabove referred to, so that it may show that my son, Joseph I. McIlvaine, since the same was made, has paid to each of my other children, the sum of one hundred ^{dollars} as advancements to them, making in all the sum of seven hundred dollars paid by him as such advancements: and in consideration of such payments it is my will, I hereby give, the said Joseph I. McIlvaine all the bequeath and devise to my son, property, personal, real and mixed as shown in the said second clause of my will as originally written.

With these amendments and changes I readopt and affirm my will as at first written, making the changes only as herein shown.

In witness whereof, I hereunto affix my signature on this the 25th day of August, 1900.

Mrs. Mary McIlvaine

JULY TERM 1919.

We, the undersigned, subscribing witnesses, state that we are personally acquainted with Mary A.
