III

In the action near Powhite Creek about noon on the 27th my Reg. numbered four hundred and fourteen (414). Under the former orders extended I moved supporting Col. Barnes, forming line of battle at 12 M. While the front of the Brigade was actively engaging the enemy, I moved on in position assigned me, through some camps of the enemy, to the road near its crossing (a bridge) over the creek. Halted while the bridge was being repaired.

IV

Into the action at Gaines's Farm, or Cold Harbor, my Reg. went with four hundred and thirteen (413) men. Under orders to support Col. Hamilton — 1 Reg. S. C. V — I moved forward, at 2 P. M., from the Powhite Creek eastward towards the strong position held by the enemy. Near the outset of this advance I lost some men. After a brief pause, by order, the forward movement was continued till we reached a ravine and brook between the position about this time assumed by Capt. Crenshaw's Field Artillery and the main front of the enemy. This halt of the Brigade was at 2.40 P. M. The fire under which my Reg. remained here was very heavy, and from the ordering forward of the commands of Cols.

727

Hamilton, Marshall, and Barnes, it was a double fire from front and right. Being ordered to hold the position assigned me along the brook until Col. Hamilton should fall back, I held the position and awaited that event. My instructions were to hold the position, and be ready when Col. Hamilton fell back; and then to pour a destructive volley into the enemy as he emerged from the pines; that Col. Hamilton at that juncture would take position in my rear to support me. After occupying this exposed position — exposed, by reason of the apparently unimpeded fire of small arms pouring constantly upon us as before stated — for an hour or so, without the appearance of Col. Hamilton or his command; finding my Reg. severely pressed and partly surrounded by the enemy upon my right, where I had expected the Regiments of our own Brigade; and finding the availability of my left wing materially interfered with by the bog and undergrowth; I felt it my duty to change my position slightly. I accordingly ordered forward as skirmishers my right company, driving the enemy from that wood, and then threw my Reg. a few yards across the brook, with a view of protecting my right (in case of a repetition of the enemy's former movement), and as the best means of holding my position as ordered, for the purpose indicated in that order. The brook is passable at only two or three places in the portion occupied; so that a regular movement in line was impracticable. In the confusion produced by this circumstance, by the din of incessant cannon and small-arm firing, and other noise incident to battle, my commands could not be heard perfectly; and the irregular nature of the ground and the undergrowth caused a separation of the wings of my command. Maj. Farrow with the right, in a few minutes reported to Brig. Gen. Gregg ^{nearby} and under orders from him took position on another part of the field. A regiment of three companies of the left under my command remained on the ground till night and victory closed the action. Bivouacked on the field.

728 4.

V.

My Reg. went into the action near Willie's Church, Monday the 30th June, numbering three hundred and forty-two (342) men. At 5.50 P.M. we halted in a wood adjacent to the action and were for nearly an hour under a sporadic fire of shells, by which I lost one man killed. At 6.30 the Brigade moved forward to the immediate scene of the battle. My Reg. moved under same orders to the left by successive stages, halting frequently about 7.50, loaded, fixed bayonets, and when it neared the front of the supposed enemy under a galling fire of small arms in front, it was ordered to form in close column of companies and to change bayonets through a dense copse. This movement was arrested to inquire definitely whether friends or enemy were before us, for darkness utterly prevented our distinguishing by sight. Inquiry seemed to result in determining that our friends were before us; and I was ordered to move by the right and re-form in the road from which the charge was made, which I did promptly and bivouacked there for the night.

731

My Reg. numbered two hundred and sixty nine in the action at Malvin Hill, or Crew's Farm, on the 1st July. At 8 P.M. we were marched, with some halts, perhaps, two miles to a position near the road, where our line of battle was formed about 8 P.M. Here we were under sporadic fire of shall. the action clo.
then returned to our bivouac.

No casualties.

General Summary

Grand total -

Killed - 5

Wounded 60 - Grand total casualties 65

Since Dead 5 " deaths 10.

