I, Dow Braswell, being of sound and disposing memory, hereby make and publish this my last Will and Testament, revoking and declaring void any and all wills heretofore made by me.

I direct my Executor, as soon after my death as practicable, to pay all my just debts and funeral expenses out of whatever money I may have on hand at my death or out of the first money that may come into his hands.

I devise and bequeath to my beloved wife, Mary Braswell, all of my property, real, personal and mixed, to be used by her for her support, maintenance and livelihood during her natural life and whatever remains thereof at her death shall be taken as hereinafter provided.

At the death of the said Jerry Clendon Braswell the remainder interest in said lands shall go to my son, Austin Braswell.

Since I am desirous that some person of my choosing care for and look after the property, both real and personal, that I am hereby giving to Jerry Clendon Braswell, I hereby designate my son, Austin Braswell, as trustee, to take charge of said land and manage and control it for the use and benefit of the said Jerry Clendon Braswell, it being my intention that the said Austin Braswell is being vested with this authority to manage and control said property for the sole use and benefit of the said Jerry Clendon Braswell, and that the said Austin Braswell, as such trustee, shall perform this service for said Jerry Clendon Braswell without any charge or compensation therefor, as I have the utmost confidence in him to perform this trust.

X. Should any of my heirs or next of kin institute any suit seeking to set aside or contest this my last will and testament the person or persons so attacking this my last will and testament is to forfeit the share or estate hereby given such person by this will and in event such person so attacking this will is not given any estate in my property under this will that person shall likewise forfeit any and all rights of inheritance that he might have in my property under the laws of the State of Tennessee. In other words, it is my intention that any of my heirs or next of kin who institute any suit or contest this will that person or persons shall not receive any part of my estate.

I, Sara Cantrell, being of sound mind and disposing memory, hereby make and publish this as my last will and testament, hereby revoking and making void all other wills by me at any time made.

First: I hereby devise and bequeath to my daughter, Annie Lee Miller, all of the real estate I may die seized and possessed of, but she is not to dispose of said lands, either by deed or mortgage, unless it becomes absolutely necessary to do so to pay hospital bills or doctor bills, and then only a sufficient amount to pay the same, and at her death whatever may be left of the real estate is to go to her children, but her husband is to have no power to sell any of said land in case of her death. My husband, W.E. Cantrell, is to remain on said lands until the first of the year after my death, should he outlive me, and this is to give him an opportunity to get his crops off after my death, but he is to get all the crops on the place at the time of my death.

Second: I will and bequeath to my said daughter all of my personal property, consisting of two mules, my half in a cow and heifer, my half interest in two hogs, or half of what hogs on the farm at my death, and all of my household goods and kitchen furniture, and what money on hand, after the burial expenses are paid, which are to be paid out of any money on hand, this to include all my personal property.

Third: I hereby nominate and appoint W.E. Cantrell as Executor of this will, and excuse him from making bond.

This August 21, 1946.

Sara Cantrell

We hereby certify that at the request of Mrs. Sara Cantrell we witnessed the execution of the foregoing will, she having declared the same to be her last will and testament in our presence and signed the same in our presence, and we signed the same in the presence of each other.
