

Last will & Testament

Wm E. Jones died. Probated Sept term 1893

In the name of God.

I Wm E Jones this day make this my last will and testament, and do hereby revoke and countermand and for ever set aside all other wills and only acknowledging this to be my last will and testament. And furthermore I regard myself to be in the proper and upright exercise of my mind and am competent to dispose of my property according to the dictates of my own mind.

First I will and bequeath to my beloved wife S.C. Jones to have and hold during her natural life, the dwelling house and all the land, commencing at the first hollow above the house running to the top of the hill at the back of the house keeping a direct line with the top of the ridge above mentioned down to the bridge at the big ditch, then down said ditch to the river then running up said river bank to the hollow at the beginning above mentioned. And she is to have as much timber as she needs to make use of for her benefit. Also I give and bequeath to her the following my two work mules and Sunday her coat, my wagon, two milk Cows and all of my house hold and kitchen furniture. She is also to have all the lumber that is on the two yards and the money that is owing me for lumber. These things above mentioned I give to her to use and dispose of as she may desire, the land excepted, and it is to be hers so long as she remains my lawful widow, and should she marry again this land is to be equally divided among my children and should either of them die their own children shall share their part. And should she never marry, at her death it is to be divided the same as above directed.

I also do will and bequeath to my children Richard, Selma, Mollie, Johnnie, Louie, Willie, and Annie Jones all of my real and personal property, not including what I give to my wife, to be equally divided among my children, and should either of them die without children their part is to be equally divided among my living children. Each one of my children is to bear a proportional part in my burial expenses. I further state that if any one of my children is dissatisfied with the conditions of this will and enters any lawsuit contrary to the this will he or she forfeits their interest in same & Signed and acknowledged this 31st day of December 1892
