

The nuncupative will of James C. Robinson We S. M. Emmons and James Hopper do state that the nuncupative will of James C. Robinson was made by him on the 17th day of October 1853 in our presence to which we were specially required to bear witness by the testator himself in the presence of each other that it was made in his last sickness in his own habitation or own dwelling house where he has been resident for one year or more

And the same is as follows to his wife Martha he gave one bed & furniture & one bedstead one cow & calf. And every thing else he directed to be sold and his just debts paid out of the same and the remainder to be divided between his wife Martha and her offspring he further appointed Henry Robinson executor of this his last will & testament

Made out by us and the 29 day of October 1855-

Edw. W. Downing
