Last Will & Testament

J. B. Willard died.

Published October Term 1906

In the name of God amen
I, J. B. Willard, of the County of Sullivan, and State of Tennessee, being of sound and disposing mind and memory, do make and publish this as my last will and testament, hereby revoking and making void all others by me at any time made.

First, I give and bequeath unto my brother Geo. W. Willard, all my personal property, of whatever nature or kind soever, to have and to hold the same during his natural life, and so long as he use and benefit thereof, it is my will that he shall take only a life estate in said personal property.

Second, At the death of my brother, Geo. W. Willard, I give and bequeath all my personal property, of whatever nature or kind, unto the four daughters of said Geo. W. Willard, to wit: Sarah E. Willard, Lena Beck Willard, Nellie Willard, and Frances W. Willard, to be equally divided among them. And should any one or more of said four daughters die before I do, or after I die and before the death of their father, then, in either of those two events, it is my will that said personal property is to go to the survivor or survivors in equal parts.

Third, I give and devise unto my brother, Geo. W. Willard, all my real estate, situate and being in the Counties of Sullivan, Washington and Hamilton, State of Tennessee, or wheresoever else situated, and of whatever nature or kind soever, and by whatever title held, to have and to hold same during the term of his natural life, it is my will that he shall take a life estate only in my real estate.
