

Danielly

The family was located in Middlesex County, Virginia at an early date when the Last Will and Testament of Arthur Dannelly was dated 1723. From there we go to Queen Anne County, Maryland, and then into Georgia. It appears that Daniel and James Dannelly served during the Revolutionary War and received extensive land grants in Washington County. This may be land that fallen into Wilkes County.

John Danielly was born 1743 in St. Lukes Protestant Episcopal Parish in Queen Anne County, Maryland and died 1806 in Columbia County, Georgia. Wife, Catherine. In 1774 John Danelly was granted 100 acres in Richmond County, and prayed for 287 1/2 acres in Washington County. He appears to have had six children, viz:

- James Dannelly, born ca 1765. There are many deed transactions in Columbia County, Georgia for James Dannelly showing that his land was located on the Great Kiokee River. There is a 1792 deed of James Dannelly and his wife, Bridget, William Ayres and his wife, Frances, and John Ayres and his wife, Mary, all of Columbia County, selling to John Lezenby 250 acres out of a 500-acre tract on the Great Kiokee Creek, bounded by Claiborne, Castleberry and McDowell. Many Columbia County transactions also fell into Richmond County. It appears that James Dannelly's land grants for Revolutionary War Service (above) fell into Columbia County because on 30 Mar 1799 James Danelly deeded to Claiborne Newsome 250 acres, being part of two tracts: 150 acres granted to Danelly 5 Jul 1787 and 200 acres contiguous on Trading Road, granted 6 Feb 1799. Thomas Stapler and wife, Ruth of Hancock County mentioned 135 1/2 acres on Cane Creek which had been originally granted to James Danelly. Another deed by the Columbia County tax commissioner, John Lamnkin, dated 29 Nov 1796 in Columbia County mentions 14,000 acres of land on Briar Creek formerly granted to James Danelly. - Andrew Danielly (below).
- Arthur Danielly, died 1821 in Baldwin County. Wife, Sarah.
- Francis Danielly married Elizabeth Ayres.
- Daniel Dannelly, born ca 1768, died after 1802 in Richmond County, Georgia. He married Elizabeth Prather on 10 April 1788 in Richmond County.
- Patrick Danielly. He deeded some land to James Danelly in 1794, Columbia County, for love and affection. He described himself as being an Indian Trader and that he had a son, a minor, born illegitimate to a white woman.

Andrew Danielly, son of the above John, was born ca 1765 (possibly in Maryland) and removed to Hancock County, Georgia. He died Dec 1822 in Warren Co. and married Jane Harris, the daughter of William Thomas Harris, Sr. and his wife, Mary on 29 February 1790 in Richmond Co. Issue:
