Last Will and Testament of C. C. Pearson

I, C. C. Pearson having in view the uncertainty of life and the certainty of death, and being desirous to dispose of the effects of this world, as it has pleased my Heavenly Father to entrust to my care and tuition, and to this end being of sound mind and memory, I do make and publish this my last Will and Testament in the following manner:

First. I commend my spirit to God who gave it and ask that my body of flesh and bone be returned to mother earth in a decent and becoming manner suitable to my condition in life and the funeral expenses be paid as soon as possible.

Second. That the remainder of my estate, both real and personal I leave to my beloved wife Eliza during her natural life or widowhood, except all necessary cost and expense incurred in winding up my estate; and, also, except the sum of Two hundred dollars, one hundred dollars of which I give to my son Sachaniel C. Pearson and the other one hundred dollars I give to my daughter Eliza Valbyda Pearson, which sum to be paid by my executors as early as possible out of any money coming into their hands. (These sums are intended to make them equal with my other children who have each received a gift of one hundred dollars at their marriage.)

Third. At the death or marriage of my said wife I desire that my property, same and all the same, be divided between all my children, namely Arthur M. Pearson, Abby C. Cole, Sachaniel C. Pearson, Mollie S. Miller, Cornelia Rogers, J. C. Pearson and Eliza Valbyda Pearson.

The property going to each of my sons I give and bequeath to them, their heirs and assigns forever, to own and possess the same absolutely; but the shares going to each of my said daughters I only loan to each of them during their natural life and at the death of any one of them, the property thus loaned to such deceased daughter to be equally divided between her children and they shall own and possess the same absolutely.

Fourth. It is my will and wish that the share of land going to my son Arthur M. Pearson shall be laid off out of my lands adjoining him, and if I should own no adjoining land to him at my death or at the time he is to come into possession of such share then his share is to be taken out of any other land belonging to my estate.

Fifth. I appoint my said wife Eliza and my said son Arthur M. Pearson to be co-trustees or one my last will and testament, in witness whereof I have set my hand and seal on this the 20th day of January 1887.

Last Will and Testament of C. L. Davidson Decd.

I C. L. Davidson a citizen of Hawkins County, residing in Rogersville, make and publish the following as my last will and testament, hereby revoking all other wills heretofore made.

I will and bequeath to my dear wife E. R. Davidson the house and lot on which I have heretofore erected a house on the part adjoining O. B. Cuffmaster's lot, and which is occupied by Hugh Murry as my tenants.

Also I am having a house built on the other half of said lot, which also, with the lumber and materials used and to be used in its construction, I also will and devise to my said wife absolutely.

These lots I heretofore purchased from Joseph B. Stampf and sold her the same.

I will and bequeath to my said wife all of my personally subject to the payment of my debts, subject however to the exception, to wit, in pursuance of a promissory note made to W. B. Hick I will and bequeath to him my gold watch and chain, subject however to this request that said gold watch and chain shall go to my grandson Robert C. Davidson of Tazewell.

But this is not obligatory on him. It is only a suggestion.

Whereas, I own a tract of two hundred acres of poor land near Lullabunda in Coyle County Tennessee which I will and desire to my said wife, at my death, to sell in twelve months, sooner or later, in her discretion, she sell the same, one half cash balance for one and two years, taking notes with good security from the purchaser or purchasers retaining a lien for purchased money.

Two hundred dollars of the purchase money or as it sells for less, but all of that amount she will to my grandson - Robert C. Davidson.

I appoint my said wife sole executrix and do not require or desire her to give bond and security for the discharge of her duties. Witness my hand and seal.
