 In this cause, on motion of complainant, and it appearing to the court that the defendant, Marvin Curtis, has been regularly served with subpoena to answer to the bill in this cause, and that to this the last day of the presnet term, he has failed to appear and make defense to said bill. It is therefore ordered as to him, complainants bill be taken as confessed, and the cause set for hearing ex parte.

The cause then came on further to be heard by the court, upon the bill, the pro confesso heretofore taken, and the testimony of witnesses, had in open court, and from all of which it appeared to the court that the defendant had deserted the petitioner, or complainant, without reasonable cause, and had neglected and refused to provide for her, and that his treatment towards her was cruel and inhuman, and that his conduct was such that it was unsafe for her to be under his dominion and control.

It is therefore, ordered, adjudged, and decreed by the court, that the bonds of matrimony now subsisting between the complainant and the defendant be absolutely and forever dissolved and that the complainant be freed from the obligations thereof.

The Court further orders and decrees that the complainant have the absolute custody and care of her son, James Curtis, now about 8 years of age free from the interference or control of the defendant, Marvin Curtis.

It appears from the bill, and from the proof in this case that the complainant at the time of her marriage to the defendant owned a pair of mules, some hogs, milk cow, farming tools, household goods, poultry and other personal property, that was left her by her former marriage, all of which property is in possession of the complainant, and which she is entitled to, and the court so orders and decrees, except it is shown by proof that there may be some little incumbrance that will have to be cared for the complainant.

The costs of this cause is adjudged by the court against the, defenant for which execution will issue.
