Joseph Borman's Will

KNOW all men by these presents that I Joseph Borman, of the County of Washington and State of Tennessee, being sick and weak in body but in perfect mind and judgement, do make and ordain this as my last Will and Testament, over all former Wills and Testaments. First, my will and desire is that after my decease that my body shall be decently buried in the graveyard at the Meeting house in plain Christianian order.

In the next place my will is that all my just and lawful debts shall be paid out of my estate, and the balance of my estate to be divided as follows:

First, my will and desire is that my beloved wife Christina Borman, shall have my house and farm during her life; then to belong to David and Joseph my two youngest sons in the manner named in the close of this Will, David and Joseph my two sons are also to maintain and to provide all things necessary to the well being and support of my wife during her life, and when she departs this life to bury her decently, when I am buried: I also will that if David and Joseph should fail to furnish all things necessary for her support she is to have full power to get who she pleases to use the land, and furnish her support.

Secondly, My will and desire is that my eldest daughter Susannah Borman to have the tract of land on which she now lives with her husband and James Linnach, containing 119 acres during her natural life, then to the heirs of her to say.

Thirdly, my will and desire is that my eldest son John H. Borman not to have anything more than I have already given him which is eight hundred dollars in the form on which he now lives, to which I made him a good and lawful title and took his receipt for eight hundred dollars the portion that I now will to him of this receipt should not be found among my papers, this is not to alter this will. I think more than likely it is lost.

Fourthly, my will and desire is that my second daughter Eliza with Basher is not to have anything more than I have already given her namely, four hundred and fifty dollars in cash, that I paid to the heirs of Duncan for land the title to which was made to Henry Basher for which sum of money I took no receipt, though this is not to affect this will in no form whatever.

Fifthly, my will and desire is that my third daughter Mary Schast is to have four hundred and fifty dollars as a legacy out of the money that I paid for the tract of land on which she now lives with her husband Henry Schast, the title of which was made to Henry Schast and his wife, and then to their heirs in a peculiar manner as the title will show, and the balance over and above the four hundred and fifty dollars that I paid for said land which my papers will show, Henry Schast and wife are bound to pay over into the hands of my Executors.

Sixthly, My will and desire is that my second son Daniel Borman is not to have any more than I have already given him which is eight hundred dollars in hand, where he now lives to which I made him a good and lawful title and took his receipt for eight hundred dollars his portion of my estate. I also told wrote within the amount of which is two hundred dollars that he is bound by this will to pay over into the hands of my Executors.

Sevently, My will and desire is that my fourth daughter Batha vine Lear and her husband John Lear to have four hundred and fifty dollars out of what I paid towards land for her the title of which was made to Anne Lear her husband; I also took no receipt from John Lear, and his wife for the four hundred and fifty dollars, though this is not to affect this will in any form whatever, all the money over and above the four hundred and fifty dollars that I paid to Mary said land, as my papers will show, John Lear and his wife are bound to pay over into the hands of my Executors, for he may be explicit I paid a debt for David Lear the father of John the amount of which was six hundred dollars, which would leave one hundred and fifty dollars that John is bound to pay to the estate.

Eighthly, My will and desire is that my fifth and youngest

Daughter Sarah Bowman shall have five hundred dollars in cash and in addition to the five hundred dollars to be made equal with the rest of my daughter in personal property, or the amount of the same, which is as follows: one horse beat worth twenty five dollars; three cows - three beds and beds with their necessary clothing four sheep, one bureau one table.

Finally, My will and desire is that my two youngest sons whom I have left to maintain and take care of my beloved wife to have my plantation at her death in the following manner: the land to be equally divided between them, David to have his share off the north tract and Joseph his part including the building, this land to be divided by two disinterested men or such as my two sons shall choose into David I give this land during his natural life, then to his heirs, and unto Joseph such his heirs forever I give his portion of lands for which he can make a good and lawful title, but not until after the death of my wife, I also have a settlement to make with Henry Bashor, me with Henry Shast, me with John Lear, which settlements by this will authorizing my executors to make. These settlements are personal claims aside from anything hereinafter named in this will. - Finally, My will and desire is that John H. Bowman and John Lear be my executors, in whom I have the utmost confidence. This also my will and desire that my executors see that my beloved better half Bowman is supplied with all things necessary to food and raiment - further my son Joseph is to have one horse worth twenty five dollars when he arrives to twenty one years of age, all the personal property that I am possessed of that is not bequeathed in this will, and that is now and about the necessary use toward carrying on the farm, shall be sold and the money applied to the payment of my debts, all money remaining in the hands of my executors at the death of my wife if there should be any that it be equally divided between David and Sarah my son & daughter, this the 10th day of August 1850.
