Will of D.C. Young Deed.

Know all men by these presents:

That I, D.C. Young, of Monroe County, Tennessee, being of sound mind and disposing memory, do make and publish this my last Will and testament hereby revoking and making void all other wills by me heretofore made.

I.

I direct that all my just debts and funeral expenses be paid out of my money that may come to the hands of my executors, same to be paid out of my insurance money if it can be done. I direct that all my insurance money be paid to my executors to be used as herein directed excepted the Penn Mutual Policy which is made payable to my wife, Bland C. Young.

II.

I will, bequeath and devise to my wife, Bland C. Young, my home on Mayee Avenue for her use and benefit during her natural life and at her death to go to my children equally, share and share alike.

I also give and bequeath to my wife all my household and kitchen furniture, two good thoroughbred, grey cows, and whatever automobile I may be using for my family at the time, before the division hereinafter directed. I also give and bequeath to my wife whatever tools she may wish to keep.

My law books are to be sold as the other property and the proceeds paid on my debts, unless my son, David shall be of sufficient age to decide what he desires to do, and should desire to be a lawyer, and in that event, I hereby give and bequeath to my said son, David C. Young, all of my law books.

III.

I will, bequeath and devise all the balance of my property, real, personal and mixed of every kind to my wife and children, share & share alike.

IV.

I further direct that my executors to be herein after named collect up my insurance and sell such of

D. C. Young's Will Dated.

personal
the property as can be sold with little injury to the estate and pay the debts, such as can be, and that my farming and dairy business to run, if same is paying, for two or three or as much as four years if practicable, due particularly the dairy business adjoining town, if same continues to be a paying business, my Executors are authorized to continue to live and carry cash on as long as they deem advisable and to the best interest of the estate; and my Executors to be hereinafter appointed are directed and authorized to sell out any or all of the dairy and farm business, all at once or by degrees, and at either public or private sale as they may decide best.

I also direct that within five years after my death they sell all my personal property, except to leave my wife this good thoroughbred Jersey Cow and the automobile herein after set out.

And also within said time they sell all my real estate except my home in Town, and for that purpose they are hereby vested with all the rights and title and authority and empowered to make deals to the purchasers and to sell at public or private sale. But I am of the opinion that a public sale is best and I am negotiating now with some real estate men to put in an auction sale of Ophir Farm and also of my mountain land, and I want that carried out, in the event it is not done in my life time, at as early a date as practicable and upon the best terms that can be had.

V.

I further direct that after all my debts are paid, if there should be any amount due and owing to any of my children and they or either of them should be minors, that said amount shall be loaned if said minor should not use same for his immediate education and support. And for that purpose, my Executors to be hereinafter named, are hereby appointed Testamentary trustees and especially empowered to breach upon the Corpus of the estate of such child or children to the extent of the full amount of such debt, provided such child or children are given a good education, and same shall not all be expended before such child or children shall be twenty-one years of age, or of sufficient age and capacity to earn a living. This authority is expressly given to prevent the Testamentary trustees from being necessitated to go into Court to be allowed to breach on such Corpus.

VI.

I hereby nominate, constitute and appoint my wife, Bland C. Young and Dora C. Young as my Executrix and Testamentary Trustees to carry out this Will as directed; and they are hereby especially excused from making bond as Executrix or Testamentary trustee; and they will execute this will with the least expense practicable.

If it should be necessary to get an extension of time on any of my debts, my Executors are empowered and authorized to renew the same and to bind the estate, until the property can be converted into money as herein directed.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand to this my last Will and Testament, on this the 1st day of June, 1916.

Will of Cynthia Foland

Know all men by these presents:

That I, Cynthia Foland, of Monroe County, Tennessee, being of sound mind and disposing memory, do hereby make and publish this my last will and testament hereby revoking and making void all other wills by me heretofore made.

I

I will and direct that my funeral expenses and debts of every kind be paid as soon as practicable after my death but of any money or property that I may own at the time of my death unless same shall be promptly paid by my children as they have agreed to do.

II

I give and bequeath to my son, Willard Foland, the iron bedstead that is upstairs in my room, together with the springs, the straw and feather bed on the same and the two pillows on this bed; the quilt that was his brother Henry's; his father's marriage quilt; and his grandfather Foland's quilt that is stored in a basket known as the "Morning Glories" basket.

III

I give and bequeath to my daughter, Judy Foland, the oak bedstead that is in my room, together with the springs, the straw and feather beds and the two pillows on the same, the five quilts that she has in the house pieced and not quilted, and the one that is quilted; also the large room rug and four small rugs and the two large chairs that are in the front room, in order to save any misunderstanding, I will state, that what has been paid on the piano that is now in the house has been paid by Judy, and when she has finished paying for it, it is to be her property. I think I signed the contract for the purchase, but this was done only for convenience to help her secure the piano and she used to pay for it and has paid all that has been paid on it, and I have nothing to do with it.

IV

I give and bequeath to my daughter, Grace Stephen, my sideboard.

V

All the rest and residue of my property of every kind and nature, I hereby will and direct shall be equally divided, share and share alike, between all of my children, except Hobart. If they shall desire to keep the said property and divide it in kind, I direct that they shall agree on the value of each article and give each one equal value in the property in kind. But if they can not agree on the value of any article, or can not agree who shall have it, then I direct that such property shall be sold at public sale and the proceeds divided, and any of the children who bid in any of the property at the sale may either pay in money for what they buy, or account for its value in the division.

My son Hobart is excluded from sharing in the division of my personal estate because he has failed to assist in caring for me in my lifetime and my last sickness, and I feel that it is proper that those who have taken care of me should have what little property I leave at my death. And I further direct that if any of my said children shall fail to do his or her share in helping to care for me during the balance of my life and giving me decent burial at my death he or she shall also be excluded from sharing in my said property, and his or her share shall go to and be equally divided among my other children.

VI

I hereby nominate, constitute and appoint my brother Dr. S. B. Assey as my executor to carry out this my last will and testament and direct that he be released from giving bond.

In testimony whereof I have to this my last will and testament set my hand on this the 28th day of February, 1918.
