Recd. Quarters 27th Regt. Va. Inf.
July 7th 1862
Capt. J. F. O'Brien
a. a. Capt.
First Brigade
1000 Detachable Co.

I respectfully submit the following report of the part which the 27th Va. Regt. took in the battles of the 27th ult. and the 1st inst.

On the 27th ult. the regt. under command of Col.
Bright, marched with the first Brigade until it approached the crest of a hill, ^{appearing} where the battle was then raging with tremendous violence. It was then drawn up in line of battle with the Brigade. Its position in the line was on the right of the 4th Va. Regt. and on the left of the 33rd Va. - the Regt. here numbered one hundred & twenty-five men in rank and eight commissioned officers - from the position where we were drawn up, we advanced in line with the Brigade through a dense thicket of brush and timber until we came into cleared field where were still standing some tents of the enemy, we then changed the direction of our advance by a left half wheel and then we marched directly upon a battery of the enemy which was throwing grape and shell fast and furiously. The battery was soon silenced and we marched to a position beyond the battery. It being then quite dark and the enemy completely routed, we were ordered to halt, we then threw out pickets to protect our front and then remained on the field for the night. My regiment ~~was~~ we were ordered to use the bayonet - the enemy gave up for us made to charge without firing during the engagement.

During the fight the capt was exposed considerably to the shells of the enemy also to some scattering rifle shots - I had none killed and but two slightly wounded.

127
At the battle of the 1st met. The 27th Regt was marched up the road in column with the Brigade until it came within about a half mile of the battle field when the whole brigade filed to the right into a piece of woods then my regt in a line with the brigade, supported on the right by the ~~1st~~ 33^d V and on the left by the 1st 4th Regt, advanced by the right flank, through the woods into an open field & then again through a very dense forest of brush & timber across the main road to the position assigned on the field. The shot and shell fell fast and thick on us as we marched on and just before reaching our position on the field Col. A. F. Briggs, while leading the regiment in his dauntless & fearless style was struck by a minnie ball, inflicting under his left arm a painful but not desperately wounded.

The regiment was ordered to fire which it did & continued firing for some length of time & then it was ordered to charge on a battery, this was attempted but the regt. being much scattered & unsupported by sufficient force was compelled to retire. The regt. then resumed its original position on the field & continued firing until the fight closed.

The loss of the regt. in this engagement, & of about 70 who went into the fight, was one killed and two wounded.