The conduct and bearing of my Regiment - officers and men in these actions, were, with a few exceptions, highly commendable. They were steady, cool, prompt, and ready. Under the most trying ordeal of receiving a severe fire for hours without retreating, they proved themselves efficient soldiers and worthy our great cause.

Respectfully submitted.

Head Quarters 4th Regt. in Col.
Camp near Richmond Va

July 11 1862

Capt. O'Brien
A.A.S.

The different roads over which the Regt travelled in going to the battle field on the 27th June and "every day" thereafter inclusive of the battle of the 1st July prevented me from giving by proper descriptions the different positions, of, and routes taken by the Regiment in its march to the several engagements I beg leave however to submit the following report of the part taken by the Regt. in the actions of the 27th June and 1st July.

About 4 P.M. the Regt with the brigade marched at very quick time on the road until it came to about 2 miles of where the battle of "Paine's Mill" or "Cold Harbour" was engaged. Then the men threw off their blankets and marched at "double quick" when a halt was ordered by Genl. Hunter, near a house which I believe is called "Cold Harbour Tavern" at this point the Genl. put the brigade in line of battle and said to them "I have for a charge the line being formed the right of the 4th resting on the left of the 27th we remained here for about 10 min. exposed to the enemy fire of the enemy guns - whom I shall not fear destructive though within range. About 1 1/2 P.M. the brigade moved forward in line of battle passing through swamps and woods until for about 1/4 mile where an open field was reached. But from there came to where the 2nd & 5th became detached on the left & 27th & 3rd on the right. I marched forward until I came up to Genl. Scales' Brigade which was screaming at a rate at this moment you described me to change my front and fire as the Barrington Light which I did. This brought me directly in front of the enemy's battery (which the Brigade had been ordered to take) by this time the 2d Regiment was positioned on my right. And told the Brigade to take all the Regiments. Ordered to change the enemy's battery. It was getting late twilight for hours. When the Brigade re-ordered move forward. But before arriving at about Yemas of the battery. It retired.

After being satisfied that the enemy had abandoned his position the Genl. "About faced" the Brigade marched about 100 yards. and rested for the night.

I then sent a picket in front of my Regiment for the night. It was in this change that 10th Joseph Crockett aft Surgeon. and private James Perfection were mortally wounded.
Jas R. Richardson Co (B). Jas Bevell Co (A) private were wounded.

I beg to say that in the change the Regiment did not maneuver. pursuing the enemy's battery which changed. And then the enemy came to us with each other in the effort to get the battery.

The Casualties were as follows:

Joseph Crockett aft Surgeon. Mortally wounded Private James Perfection Co (A) " "
" " " " " "
" " " " " "
Jas R. Richardson Co (B) wounded
Jas A. Bevell Co (A) " "

I must be pardoned for saying that the loss of officers of my Regt. were Very much pleased at the handsome and splendid style in which the Brigade was by the Genl. taken into action.

On Saturday morning the 27th I then sent some men to release the picket I had sent out the night before. They brought in several prisoners.
It was a fine lot of them fresh men. who arrived Brig Genl Reynolds and Capt. his Capt Capt Gentry. The Regiment remained there until Sunday morning when it with the Brigade marched to the front across the Chickahominy where it remained inactive until nearly night and then returned to the ground occupied in the morning.

On Monday the 30th the Regiment took up the line of march and proceeded to a point at or near White Oak Swamp where it remained for the night. On Tuesday the 31st of July. Marched down Road halted near a church. While here the enemy who occupied a strong position on Malvern Hill opened fire upon the advance of our Army. whereupon an Artillery duel ensued between ours & the enemy's battery. The Brigade was then to seek cover in the woods where it remained until quite late in the evening. My Regiment did not suffer from the shells thrown by the enemy. Though some casualties occurred in the Brigade.

