

James W. Young's Will.

the lands of James Price and Thomas Price, my wife and decree is, my executors should procure the grant for it; and when obtained I hereby authorise my said executors to sell and dispose of it for the best price they can get, for the heirs of Thomas Price died and hereby rest my executors with full power to convey it to any purchaser. It is my wish and desire that my children should continue to live on the plantation I now live on until they arrive at twenty one years of age respectively, or get married, and that my executors hereafter named should keep them together, and have my farm managed so as to keep them comfortably together, and as I do wish to avoid lawsuits amongst them if possible, should any difference ever arise, it is my wish if any difference should happen, that the same be referred to three disinterested neighbors to settle, whose determination thereon shall be final amongst them. It is my will and desire that all my just debts should be paid, and those owing to me should be collected, but should my executors not be able to collect as fast as they may be compelled to pay, I hereby authorize and empower my said executors hereafter mentioned to sell so much of my personal estate as can be spared most conveniently to pay my debts. Lastly I hereby nominate and constitute my son William H. Young and James H. Ellis my executors of this my last will and testament, and as it may be inconvenient for them to give security I do not wish them to be bound to give it by court having great confidence in their integrity, hereby renouncing as valid my will heretofore made and ratifying this my last will and testament, in witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this twentieth day of March 1834, signed sealed and delivered by James W. Young as his last will and testament and in the presence of the testators and in the presence each other as witness our hands this twentieth day of March 1834
