Will of David Snodgrass.

Know all men by these presents that I David Snodgrass of the county of Sullivan and State of Tennessee in view of my separation from the concerns of this life which at present cannot be distant and with the hope of preventing some of the disorders in business that so commonly consume old mens estates, and desiring also the pacific ties that binds kinshipmen together, on this 23rd day of July 1850 published this my last will and Testament. It is my desire that my Executor hereinafter appointed first pay all the debts that may be due standing against me at the time of my death, inclusive of my funeral expenses.

Secondly, My will is that my Executor give and receive to my beloved wife (Elizabeth Snodgrass) that has been the happy partner of my life and pleasures through life, the large upper room in the west end of the house I now live in, to her exclusive use during her natural life, that she have all the beds and bedding belonging to the house at my death that she may desire to retain for herself, when provided for her two daughters that are now single, that she have half dozen of the best cheese, that she my debt during her life for trunk, my family Bible and Bible in which is the record of the family, a shining tittle, Cyclopedia and Cyclopedia furniture that she may desire to retain. The above articles given to my wife are to be absolutely hers, drift the dust and so on, I further desire my wife Elizabeth to have one horse ten sheep and two milk cows to be selected by her out of the stock on the farm at the time of my death, which horse and cow she shall have the use of during her life, and it is my will that my son William support them on the farm during that time. I will that my Executor after my death place at interest three hundred dollars with some safe person for the use of my wife during her life, but that the said three hundred dollars and the before mentioned property not given to absolutely, when converted into money fall back into the general fund of my estate, and be distributed as hereinafter directed.

It is my desire that my two single daughters at their marriage be provided for to the same amount, that my children husband, married were provided for, and if this should not be done during my life, I desire that my wife Elizabeth and Executor give to them an amount as nearly equal to those given to my other children on their marriage as my said, Executor and wife can judge. My will is further that my Executor, sell at public sale after giving due notice at four public places in the county, one of which shall be the Court house, or a better months credit all the personal property of which I shall die the owner, and that will not be necessary to comply with the above request, that he will not sell the out standing claims then due my estate, and he proceed to distribute my entire estate not otherwise disposed of, equally among all my children, giving to the children of those who shall be dead at that time the share that would have been due their parents if living at the time of distribution. I direct my Executor in estimating the sums to be distributed among the legacies of this will, to take in to the account, all sums advanced to them by me in my life time, and for which I shall have taken their receipts in a book that I kept chiefly for that purpose, but any advancements made by me that shall not be receipted for in said book, I desire my Executor to pay no attention to, I do not intend my son William to be one of the distributees of this will, because he has been provided for to the extent I intend him to be out of my estate in an indentment of venting entered into between him and myself, of this same date. In conclusion I appoint my son William my Executor of this my last will and Testament.

Codicals

This codical to my above last will and Testament, is intended to alter some of the provisions of said last will and Testament so to revoke any of said pro visions except so far as is herein clearly expressed, but I do hereby repeal all my said <sup>last</sup> will and Testament, as expressing my desire in connection with my estate after my death, except the following, that is, it is my will that my son in law William H. Snodgrass, and John B. Nelson execute my above last will and Testament, instead of my son William as expressed in my above principle and original will. This day of March 1832.

Second Codicil

This codicil to my will made on the 33rd day of July 1827 and the Codicil made thereto on the 1st day of March 1832 is not to abrogate or make void any portion of said will but to ratify and confirm the same, except what is herein specified. The girl I am I desire to live with and take care of my wife Elizabeth during her life because I that she could not have any one to administer to her necessities so well as her, from the fact she has raised the girl I am from her infancy and should there be any of said girls offspring to remain with their mother until her she become ten years old and then if the legates require it, the whole of her offspring be sold and be equally divided among my distributees except William Snodgrass who has heretofore been provided for, and by this alteration if it should in the minds of my heirs operate for or against my son William then they are to agree among themselves the difference that would be just and equitable, and if they can not agree then a majority of my heirs that are then in this county shall choose a man and William shall choose another, who shall if they cannot agree choose the third who shall settle the matter of dispute between them. And I do hereby constitute and appoint Thomas H. Bird and David S. Rice the Executors of my last will and Testament instead of the Executors by me heretofore appointed.

In witness whereof I have heretofore subscribed my name and set my seal this 28th day of January 1835
