J. W. Kitzmiller's Will

I, J. W. Kitzmiller being of sound mind and disposing memory, knowing it is appointed for all men to die, commend my soul to God and dispose of my worldly effects in the following manner, to wit:

First - It is my will and desire that all my just debt be paid including my funeral expenses out of the first money that may come to the hands of my executrix.

Second - I give bequeath and devise to my wife Margaret J. Kitzmiller all my part and share of all kinds - both personal and real - including all notes and moneys or demands for money that may be on hand and all lands that I may die seized and possessed of, to use and control to her own benefit and for the benefit of my children, as long as she remains my widow, and it is my wish and desire and I so direct that as long as any of my children remain single they shall have a home with my wife on the farm as one of the family.

Thirdly - It is my will and desire and I here so direct that my wife as my executrix buy for each of my children one Bible at a cost of two Dollars each at a time after my death suitable not later than two years. At the death of my wife or if she should marry my wish is that my property that may be on hand including money and effects be equally divided between all my children but all the property that my wife had at the time of our marriage is hers to control and do as she pleases with.

Fifth - I constitute and appoint my wife Margaret Kitzmiller my executrix to this my last will and testament and my desire is and I so instruct that she be allowed to enter upon

J. W. Kitzmiller's Will continued his duties as my executor without giving bond and security.

In witness whereof I hereunto set my hand in presence of Witnesses on this the 25th day of April 1888

Attest