Late in the evening the infantry became engaged and my Regt with the Brigade marched to the scene of action. I had no orders but followed the Regt which was my position in the woods. The 27th "death" fight through the woods. I followed, peeping out of the cones into an open field. we were opposed to a ~~company~~ and furious fire from the enemy's battery. I continued to guard the Regt. at a "death" fight in order to stand the line some 200 yds in advance. ~~but~~ when I intended to give the Regiment up. As coming so rapidly through the front woods. the files became widely separated. but all entered the field. and were striving to close up. "The stars shells" were bursting all around. and in great numbers. but when the first company reached the woods Lt. Grady. I believe. or I may have been some one else. Commanded "Left into line".

I Commanded "halt" and did all I could to stop the Regiment in order to close it up. but it was getting late. and the cheering of the men made it impossible for me to arrest the movement. Lt. Col. Gannett Major Jes. doing all in their power to bring the Regiment together. but unfortunately it was not accomplished. It was here that Lt. Col. Gannett's horse was shot and falling upon him. and he was unable to get free under his horse until a pistol life to the moment. he was doing all a man could do to get the men together.
Major Jes. acted well his part. but sparing himself all the time in his effort to get the Regiment in order.
I left him in the field. and rode in with that portion of the Regt. who had entered the woods. but in the moment. it had grown quite dark. and I was difficult in a way to arrange to keep in the advanced position.

of the Regt. together peeping through the woods.
I reached the ~~head~~ with only a part of the Regt. In a ~~few~~ the Regt. unfortunately became separated. and altogether to the fact that the commander who refused to was given by some one. But for this I would have secured a new formation of the Regt. and taken it altogether into action.
But as it was some word and the with and others in the right of other troops.
Men & officers so far as I could discern acted very well in the engagement.
The casualties were as follows:

Brig Genl A. M. Smith
Commanding 1st Brigade
Sir

Trugitt's Farm near Richmond
July 21st 1864

I beg leave to submit the following report of the action of the 9th Va Regt during the Battle of the 1st July. On the morning of the first of July we left the Charles City Road in pursuit of the enemy and arrived about 10 o'clock A.M. at the farm. We were 1st left to guard the road to prevent a flank movement of the enemy, and for two hours were exposed to a most appalling and incessant artillery fire and notwithstanding the terror of its rage, my officers and men behaved with great coolness and gallantry. About five o'clock we were ordered to change our position, and to take post in rear of and to support our Artillery Battery, and in about thirty minutes after we were ordered to charge the Enemy's Battery, supporting Cobb's Brigade. And it is but just to say that no regiment ever charged with more ~~impossibility~~ ^{bravery} - on they went with utmost speed amidst the deadly fire of musketry and artillery, having a force to our front, in leaping with our force by an oblique to the right came within good musket-range of the opposing lines of the Enemy and poured in upon them volley after volley until night closed the scene - Where all behaved so well, the mention of individual acts might seem to be invidious; But justice demands that I should call your attention to the acts of Capt. J. T. Kelly, Col (D) who amidst the fire of the Enemy seized a flag of some regiment that had been broken and tried to rally its scattered remnants and bring them against the foe - and while thus acting the flag staff was shot from his hand - Of Capt. James J. Phillips who after our color bearer was shot down and its guard scattered preserved the colors of the 1st regiment and saved it from the dishonor of leaving its colors in the field and restored them still to wave in their proper place - Of Lt. James G. Crocker, Adjt of the 9th Regt, who received several severe, if not mortal wounds, in bravely leading the Regt in front of its colors, encouraging the men by his bold and gallant bearing. And I might indeed mention every officer on the field as having done their duty nobly, not only in this fight, but in all the hard duty that we have had to undergo for the last 30 days. In closing my report it is with feelings of the deepest regret that we have to 1st among our fallen brave the names of Capt. Dennis Demillion Co (D) and 2nd Lieut. L. H. Dwyer of Co (D). These brave gallant officers fell bravely fighting for their homes and firesides, martyrs to a bad and ungrateful country will cherish their sacrifices and preserve their memory. Below you will please find a duplicate report of the casualties of my Regt which you will discover to be quite large, since our Regt not to exceed one hundred and fifty effective fighting men on the field. Believing that my regiment did its duty faithfully, I cherish the hope that we shall receive your kind approval.

I have the honor to be, Sir, very obedt Servt
