

Revolutionary War Soldier Lives to be Aged 91

Joseph Lee enlisted in the Revolutionary War during 1778 from Martin County and after the war lived the rest of his life there. His widow for a pension declared that she was married to her husband in 1776. This information came from a pension.

It is rare to find a marriage in the county records before the Revolution. That is one of the reasons that pensions are so valuable to the genealogist.