FIVE POUNDS REWARD.

LOST, on my way from Richmond Court-house to Augusta, the 7th inst, a red Morocco Pocket Book, which contained sundry valuable papers, viz. Major John Habersham's bond to Littleberry Melby for twelve thousand five hundred continental dollars; Major Lew Jones's bond to Drury Burge for thirty-one thousand pounds of tobacco; Major Lew Jones's bond to Drury Burge for seventy-eight pounds, endorsed to the subscriber; Major Lew Jones's bond to William Watts for thirty-nine pounds odd; Henry Allison's bond to the subscriber for a horse, to be valued at twenty-five pounds; Robert Flournoy and Thomas Green's bond to Valentine Soblett for thirty pounds; Robert Flournoy's bond to make William F. Booker titles to fifteen hundred and eleven acres of land; an order drawn by Horatio Marbury on Dr. John Powell in favor of Philip Clayton for a beaver hat, cloth for a coat, and a pair of shoe boots; Emanuel Wamberlie's receipt for four hundred and fifty pounds; Peter Bard's bonds and obligation to make the subscriber titles to a lot in the town of Augusta; Emanuel Wamberlie's note to Eaton Pughe for fifteen pounds paper medium; J. P. Wagon's order on Bedford Brown for thirty-five pounds; and sundry other papers that I do not recollect.

Any person that delivers me the said Book with the papers, shall receive the above Reward.

WILLIAM F. BOOKER.

N. B. I do hereby forwarn any person from trading for either of the said bonds.

Augusta, Dec. 14, 1786.

To the PUBLIC.

IHAVE been credibly informed when in camp at Shoulder-bone, some designing fellows took the opportunity of my being in liquor, and prevailed on me to say several things disrespectful of Thomas Porter, Esq. who, I was at that time wholly unacquainted with, and whose character as a gentleman or honest man I have no reason to doubt, as I know nothing to his prejudice, am therefore heartily sorry for any thing I may have said to his prejudice.
